1,400 ROTARIANS JAM ROYAL FOR CONVENTION KICK-OFF

Royal Theatre was jammed with 1,400 persons Sunday for start of huge international Rotary conference here. The program, including an inspirational address and entertainment lasted more than two hours. Speaker, Dr. A. M. Trendell, rector of Vancouver church, held audience attentive in discourse on "character, courage and wisdom" as basis of Rotary ideals. Music by Rotary Boys' Choir and songs by Jock Dunbar rounded out the interesting program. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

B.C. REACTION

Bennett Miffed Because Press First to Hear

Provincial government leaders today dodged direct comment on the Ottawa government's Columbia Power proposal, but criticized the way in which the announcement was made by Fisheries Minister Sinclair. (See adjoining column.)

Said Premier Bennett: "I will discuss it with the prime minister. I will not discuss Mr. Sinclair's election campaign."

Lands Minister Ray Williston said B.C. was interested in any scheme for developing the province's hydro resources, but added it was strange there had been no mention of the present proposals in negotiations now under way between the two governments.

WILLISTON HAPPY

"We are happy to see the federal authority realizing that major investment should be undertaken in this part of the country," Mr. Williston said.

He added that he wanted to see "what is in the fine print" before commenting further.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner commented that "inter-government communication by press release is making a farce of the public business of this country."

The announcement was hailed by CCF leader Robert Strachan.

"Now that all financial obstacles have been removed from the path of public power development in this province, I am hopeful that before this session finishes, the Premier will indicate his willingness to proceed immediately with the initial planning stages," Mr. Strachan said.

$300 Millions Available—If Public Scheme

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisheries Minister Sinclair said today the federal government is prepared to spend almost $300,000,000 to assist British Columbia with public development of its Columbia River power resources.

He said negotiations with the B.C. government could begin as soon as Canada and the United States agree on the division of downstream benefits from international rivers.

The U.S. and Canada entered into direct negotiations at Ottawa March 19 to expedite a settlement of this question.

The direct negotiations were undertaken when the International Joint Commission failed to come to an agreement.

"An early agreement will speed up industrial development in both British Columbia and the northwest states," he told a press conference, "and will save the Fraser River fisheries from the threat of power development."

Predicts Quick Action by U.S.

He said he is hopeful the announcement of federal government willingness to support the B.C. government in developing Columbia power "will act as a spur to negotiations."

"The American attitude used to be we couldn't do things ourselves," he said.

But this had changed slightly since negotiations for the St. Lawrence seaway when Canada had to indicate "we were big enough to do it ourselves" before the U.S. could be prodded into action.

The U.S. might act faster in present negotiations at Ottawa if it saw Canada was willing and able to go ahead with power development.

B.C. Could Buy Out Federal Interest

"If, after international agreement has been reached, the provincial government should decide on public development of this great power potential, and should need assistance in financing, the federal government will be prepared to assist . . ."

He said the amount of the federal contribution is a matter for negotiations but "could be almost as big an investment as the Canadian share of the navigation section of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

He estimated this at $300,000,000.

The assistance wouuld be by either joint or federal, crown companies doing specific sections of the development. The B.C. government could later buy out the federal government's interests.

Mr. Sinclair compared the offer to B.C. with the assistance given Ontario in building the interprovincial gas pipe line across northern Ontario, and the offer to help Nova Scotia and New Brunswick build an interprovincial power grid linking N.S. thermal power plants with N.B. hydro plants.

Final Decision Up to B.C.

"Once agreement is reached on the division of power between the two countries, it will be the responsibility of the B.C. government to decide whether privately-owned or publicly-owned agencies are to develop this power on the Canadian side, and to distribute the power received from the U.S. in return for downstream benefits derived from Canadian water storage."

He said the project wouuld be "tremendous and it would do tremendous things to the province and the fishing industry as well.

Sinclair said he thought Premier Bennett would welcome the announcement of the federal offer.

Heretofore there has been considerable friction between the federal and B.C. governments on how power from the Columbia, third largest river system in North America, should be handled.

In 1955, Parliament passed the International Rivers Act giving the federal government jurisdiction over works constructed on rivers crossing the International Boundary, and over the flow of water from these rivers across the boundary.

The action was taken to prevent B.C. from allowing the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. from building a dam on the Arrow Lakes, 50 miles north of the border. Federal authorities called it a give-away of power.

Various projects, all running into many multi-million dollars, have been proposed here from time to time, both public and private. To date, however, nothing more than surveys has been undertaken.

Rotary Demonstrating Goodwill To World, Big Conference Told

By TONY DICKASON

Rotary is demonstrating to the world that an international organization can work successfully, Estes Snedecor, Portland, Ore., a past president of Rotary International, said here today.

He was addressing a packed Royal Theatre audience of Rotarians, 1,200 strong, who have converged on Victoria in the largest Rotary conference ever held here.

The visitors, packing available accommodation in downtown Victoria, were welcomed on behalf of the city by Mayor Percy Scurrah, a Rotarian himself.

Delegates from throughout B.C., Alaska and Washington heard Mr. Snedecor's thoughtful remarks, in which he pointed out that "national boundaries and differences in language, race or religion do not prevent men of good will from working together for the promotion of common ideals of justice and fair dealing throughout the world."

438,000 MEMBERS

Rotary now embraces 438,000 persons in 99 countries. Growth is noted by comparison with the 1923 figures when there were only 90,000 club members in 27 countries.

By far the greatest achievement of Rotary, said the speaker, was raising of more than $4,500,000 for Rotary fellowships enabling graduate study by scholars in countries other than their own.

This year 122 outstanding students from 30 countries were awarded these fellowships, and to date, 841 students have been given the chance to complete studies in another country.

"Thus they are not only brought into contact with the best minds in their chosen fields, but, far more important, they are given the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the life, habits and true worth of the people of the country so visited," he said.

LEADERS

When these students return home, they become leaders of thought in their native lands and "ambassadors of goodwill" from countries in which their education was completed.

Mr. Snedecor has been a Rotarian since 1913, and submitted the first complete revision of the constitution of Rotary International, adopted in 1917.

He said that while business interest was originally one of Rotary's aims, this has long since been discarded.

"Business will flow naturally" to those who demonstrate their ability to perform the best kind of service, he stated.

He termed business as "dignifying" the opportunity to serve society.

"WE THANK THEE"

Giving the invocation to a hushed theatre, Mr. Buckingham prayed "we thank Thee for the beauty of this lovely morning . . . and for Rotary International, that we may make this movement count in fulfillment of the ideals for which we stand. . ."

Rotarians believe, and try to live "Service Above Self."

Backdrop to the stage was a huge illuminated Rotary wheel, the symbol of the service Rotary performs in 248 districts in 99 countries.

Chairman Jack Housez, Victoria, read greetings. They came from many distinguished people, and ranged from Alaska to Ottawa to Texas.

MESSAGE FROM IKE

Wires were received from President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Rotary International president Paul Lang.

Core of all communications was that the fellowship and unselfish aims of Rotary are

OFFER OPEN TESTS

Issued just prior to Eisenhower's return flight to Washington, the communique said the U.K. and U.S. are willing to give the United Nations advance notice of nuclear tests and open the tests to international observers — provided Russia does the same.

They declared their own intentions "to continue nuclear tests only in such a manner as will keep world radiation" from rising to a level hazardous to human safety.

Among subjects covered in detail were common problems concerning the Middle East, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, European co-operation, the reunification of Germany, defence and "repressive Soviet policies" towards Eastern Europe, the communique said.

The president and prime minister agreed on the "need for speedy implementation of recent United Nation's resolutions dealing with the Gaza Strip, the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal."

Raging Blizzard Cripples Midwest

(From AP and UP)

KANSAS CITY — The worst spring blizzard in 30 years continued to rage in the midwestern United States today, paralyzing transportation and crippling communications in many sections of eight states.

One major train, carrying 400 passengers, and an estimated 7,500 highway travellers were reported stranded. Six deaths were attributed to the storm and nine persons were listed as missing.

The train was the Union Pacific City of St. Louis, westbound from St. Louis to Los Angeles. It was mired in drifts ranging up to 18 feet near Winona, Kan., about 50 miles from the Colorado line.

The blizzard, with raging winds that piled up drifts 14 feet deep, started Saturday and covered parts of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska and Missouri.

Winds up to 80 miles an hour in velocity—five miles over minimum hurricane strength—started easing up early this morning in the Texas Panhandle, but the snow had generally stopped.

Omaha was choked by 14 inches of snow and the fall continued today. Lincoln, 60 miles southwest, had a similar situation. Schools in both cities were closed.

There were 14 inches of snow in the Council Bluffs, Iowa area, and more falling.

Temperatures in the Texas Panhandle were expected to get a little above freezing today, allowing a little thawing. But they were expected to drop to 24 degrees at night.

IN BERMUDA

Macmillan, St. Laurent Start Talks

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (CP)—Canada's prime minister arrived at nearby Bermuda airport today for talks with Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain as a follow-up to the Big Two conference.

Prime Minister St. Laurent was accompanied by External Affairs Minister Pearson and Defence Production Minister Howe.

Plans were for a two-hour afternoon meeting of St. Laurent and Macmillan, with Howe and Pearson also sitting in, for a briefing on talks Macmillan had with President Eisenhower.

St. Laurent, in a brief airport statement, said both his and Eisenhower's meeting with Macmillan would be important to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He said he did not expect to reach any detailed conclusions during the talks but expected just the same friendly exchange as had marked the Eisenhower-Macmillan conference.

Strike Talks Collapse

LONDON (CP)—Talks between shipbuilding employers and union leaders broke down in deadlock today, shattering hopes of an early settlement of a strike that has paralized shipyards for the last nine days.

The talks failed as Britain felt the full force of a new strike involving 1,000,000 engineering workers in aviation, auto and machine tool industries.

TORONTO (CP)—Clarence Hap Day, general manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs, today announced he has severed all connections with the National Hockey League team.

Small Auditorium Asked by Scurrah

The suggestion that Greater Victoria Centennial Committee should consider erection of a small 2,800-seat civic auditorium as a birthday year project was put forward today by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

The mayor said he had reached the conclusion a much smaller auditorium than had been ordinarily envisaged might be a suitable centennial project.

DENIAL

An earlier report that six city organizations including the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Arts Centre, Symphony Society and Victoria Labor Council, planned to send a delegation to the next centennial committee meeting to promote an auditorium, was discounted today.

Chamber secretary Arnold Webb denied that group was interested.

Vancouver Loses Sunday Sport Bid

Vancouver's bid for commercial Sunday sport today was turned down by a legislative committee.

The private bills committee, comprising nine Socreds and four opposition members, reached a decision after only a brief discussion.

It was not known how committee members voted.

The city had applied for an amendment to its charter to legalize commercial sport on Sunday afternoons between 1.30 and 6 p.m. Vancouver citizens supported the measure in a plebiscite in December, 1955.

Neither city council nor the provincial government took any action at the last session to implement the result of the plebiscite.

It was reported at that time the government was considering a province-wide plebiscite on the controversial issue.

This year the city took action to have the charter amended and appeared before the private bills committee Friday. The Lord's Day Alliance also presented a brief at Friday's open hearing opposing Sunday sport.

CLOSED MEETING

The committee went behind closed doors today and reached its decision in short order.

It is understood the vote was called quickly because members had made up their minds on the matter and further discussions were considered unnecessary.

The committee decision apparently kills all hope of Vancouver having Sunday sport this year.

There may be further debate on the issue, however, when other requested Vancouver charter amendments come before the legislature this week.

If the committee had approved the amendment the final decision would have been made by the whole legislature. It usually follows the recommendation of the committee.

SOCREDS OPPOSED

Many government members are known to be opposed to Sunday sport. Premier Bennett stated last year that he was personally against Sunday sport, but added that if the people of Vancouver wanted it they could have it.

Chairman of the committee is Alex Matthew (SC-Vancouver Centre). Other members are: Dan Campbell (SC-Comox), secretary; Mel Bryan (SC-North Vancouver), Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale), Bert Price (SC-Vancouver-Burrard), Fred Sharp (SC-Vancouver East), Mrs. Buda Brown (SC-Vancouver Point Grey), Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, Rae Eddie (SC-New Westminster), Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East), George Gregory (Lib-Victoria), Tom Uphill (Ind. Lab.-Fernie).

During the talks on the Middle East, Eisenhower and Macmillan were kept in close touch with discussions under way in Cairo between UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and Egyptian President Nasser, an American source said. (See page 3.)

The communique said that in the absence of an effective agreement for comprehensive disarmament, the security of the free world must continue to depend upon nuclear deterrent. To maintain this effectively, continued nuclear testing is required.

The United States and Britain would be willing to register with the United Nations advance notice of nuclear tests and would permit "limited international observation of such tests, if the Soviet Union would do the same," it added.

Official spokesmen refused to discuss the types of guided missiles the United States will supply to Britain, beyond acknowledging they include 1,500-mile intermediate-range ballistic weapons.

An American source said they will probably be paid for under a lend-lease agreement similar to wartime agreements among the allies.

But, the source added, the missles are not yet in production. He estimated it will be a couple of years before they are actually produced in substantial volume.

SUEZ DISCUSSED

On the Suez Canal, the two statesmen recorded agreement on the importance of compliance "both in letter and spirit" with the Security Council resolution of Oct. 13, which said any settlement should meet six "requirements."

These provided for free and open transit without discrimination, respect for Egyptian sovereignty, insulation of the canal from the politics of any country, agreement by users and Egypt on tolls, allotment of a fair proportion of dues to development, and settlement of disputes by arbitration.

Saturday Sessions

worthy of the most complete endorsation, as throughout the world the club is pursuing the same objectives with the same goodwill.

Governor Ralph Bartholomew, Ketchikan, Alaska, district 151, emphasized the current intra-club aim is to "keep Rotary simple."

This is difficult, said the man who in the last year travelled 30,000 miles in interests of the club, "but we hope to keep Rotary simple, in its obligations."

FORUMS

The governor said steps are being taken to set up inter-city forums to meet from time to time, with a speaker from Rotary International to keynote the gatherings.

"Our target should be to go forward without spinning our wheels."

He mentioned Vancouver Island club projects, which included an air strip at Qualicum, hacked out of the bush by Rotarians, and also a tower and diving float at Chemainus.

Present on the platform were past district governors, including Mayor Percy Scurrah, Dr. Bruce Gordon, Courtenay, James Beatty, Robert Shane and Frank Doherty, of Victoria.

The conference opened Sunday night with a two-hour and 15-minute program which featured an inspirational address by Dr. A. M. Trendell, rector of St. John's (Shaughnessy), Vancouver, plus entertainment.

FULL HOUSE

Invocation was pronounced by Dean Brian Whitlow, Christ Church Cathedral, and the packed house heard baritone "Jock" Dunbar, the Rotary Boys' Choir, and a presentation of flags by the Victoria Girls' Drill Team.

Tonight there will be a variety show for Rotarians, 8.30 p.m. at the Royal.

There are so many here for the conference that delegates are eating in the crystal ballroom of the Empress, the hotel's dining room, and overflowing into the Crystal Garden.

IN MUNICIPAL ACT

'Undemocratic Powers' Hit By Ratepayers

A telegram asking Premier W. A. C. Bennett to withdraw a section of the Municipal Act governing unorganized territories was sent today by G. E. Bonner, president of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

Island ratepayers are "greatly concerned" with the bill which gives the municipal affairs minister "powers that are not democratic," Mr. Bonner said.

NO VOTE

Main objection is that under the new Municipal Act the minister may undertake local projects without appealing to ratepayers through a referendum or plebiscite, he said, and then pay for it by imposition of a mill rate on land and improvements.

Bottle-Wielding Teen-Agers Injure Two in Crashing Party

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gang of eight teenagers tried to force their way into a house party during the weekend and householder Fred Corrado was struck by a bottle, police report.

Corrado said he forced the youths out of the house and a fight started in the yard. Neighbor Dick Axelson, who came to Corrado's aid, was hit in the face by a rock. Mrs. Corrado was also "pushed around" in the melee.

Mr. Corrado, treated at hospital for face cuts, said the party was given for his 14-year-old daughter.

A youth, also 14, was taken to the juvenile detention home by police, who said he faces several charges.

Sunday night police officers dispersed more than a score of youths at a suburban intersection. Police said they believe a gang war was in the offing.

Probe Witness Reveals Threat

Mystery Phone Call in Seattle Aftermath of Senate Inquiry

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Police are investigating a threatening telephone call received by the wife of a witness who testified last week before the Senate rackets investigating committee in Washington.

Howard Sylvester, a Seattle insurance and public relations executive, said Sunday he has given police the name of an employee of the teamsters union whom he believes made the call.

Mrs. Sylvester told police she received the call Thursday. That was the day her husband told the Senate committee the teamsters spent nearly $600,000 in the fight to defeat a right-to-work initiative in Washington state last year.

The initiative was snowed under in last November's election.

Sylvester also told the committee the union owes him $10,000 for his work in the campaign and that an effort had been made to settle the bill for $1,800.

Meanwhile in Washington Senate investigators awaited a reply from teamster president Dave Beck to this $270,000 question: Was it a loan from teamster funds, a gift, or what?

Senator John McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate rackets investigating committee, said: "We know that Beck took from the union treasuries some $270,000. There is no evidence of a loan nor of a gift."

McClellan said "That's as far as I could go" in characterizing the transaction, pending Beck's appearance before the committee Tuesday.

Beck had been expected to arrive here from Seattle today, but his airline reservation was cancelled Sunday night.

ADMITS LOANS

He has said he borrowed between $300,000 and $400,000 in teamster funds without interest and without security, before he became president of the huge union 4½ years ago. He said the loans were made while he was head of the teamsters' 11-state western conference. Beck claimed he has repaid the money in full.

McClellan said he will ask Beck to explain why union records reflect $270,000 in repayment of "loans" from union funds in 1954, but that available records contain no previous entry indicating any such borrowing.

Beck is under committee orders to surrender his personal financial records for scrutiny by its accountants. Beck has announced he will bring the records to the hearing room but he did not make clear whether he would let the committee examine them.

If Beck should refuse to allow the committee to scrutinize his records, committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said, "We will, I feel, still be able to prove certain facts showing misuse of union funds by him."

Kennedy said committee investigators are using bank records and other sources to trace the money.

OLD BAILEY TRIAL

Adams Arranged Change in Will, Lawyer Charges

LONDON (CP)—A jury trying Dr. John Bodkin Adams for murder was told today the society physician arranged for the old widow he is accused of poisoning to change her will leaving him a chest of silver.

Hubert Sogno, a lawyer who handled financial affairs for Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, 81, testified the 58-year-old bachelor doctor called on him and said Mrs. Morrell had promised him gifts but forgot to include them in her will.

The gifts were her Rolls-Royce car and "contents of a case in locked box at the bank." The lawyer, appearing for the Crown, testified:

"He (Adams) said although Mrs. Morrell was very ill her mind was perfectly clear and he had no doubt she was in a fit state to make a codicil or a new will.

"I asked him about the contents of the case and he said it contained . . . jewelry and the two gifts together were of considerable value."

NEW WILL

The lawyer said Dr. Adams first approached him in March, 1950, and that a new will was drawn up in August — three months before the widow died.

The Crown charges the doctor killed her with an overdose of drugs when she threatened to change the will again cutting him out.

Under the will the chubby defendant was bequeathed a chest of silver. The Rolls-Royce was left her son, but he gave it to the doctor when his mother died.

Under cross-examination by defence counsel, Sogno agreed that Mrs. Morrell made at least six wills and that "she certainly wanted everything done without delay always."

Earlier the jury was sent out of court while the defence made a submission to the judge about the evidence of a detective.

Fine of $300 In Fatal Road Mishap

A fine of $300, or in default two months in jail, was the sentence imposed by Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne on Belton Frank Turner, 5021 Santa Clara, convicted by an Assize Court jury Friday of criminal negligence.

His driver's licence was suspended for two years.

The charge arose from the traffic death of John William Youson, 76, 748 Esquimalt Road, who was struck down by Turner's vehicle at the corner of Esquimalt Road and Rothwell on Jan. 5. Youson died shortly after.

In returning a verdict of guilty, the jury made a strong recommendation for leniency.

Turner claimed he did not see Youson crossing, the poorly lighted intersection.

Final Obstacle In Suez Raised

CAIRO (AP)—A United Nations salvage team today raised the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet, the last obstacle to passage of 10,000-ton ships through the Suez Canal.

There was no official word yet when Egypt will open the 103-mile waterway to 10,000-ton ships—about 75 per cent of the canal's normal traffic before it was blocked during last fall's fighting.

The 1,461-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir still partially blocks the southern entrance to the canal, but the 10,000 tonners can skirt this obstacle. UN officials have said the Abukir should be cleared by April 10.

EXPECT CONCESSIONS

UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's mission to Cairo meanwhile neared its end amid indications Egypt will make some concessions on operation of the canal. But the outlook on the disputed Gaza Strip remained dark.

The Egyptian Middle East news agency said Hammarskjold and President Nasser reached an understanding on the future of the canal. A spokesman for the secretary-general said that the report should be "treated with caution."

At the same time, informed Arab sources said Egypt is unwilling to sign any pact keeping the UN Emergency Force on the demarcation line unless Israel agrees to stationing of UNEF troops on her side of the frontier. Egypt also is demanding that Israel quit the El Auja demilitarized zone, between the Egyptian Sinai Desert and Israeli's Negev, as provided in the 1949 armistice.

Israel is expected to refuse both Egyptian conditions.

Diplomatic sources believe Nasser may have convinced Hammarskjold Egypt's still-secret plan for operating the canal is consistent with the six principles endorsed by the UN Security Council last October.

Off the Tightrope

THE UNITED STATES' DECISION to participate in the military phase of the Baghdad Pact shows that the leading nation of the free world is at last evolving a Middle East policy.

After hesitation and delay the United States is moving to fill the vacuum left by Britain's loss of influence in the Middle East. It is also showing in plain fashion that it intends to support its allies in their efforts to keep Russia out of that vital area.

The new declaration follows closely on announcement of the Eisenhower Doctrine. The latter offers economic and defence aid to countries of the Middle East. The latest step offers direct military support to the countries of the so-called Northern Tier—Turkey, Iran, Iraq, Pakistan—which, with British backing, form a line of mutual defence against southward aggression by Russia.

But the military commitment, while giving a new lease of life to the Baghdad Pact, carries much wider significance. The Pact has been bitterly assailed by Egypt's President Nasser and the Arab nations which support him. With this important step, therefore, the United States has entered upon a whole new policy for the area. It has announced in blunt fashion that its appeasement of the Arabs—so obvious throughout Washington's handling of the Suez crisis—has definite limits.

While the U.S. still seeks Arab co-operation in a Middle East settlement, it will not permit Arab antipathy to the Baghdad Pact to deter it from active participation in that pact. The need for defence against the threat of communist aggression takes first place.

Thus President Eisenhower has reversed two previous policies. The apparent Arab-appeasement-even-at-the-expense-of-friends program has been abruptly halted. The earlier refusal of Mr. Dulles to support the Northern Tier militarily — other types of aid had been given — has been over-ridden by the latest Eisenhower announcement. The U.S. is off the Mediterranean tightrope.

Another change is also indicated. Throughout the Suez developments the United States has repeatedly said that its only definite policy was support of the United Nations. That is still the policy, of course. But the new adherence to the Baghdad Pact gives support to the international thinking of such men as Mr. Pearson and Mr. Macmillan that we cannot leave everything to the U.N. to settle —there must be individual and bilateral efforts as well.

With his latest move Mr. Eisenhower has taken the initiative and gives promise that active leadership of the Western world may replace passive leadership. He shows signs of over-riding the policies of retrenchment followed by Mr. Dulles. It is to be hoped that he will continue to invigorate the American program with further constructive acts.

Talk Mr. Peterson Can Hear

GREATER VICTORIA COUNCILS and school board members have been talking among themselves about educational finance. In the same conversations they have been talking directly to the Provincial Government. It is to be hoped the Government has been listening.

What the municipal representatives are saying to Mr. Leslie Peterson, minister of education, is that the present school financing formula inaugurated by the Social Credit Government is not working fairly, and that it won't without amendment.

The province, under the present system, undertakes to meet the basic salaries of teachers. This it does on the basis of 1954 figures. Those figures are totally unrealistic. Since 1954 a succession of arbitration boards has raised the teacher salary scales in Victoria, as in other parts of the province. If the province carried the load in 1955, it certainly is not carrying it now.

As a result of higher pay scales, the municipal taxpayer is required to shoulder a further inequitable share of costs.

He will continue to carry them until the Government takes a realistic look at the situation and increases its basic salary grants substantially.

Several points of interest have been raised by council and school board members in their preliminary discussions.

Alderman Hugh Ramsay seems to express the counsel of desperation when he urges the Provincial Government to absorb all school costs. He is probably correct when he says that any resultant loss of local autonomy now enjoyed by the trustees would be negligible. Local autonomy is admittedly fenced in—as it has been for years—by provincial regulations.

He is substantially justified in the opinion that the Department of Education calls the tune, the school board dances the jig and both pay the fiddler—justified, too, in believing that municipalities are required to chip in too much.

It would be unfortunate, however, for Greater Victoria if the school board, circumscribed as its powers are, ceased to exist and if all authority were turned over to the department on the understanding that it would pay all the costs.

The board still does good work. It has contributed to a Greater Victoria situation which makes this region attractive to teachers. The city is in a preferred position—a fact which will be appreciated in September when the entire province faces a shortage of 1,000 teachers and districts not seriously pinched for staff will be lucky. And at least some of the credit for establishing such high scholastic standards in Victoria—standards proved by matriculation examination results—must be given to the trustees.

This does not alter the fact that the community is still faced by rising educational costs and that the municipal taxpayer feels too much of the load is being pushed onto him.

He wants help and is entitled to it. He could receive a measure of relief if the Government looked again at the rates it fixes for municipal payments for school purposes and decided they should come down. Municipalities, under the existing formula, are required to pay 10 mills in school taxes. Rural areas are charged seven.

An honest appraisal of these charges might convince the Government that the higher rate charged on municipalities, with equalization of assessments, is discriminatory. If it were lowered to that for rural areas, the taxpayer in Greater Victoria would be given direct help.

As Mr. Bruch Says . . .

ESQUIMALT'S MR. HERBERT Bruch has labored faithfully in the Social Credit vineyard. He will not be accused of "carping criticism" by members of the government.

But Mr. Bruch is apparently far from pleased by the progress made on the Malahat. Some contractors on the job, he says, are "dragging their feet" and the minister of highways should "smarten them up."

This is an unusual tone to hear from the government side of the House. It implies certain doubts over the competency and efficiency of a minister who frequently receives, and accepts as his due, high tribute for "getting things done." If only mild, it reflects some criticism of that great highway program Mr. Gaglardi discusses in such sonorous tones.

Mr. Bruch doesn't say as much, but the implication is clear: oratory does not build roads, no matter how bombastic the rhetoric.

'Man With Green Feet'

This is a title traditionally given to those who bring rain. When Mr. Nixon reached Rabat, Morocco, that region was parched. With his arrival came the rain.

Similarly when Mr. Nixon reached Ghana—for the celebration of that commonwealth member's new status—rain followed him to the village of Aburi, where the dry spell had lasted too long.

Now, if Mr. Nixon can be encouraged to visit the drought areas of the United States—but perhaps that is an unfair suggestion. Until the Republican advent of Gen. Eisenhower, Mr. Nixon's party had wandered too long in the wastelands, and Mr. Nixon does not claim special rain-making powers.

PUT IT IN WRITING — By B. A. TOBIN

The High-Voltage Pen Pal

WELL, it's finally happened. The last citadel of masculine initiative, of personal endeavor, of private sentiment, has been breached. They've invented a machine to write love letters.

Tobin

It is appropriate that the machine should make its appearance at this time of the year, when even a mechanical contraption of transistors and cogs might be expected to feel the vernal influence. But the very thought of this plastic playboy should be enough to make all true spring-infused lovers shred their bouquets with rage and tear up their love poems in despair.

It appears that the contraption wasn't made expressly for penning tender phrases to ladies. In fact this accomplishment seems to be a mere sideline with it. Its main function is solving mathematical problems for science and industry. Only on warm, sunny afternoons, when the bees hum drowsily over the early blossoms and the scent of spring is strong in the air—only then, I imagine, does The Thing dash off a few melting lines to its lady-love—perhaps a box of vacuum tubes in the next laboratory.

The new-style author of love missives signs its stuff MUC, which stands for Manchester University Computer. Most of the time it works out sums in a few seconds that would take human brains hours or days to complete.

But when they feed a few romantic ideas into the hopper—the news item doesn't say how—the machine drops all that mathematical stuff and grinds out 50 letters in the time it would take an ordinary lover to find an old envelope to write on.

A sample of its output, according to the item, goes like this: "Dear Jewel, you are my impatient ardour, my seductive rapture. You are my unsatisfied fondness, my avid rapture. My yearning fervently sighs for your ardent fellow feeling. Yours wistfully, etc."

Into a Rut

Not bad for something that looks like the inside of a radio set. I can see where MUC might easily get into a rut; he seems inclined to be prosy, even formal, and his only literary trick seems to be repetition for emphasis. But there are also definite signs that with the proper incentive he might break away from his electronic inhibitions and sweep a girl off her feet.

The news item says that sometimes the effort of composing a love letter seems too much for MUC and he starts to babble "darling, darling, darling . . ." as though he had no more sense than a human.

By gad, sir, that's going too far. Is this kilowatt lady killer to be allowed to ape even our imbecilities? Must homo sapiens be mocked in his springtime madness by this fugitive from a voltmeter?

Romance has come to a pretty pass when a box of wires can turn out love letters. But will it stop even there? Perhaps the greater danger is that the whole art of writing may fall into the rattling hands of robots. (A good deal of it has already, of course, but they are not called that, they are called newspapermen.)

Imagine batteries of machines in great factories, each one producing 50 sonnets a minute. Imagine great presses that not only printed books but authored them as well.

Mechanical Culture

Imagine magazine articles written by steel hands punching at electric typewriters. Imagine editorials denouncing the government, dictated by a handful of radio tubes and a condenser or two, and no tin ear attached to hear the answering cry of "Smear!"

This thing had better be nipped in the bud at once or there's no telling what we may come to.

Without resort to the United Nations —or should the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization be called in?—could we not reach agreement with MUC that if he will stop pouring out literary rubbish, we will too?

TOP DOGS

Britain is the chief source of the world's pedigree dogs, and this is best illustrated by the export statistics. In 1947, shortly after the war, 577 dogs were exported to all parts of the world. Cruft's was first held in 1948 and immediately the export figure went up to over 1,200. Last year it was over 4,100; half of those dogs went to the United States, to the value of about a million dollars, and more than half of the dogs exported were miniature poodles. So the miniature poodle is the top dog, not only in this country, but also in the States.

Constant Barrage

Some years ago when the Community Chest was started we were told that there would be no more tag days. This was not so as the tag days still continue

Now they appear to have been replaced by door-to-door collectors. Giving, we are told, benefits the giver as well as the receiver, and I think this is true when the giving is done in a spontaneous and warm-hearted way. Personally I like to help the SPCA and some other organizations, but I dislike intensely having some business-like young woman coming to my door and extracting money and then handing me a receipt for income tax purposes.

This door-to-door collecting is a mild form of blackmail as are tag days. Who has the courage to say "no" firmly to a volunteer collector who is probably representing a worthwhile cause?

However, one cannot give to all the many organizations and I am fed up with being brought to the door by Marching Mothers, Heart Foundations, Cancer Foundations, etc., etc., etc., and being made to feel mean and stingy when I do say "no".

This morning after flipping a coin to see whether I should pay the doctor this month and have the dentist wait until next month, or vice versa as I can't afford both, I certainly didn't appreciate the Red Cross collector who came to my door and asked for money.

Poetic Licence

Mr. Bonner says Mr. Sommers may have used "a considerable amount of poetic licence" when charging last session, that a huge conspiracy existed to wreck the Government and its forest management policies.

By my dictionary, poetic means "possessing the peculiar beauties of poetry," or, does Mr. Bonner mean that Sommers was using "untrue" licence?

If this whole Sommers matter were not so tragic it could be funny. Gilbert and Sullivan could have written a wonderful opera on the theme, as, Mr. Bonner now uses the Sommers matter to create a "private vendetta" between Mr. Gregory and himself but public opinion thinks the whole question anything but "private."

He also says "a civil suit cannot tie the hands of the chief law officer" and yet his hands do seem to be tied in spite of the fact that the people who put him in office have long been entitled to know the truth.

At the time, over a year ago, when Sommers made his invective charges (while under the protection of the Legislature) he was still a Minister of the Crown and a member of the Cabinet and not even a hint of apology was or has been made until now by the Government on what Sommers said.

Now Bonner says it was "poetic licence." He should have used the word "pathetic" both on his own and Sommers' behalf.

Stinging Rebuke

I wish to express my deep appreciation for your timely "Open Letter to Mr. Wenner-Gren." It was a stinging rebuke.

Our provincial morals have indeed reached a low ebb here in British Columbia, first the police probe, then the Sommers affair, and now this sell-out.

Frozen Food for Thought

Would you please publish this lett as a warning to housewives? A "foo plan" salesman called at our home la week and we were really sold on the food and freezer plan and gave a deposit.

However, the next day I inquired a found the price of deep-freezers in t department stores were from three four hundred dollars less than the o sold by a food plan. The salespeop of the food plan insist that it doesn matter how much the freezer costs the consumer doesn't pay for it anywa It is paid for by the money saved the food.

However, I will say that I've inquire from freezer owners and they tell n that a family can save money on a foo plan if they buy the freezer separatel which we have done. I must say th reliable, honest company didn't retur our five dollars.

If a person phones the public librar he can get a consumers' report on the appliances and perhaps save himself lot of grief.

Forts Vs Batteries

Throughout the province many group of citizens are searching for remains o structures to see if they are suitabl for restoring as a centenary memoria

Old Fort Langley is one of the Hi fur-trading stations which has remaine in the country and not built up. In th modern acceptance of the word it shoul be described as a stockade, as it was de signed to repel attacks by Indians with out artillery.

The first station was built in 1827 But it came into prominence on Nov 19, 1858, when Governor Douglas an Judge Matthew Baillie Begbie attende with officials and Sapper officer an men to form the colony of British Co lumbia. Each of the above swore eac other into office. The building wa then named Fort Derby.

Rodd Hill battery was built by th Royal Marine Artillery in 1897 to hous three six-inch disappearing breech-load ing guns. The date of this building wa twenty years after the first earthwor at Macaulay Point in 1878, which wa armed with discarded guns from th Dockyard.

The land enclosed by Rodd Hill i attractive and a pleasant shore line wit a beach suitable for local children to play on. FROM MANILA — By MARCIA WESTLY

With All Men of Good Will

EVERY city has a personality peculiar unto itself. The personality of Manila is not in its tall office buildings, or splendid monuments or its polyglot population and speech.

Manila is still in the process of recovering from the effects of a war. Eleven years later, the scars of conflict are still evident behind the facade of progress. But there is something intangible about this city that evokes admiration from everyone; it is the feeling of hope and pride of its people who have survived devastation to continue the tremendous task of rebuilding a city and a nation.

Physical Changes

That they are succeeding is evident in the physical changes which have taken place recently. These improvements have made a startling difference apparent to the critical eye of a newcomer and old-timer alike.

Cynics have commented that new roads, landscaping, street lights and improved traffic control, all made possible, they add, by deficit spending, are politically expedient.

Optimists, on the other hand, commend the improvements for with them has come that expression of personality that augured good for the future of the country.

The main show street of Manila is a wide, tree-lined street called Dewey Boulevard which runs along the shores of Manila Bay from suburban Parangue to the turnoff to the heart of the city.

Dewey Boulevard is the show case of the city. Here may be seen the contrasts which make Manila the fascinating city she is; the chauffeur-driven cars, magnificent new homes next to ruins, the jeepneys loaded with office workers on their way to the city; the fish vendors, the amahs with their charges, and the people of the seawall.

It is a pleasant sight any time of day. Filled with contrast as it is, one gets a sense of the tempo of the city for it is one of the main thoroughfares for people of all nations and all occupations.

The fisherman brings his catch ashore here. The housewife waits here for the freshest fish to take home, or to the markets inshore. The office workers read their newspapers en route to work along this pleasant stretch of driveway. The traveller gets his first view of the city from the airline buses which traverse this thoroughfare. The vendors push their carts ahead of them en route to the shady sidewalks.

For those who have no place of business and must fill the long hours of each day it is a comfortable place to sit and watch the sights; the fisherman, the gayly decorated bancas along the shore which entice customers with loudspeakers blaring popular music, the Philippine Navy performing their morning drill, the children playing under the trees and the constant stream of heavy traffic.

Today, March 18, there was a different atmosphere along Dewey Boulevard. The sun shone just as brightly on the sparkling blue bay, the traffic was just as heavy . . . but there was a change in atmosphere as noticeable as that before an imminent typhoon.

The word was definite this day. Not "official" but definite. The President, Ramon Magsaysay was dead and the nation was grieving.

Along the seawall, little groups of people sat and talked. There were no romping children jumping naked in the sea. The office workers in the jeepneys sat and stared at passersby without their usual friendly grins.

At the Philippine Navy compound the men stood in small circles, heads down in quiet discussion, waiting, we suppose, for the official word from Malacanang to lower the flag to half-mast.

Inexpressible Sorrow

Soon the church bells will toll their masses and the people of Manila will wear their bands of mouring but there will be nothing really capable of expressing the sorrow in the hearts of the little people who have lost a friend.

Perhaps they can take comfort from the knowledge that Ramon Magsaysay had faith in them and their future. Just before he died in the tragic airplane crash, the President had spoken at several graduation ceremonies.

Among his last words were: "We believe in the universal brotherhood of men under God and we join with all nations and men of good will to promote, through educational methods and association of individuals who believe in world brotherhood."

The Filipino people proved their belief in world brotherhood during the last war. It is our conviction that they will continue in that belief, whoever takes the place of their beloved leader. Ramon Magsaysay and all he stood for will live on in the hearts of his countrymen.

WOMAN'S OUTLOOK — By RUTH ENKE

The Other Millions

WEEK or two ago, when I went to see "The Crucible" at the College the unown woman next me said she'd been atnding the course of lectures on the dirent major religions.

I envied her because I, too, wanted to ar those lectures. But what with the lumn job and the Social Studies Course, I nply didn't have the time.

Such lectures seem to me invaluable and dly needed in this day and age. I'm only rry that they're usually ven on what one might ll the university level, and language that is somenes difficult for the erage individual to underand.

Ruth

* * *

I wish that the ideas in em could be presented in ore popular form and ee of extra charge to the neral public.

As it is, the people who go to these lecres are generally well educated, have the oney to pay the fee, and already have some terest in the subject. The lecturers are eaching to the converted, I fear.

The uninterested are the ones we want to tch.

Why do we want to catch them?

As I see it, we want to catch them beuse the world is shrinking rapidly. Our esent world is utterly unlike the one our arents, or even ourselves, knew as children. istances that were immense are now almost othing. Nations which once were far away e now virtually our neighbors.

Moreover, whether we want to or not, we ust learn to get along with those neighbors. e must learn about their cultures and their ays, and that means learning about their ligions, too, because the dominant religion of a country affects the pattern of its culture.

Not so very long ago, those of us who were raised in the Christian faith used to speak with superiority of "the heathen." We didn't mix with them. The chances were that we'd never come into direct contact with them in our lives.

Those days are past.

* * *

Nowadays, their representatives and ours meet together at the United Nations to see whether, by discussion, they can settle differences which, in former times, would have resulted in war.

To settle differences, we must yearn to understand the other nation's point of view. Often, though not always, that point of view must know what that religion is.

At least, that's the argument as I see it.

As I see it, it's most important that Christians no longer claim that they have a monopoly on goodness or on truth.

We may prefer the Christian faith. That's our privilege. Others may prefer another faith. That's their privilege.

If we are sincere in our talk of the brotherhood of man and peace on earth, then we must respect the religious rights of others.

* * *

I realize full well that this column will bring me some grieved and angry letters. This kind of column always does.

But, to the writers of those letters, I'd like to suggest that it's shortsighted, if not stupid to study other religious faiths.

It's not a question of changing one's own beliefs. It is a question of trying to understand the millions who adhere to faiths that are different from our own.

Those millions are sharing the world with us.

We must understand them or possibly perish.

ONDON LETTER — By WALLACE REYBURN

The King's Troop in Town

ONDON—The King's Troop, Royal Horse Artillery, are a very special outfit of the ritish Army. I could say they are the only orse-drawn artillery left in the world but case in some far-off place there are other nits that still have horses to move their eld pieces around I had better say they are ne of the few outfits that have not been echanized.

The main distinction that attaches to them the fact that they are royalty's own troop nd are on hand all the me for the firing of royal lutes and for ceremonial rades that go out from uckingham Palace.

Reyburn

* * *

They are a really splend sight when in full dress, nd Torontonians will have chance of seeing them ter this year. They were pposed to be at the CNE st year but arrangements ell through. However, in the coming months ey are going out to San Francisco to put on isplays there and I understand they'll be alling in at Toronto on the way back.

Why I bring up the King's Troop at this me is that they are neighbors of ours. Their arracks are a couple of blocks from us and henever they go down to the palace for ome ceremony or to Hyde Park to fire a alute our youngsters, along with all the ther kids on the street, have an exciting lose-up of the resplendently uniformed men, he sleek horses and the guns they trundle long behind them. (The fact that they wear ur caps has recently caused a certain element among the youngsters to chant "Davy Crockett" as they go by but that undignified reaction will soon pass out of favor.)

* * *

Since the men of the King's Troop live in our area it's not unnatural that we have got to know quite a few of them and the other day I was sharing a beer in the local pub with the sergeant who looks after the riding instruction at the barracks. Casually he said to me: "You have a son, haven't you? Would he like to learn to ride?" It appeared that he had a son of young Mac's age, he was going to teach his boy to ride and thought it would be a good idea to teach a couple of them while he was at it.

I couldn't get home to Mac fast enough to tell him the news. His eyes popped at the idea of learning to ride on the horses that parade for the Queen. He at once cancelled a party he had been looking forward to for a month, so as to fit in with the time of the first lesson, and off he went so excited that he arrived at the barrack gates an hour before he was due.

The sergeant told me an interesting thing about how they teach riding. None of the recruits are allowed out in the open on any of the Troop's 103 horses until they've had three months' riding training indoors. Great mistake of commercial riding schools, he says, is that they put a beginner on a horse in the open, the horse decides to have a run and that's how the broken collarbones start. But that's about all the sergeant has told me. He won't let me into the barracks to see Mac in action—and I'd be as thrilled as any youngster to have a look round there.

"No parents hanging around, thank you," says the sergeant.

The Timid Soul — A WEBSTER CLASSIC

HOME GARDEN — By HILDA BEASTALL

Early Vegetables Are Worth Effort

The value of raising early salad vegetables in a suitable cold frame cannot be overestimated.

Apart from the dollars and cents value, which may not appeal to the average large wage earner, it is the hard to estimate value of freshness in young crops.

Hilda

In spite of modern methods of freezing and cold storage, delicate young lettuce and radish do not, to my knowledge, appear on the market. Their keeping quality is too ephemeral.

To be successful, the soil in the cold frame should be deep compost. It may consist of well-rotted manure, spent hops, rotted sawdust, and good black soil from the compost heap.

Keep the glass covers on for a few days before planting, so that the soil mixture is warm.

3 INCHES APART

The pinch of lettuce seed shown indoors less than three weeks ago, will have produced seedlings large enough to prick out in a few more days. Space them about three inches apart each way. As the plants grow, alternate ones may be used, leaving more space for the remainder.

Sow a short row of a small type radish (if you like them) at intervals of seven days. A clump of chives in a corner will furnish delicate onion flavor.

Any further space available in the frame could be sown to a short-horn carrot to be used as "fingerlings," and beets if you prefer eating the young tops as many do.

Keep the glass on for germinating, and for the first three or four days after putting out the lettuce seedlings. Later, raise the covers for air during all mild days, rain or shine.

If the compost has been made from a wide assortment of materials, no further fertilizers will be needed for these early vegetables. They will be used and the frame cleared for further use before the really warm weather arrives.

BANKER WARNS OTTAWA AGAINST HASTY ACTION

'Fullest Investigation' Asked On Proposed Changes in Banking

MONTREAL (CP)—President Gordon R. Ball of the Bank of Montreal today called on the government for a prompt "public announcement . . . that no fundamental changes in the Canadian banking structure are contemplated without the fullest possible investigation of what might be involved."

Mr. Ball referred to a recent proposal by governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada that chartered banks' personal savings deposits should be channelled into mortgage loans and other long-term securities.

His statement was a strong warning against "precipitate action" on something which would "involve radical changes in the structure and operations of the Canadian banking system." It also contained objections to the idea itself.

It was "rather unfortunate that the proposals had been brought before the public in the way they have," Mr. Ball said. Public psychological reactions so far had been "undesirable and possibly dangerous."

He said he has approached Finance Minister Harris about Mr. Coyne's proposals, outlined in the Bank of Canada's annual report earlier this month.

UNSEEN CONSEQUENCES

They were highly technical ones which, "at this juncture neither the Bank of Canada, which initiated the proposals, the government which would have to accept responsibility for them, the banking system, which would have to implement them, nor the Canadian public, which would be affected by them, can as yet fully realize all the consequences involved."

Individual depositors had a right to expect that practical bankers will determine the kind and quality of assets securing their deposits rather than a rigid Bank of Canada formula or a government edict.

The proposal apparently meant a "virtual ceiling" on chartered bank loans to industry and individuals until demand deposits had been increased by about $1,500,000,000, Mr. Ball said.

UNFORTUNATE

In his view, it would be unfortunate during any business recession, real or incipient, if the banking system was prevented from making loans "that needed to be made."

PARLIAMENT EXPECTED TO RISE IN 3 WEEKS

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Members of Parliament expect within three weeks to have ended their labors in the present session and to be packing up to return to their constituencies in preparation for the general election.

Both those on the government side and on the Opposition side of the House appeared in agreement as last week came to a close that the Commons would prorogue by April 12 at the latest with dissolution in the following week.

Date of the election still is not definite. But it will be either June 10 or June 17 in the opinion of most members. At present there is a tendency to favor the former date, but June 17 may be finally selected.

VETERAN DIPLOMAT

Faint Hope Seen In Algerian Crisis

Small hope of any immediate solution to the French-Algeria impasse was seen here Friday by veteran diplomat Lieut.-Col. E. W. Fletcher, CBE, FRGS.

He said that the situation is now that the French won't negotiate unless the rebels halt action, and the rebels say they won't stop short of independence.

Algerian trouble has been caused "more by communists than anything else," he said, adding it was the French themselves who introduced communism to Algeria.

Col. Fletcher, who has spent more than 30 years in both Near and Far East, said he believed the mass of French Algerians were "heartily sick" of the conflict there, and would vote against continuance of Algeria as part of France.

Most of the so-called French in Algeria, he pointed out, did not come from France but from Spain, Italy and Greece, but over the years have become French in association and name.

These settlers include a small group afraid of losing their interests should France withdraw, he said. This group was backed by financial interests with lobbies in Paris, and by certain high officials.

Of Morocco, which achieved self-government last year after being a French protectorate, he said the main trouble was that of production and economics.

He indicated France would still have control of Morocco if France had now wound-up virtually operating the country.

There were 40,000 French petty officials in Morocco, and 6,000 French policemen.

"The laxity on the part of the French is that they allowed too many colonists in."

Then there was the "get in, make money, and get out" actions of a small number of the French which did nothing to appease the native population, he said.

The colonel left here today for a speaking engagement in Vancouver and after a cross-country tour of Canada and the United States expects to return to the West Coast about the end of May.

Col. Fletcher, after a generation in the India diplomatic service, also set up the Pakistan diplomatic and consular posts.

He spoke to the Victoria branch of the English Speaking Union here Thursday night.

Jury Finds Drowning Accidental

Glen Harry Jacob Pearson, 23, Sidney, died by accidental drowning in Shoal Harbor early Friday, a coroner's inquiry decided Friday afternoon.

Investigation was made by RCMP and Dr. E. C. Hart.

His absence was noted about 15 or 20 minutes after leaving friends. They spotted a package of cigarets which Pearson had been carrying floating near the walkway.

He had been employed as a crewman on a coast steamship.

Funeral arrangements by Sands Funeral Home, Sidney, are set for Monday at 2.30 p.m. in the chapel.

Concealed Knife Carried to Avoid Second Beating

James Ernest Curtis, no fixed address, was fined $25 in city police court Saturday when he pleaded guilty to carrying a concealed knife.

Police said the accused explained the weapon as a protection against getting beaten up in Vancouver.

He was stopped about midnight on Grant Street and given a routine search. The knife was between his boot and leg in a scabbard.

Curtis, police said, had been beaten up in Vancouver and "it wasn't going to happen again," they said he told them.

Phillips Petroleum Grosses Billion; Net $95 Million

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP)—Phillips Petroleum Co. Saturday reported its gross income for 1956 above the billion-dollar mark for the first time. Net income was listed at $95,202,615, just under the 1955 record.

Phillips reported stepped-up activity in Canada. The report said Phillips and a Canadian firm will complete late this year a plant in th Peace River area of British Columbia for converting natural gas liquids into 3,000 barrels daily of automotive and aviation gasolines and diesel fuel.

The company reported leases or exploratory rights on 2½ million net acres in Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Holdings in the Peace River area were increased more than 1,300,000 acres through an arrangement with another firm.

It said "a significant gas discovery" was made at year-end on a 30,000-acre block in the Peace River area in which it holds a half interest.

U.K. UNREST MAKES CANADA ATTRACTIVE

LONDON (CP)—The Spectator says Britain's present industrial unrest is making Canada increasingly attractive to the British investor.

"Each time that some quarrelsome section of British industry is paralyzed by an unnecessary strike, the British investor looks longingly at Canada," the British weekly says. It concludes that "it is far better to receive a 2½ to 3 per cent yield on a dollar equity which grows in non-taxable capital value than 5 to 6 per cent yield on a British industrial which sooner or later runs into trouble."

FOREST MANAGEMENT PRESIDENT SAYS:

Large Timber Allocations Not in Best Public Interest

VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the Western Forest Management Association said here Friday that the allocation of large acreage of timber lands is not in the best interests of the public.

C. B. Swanson made the statement in an address to the opening of the first joint convention of the WFMA and the Western Forest Industries Association, Portland, Ore.

Some 180 members of the WFIA and 140 from the WFMA met at the two - day convention. Principal speakers will include Edward Woozley, director of the bureau of land management, Washington, D.C., and J. Herbert Stone, regional forester, U.S. forest service, Portland, Ore.

Mr. Swanson said allocation of large timber acreages creates monopolies and is a return to the old "feudal system."

He said the market place is the place for prices on lumber to be decided, "not behind locked doors at secret conferences or in exclusive cocktail bars, 6,000 miles away."

He added that no form of allocation guarantees the best return to the public for its resources. No administrator or civil servant should be asked to choose who will become millionaires and who will go broke, said Mr. Swanson.

LIVING COST IN U.S. AT NEW PEAK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living jumped another four-tenths of 1 per cent in February to its sixth-straight record, the U.S. labor department reported Saturday.

The consumer price index advanced to 118.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average, bureau of labor statistics said.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrial Losses Widen at Toronto

Losses in industrials widened today but base metals and western oils had a few of their declines reduced in trading on the Toronto stock market.

Brokers said the slow trading and easier trend was probably a result of the irregular trend on Wall Street and the international situation.

AT TORONTO Trans Mountain Pipe Line was the heaviest industrial loser. It lost 4½ points at 115. Page-Hersey Tubes lost 1⅞ to 118⅝ while Canada Iron Foundry was off two points to 35. Premier Trust added two at 88.

Senior base metals, led by Noranda's two-point loss at 48, juniors, coppers and uraniums were lower. Most price changes were narrow but losses held a decided edge in number.

Western oils moved lower in narrow range trading. There were two declines to each advance. Most senior issued were fractionally lower.

AT NEW YORK gaining Canadian stocks included Canadian Pacific and Granby Mining, ahead ⅛ each. Lower were Aluminium Ltd., down 2⅜, Hudson Bay Mining ½, International Nickel ¼, Dome Mines ⅛ and Distillers-Seagrams ⅛.

Canadian issues moving forward on the American Stock Exchange included Preston East Dome, up ¼, Canadian Marconi ⅛ and Jupiter Oils 1-16. Down were Brazilian Traction, off 1-8, Richwell Petroleum ⅛, Fargo Oil 1-16 and Scurry-Rainbow Oil 1-16.

AT MONTREAL industrials were irregularly higher in moderate afternoon dealings on the stock exchange.

Industrials showed widespread gains. Engineering, motors, electrical equipments, stores and some miscellaneous leaders showed improvements. Isolated dull spots included Hudson Bay.

The feature of mines was the strength of tin shares following an increase of the international tin floor price. Oil shares were fractionally below the best. South African gold shares were dull but coppers were selectively better. Dollar stocks were mainly easier.

AT LONDON the stock market advanced on a broad front today but buying was confined to better-class issues.

Sentiment was assisted by improvements in the labor situation and the optimistic view taken of the Bermuda talks.

There was quiet demand for government securities which recorded several improvements. Dominion and colonial issues were higher.

In foreigners there was support for East European bonds. Among rails Canadian Pacific showed an early improvement on favorable press comment but later was below the best. Antofagasta issues were firm.

AT VANCOUVER, fair market prices showed an upward trend. Highland Bell sold 6,500 between 99 and $1.10. Futurity moved 4,300 at $7.05.

Sun Oil to Start Saskatchewan Oil Delivery to Sarnia

PHILADELPHIA (CP) — Sun Oil Co. Ltd. expects shortly to start daily deliveries of 4,000 barrels of Saskatchewan crude oil to its refinery at Sarnia, Ont., as a start to the eventual plan of operating the plant entirely on Canadian oil, says the annual report of the parent Sun Oil Company.

Sun Oil Company had net income in 1956 of $56,160,000 or $5.22 a share compared with $48,307,000 or $4.72 a share in 1955. Operating income was $731,412,000 compared with $660,284,000.

C of C Backs Year-Round 6-Day Shopping

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce Friday endorsed a motion requesting a six-day shopping week the year round instead of a six-day shopping week for only July and August as provided in the new Municipal Act.

The motion was passed after R. A. H. Lort told the directors that the chamber's retail and tourist trade groups favored a six-day shopping week until 6 p.m. the year round.

Opposing the motion, Courtney Haddock said the majority of independent retail merchants and retail clerks in Victoria are against a year-round six-day shopping week.

New York Tabloid Papers Hike Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's morning tabloid newspapers, The Daily News and Daily Mirror, announced Sunday their city prices will go up today from four to five cents a copy.

The World-Telegram and Sun and The Journal-American, both afternoon newspapers, raised their prices from five to 10 cents last week.

Car Production Down Slightly

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Canadian automobile manufacturers turned out 8,488 cars during last week, down from 8,876 the previous week.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most prices showed an easier tone today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Overseas interest in Canadian coarse grains continued at a low ebb.

The market was affected by hesitations on United States markets, reports of heavy snow in the dry U.S. wheat belt and reports of substantial American offerings of feed grains to exports for overseas distribution. Oats and barley had domestic support.

There was some export interest in flax with export houses buying on recessions.

Rye trade was thin with local support. Seasonal lows were recorded in all months during the session.

There was no information available on overnight loadings of Canadian wheat.

Tax Increase Claim Called 'Sabotage'

LANGFORD—A report that Sooke school district ratepayers expect a 2½-mill tax increase this year was bitterly condemned today by John S. Williams, school board chairman.

"The publication of this statement five days after the announcement of a voting date for the long-awaited school building referendum in this district appears to be a deliberate attempt to sabotage the referendum," he said.

UNDER ONE MILL

"This statement did not emanate from the school board and is not correct," he said.

There will be an increase, but that it will be less than one mill above the 1955 rate, he said.

"If I am proved wrong, I will offer my resignation to the board," he said.

Budget for the year is $583,695, of which the largest single item is $298,720 for teachers' salaries, an increase of $50,234 over the total of last year.

Other Vancouver Island school boards have had increases of four to five mills, he said, and on the mainland they have increased up to nine mills.

The $533,000 school construction referendum will go to the voters April 13.

Lie Detector Test Refused for Carey

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has refused a lie-detector test for convicted murderer James Carey.

The court of last resort, headed by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, offered to send a lie-detector team to Carey's cell in Oakalla prison if authorities requested it.

Mr. Bonner said: "A lie-detector is not a part of the judicial processes of Canada. And I feel the remissions branch of the federal justice department can be relied on to do an adequate job if any investigation is required."

Carey, 27, is under sentence to hang April 2 along with Joe Gordon, 36, for the shooting of Vancouver police constable Gordon Sinclair, Dec. 7, 1955.

HAMILTON STAR AS COUGARS END SEASON

PLAYOFFS OPEN TUESDAY NIGHT

Kilburn's Formula for Success...'If 14 Guys Work...'

The Victoria Cougars wound up their Western Hockey League schedule Saturday night, extended their winless streak on the road to 12 straight games and, as a continuing result, established themselves as under-dogs in their best-of-three semi-final series against the New Westminster Royals, opening in New Westminster Tuesday night.

Cougars were beaten, 4-1, Saturday night by the Western division champion Seattle Americans in the final scheduled game for both clubs.

It was Cougars' 29th road defeat in 35 games, a statistic that will have to be overcome this week as Cougars are scheduled to play twice in New Westminster and once in Victoria in the best-of-three series with Hal Laycoe's Royals.

Cougars have won eight straight games at home and hold six straight decisions over the Royals on Victoria ice. However, Cougars have won only one game in New Westminster, have tied twice and have lost five times, including three shutout defeats.

Cougars must overcome past history and the small New Westminster ice surface to bypass the Royals and gain the division finals against the Seattle club.

The Victoria club was belted by one of its own hands Saturday night as Don Hamilton, Cougar spare goalie who spent the season with the junior Melville Millionaires, took over the Seattle nets in place of the injured Emile Francis.

The young product of Victoria's minor leagues turned in a spectacular game as he gave Cougars a goal in the first period but then shut them out the rest of the way, stopping 25 shots. In the last period, he prevented what looked like three certain Cougar goals with his acrobatic goal-tending.

Bruce Carmichael scored the only Cougar goal, the 32nd of his sophomore year, but Seattle took the decision on two goals by Ed Dorohoy and singles by Bruce Lea and Rudy Filion.

In other windup games Saturday night, Gord Fashoway scored three goals to run his season's total to 41 as New Westminster crushed Vancouver Canucks, 7-3; Brandon Regals set a record for total winning points with a thumping 10-4 win over Winnipeg Warriors and Calgary Stampeders downed Edmonton Flyers, 3-1.

Cougar coach Colin Kilburn, fully realizing the task his club faces Tuesday night, said: "That first game is the big one. If we can win that one, we will be in a good position. And if 14 guys work to full efficiency, we can win it, regardless of our past record. That New Westminster club can skate and you have to skate with them. In addition, we'll need perfect goal-keeping. Marcel Pelletier will be our big man in this series."

Kilburn said that defenceman Nelson Bulloch, who sprained his ankle last week, may not be ready for Tuesday's game, in which case rookie Gordie Matheson, also up from Melville, will take a regular shift.

★ ★ ★

. . . doubtful starter

Brandon established a league record Saturday night by sending its total-points figure to 92, on 44 wins and four ties during the 70-game schedule. New Westminster had set the previous record in 1951-52 when it ran up 91 points.

Rookie Willie Voss scored three times for the Regals. Elliott Chorley got two goals while singles were counted by Norm Johnson, Les Colwill, Len Haley, Ray Manson and Les Lilley.

In the other Prairie encounter, the first and second periods featured displays of temper and resultant penalties. Between flare-ups, Doc Couture and Archie Scott scored in the first for the Stampeders while Vic Dzurko matched Edmonton's third-period goal by Jerry Melnyk.

★ ★ ★

At New Westminster, the Royals took a 4-1 lead in the first and out-scored Vancouver 3-1 in the second. The scoring was handled for the winners by Fashoway with three, Pete Durham with two, Arlo Goodwin and Ollie Dorohoy. Bill Wylie got two of the three Vancouver goals, and Phil Maloney the other.

(Eighth Instalment)

While we were in Montreal for the World Series in 1926 I was aware of discussions between Lester and his brother Frank and officials of clubs in the National Hockey League.

It was apparent, to any observer, that the Pacific coast could not support the type of hockey it had been getting when cities like Chicago and Detroit were clamoring to get franchises in the NHL.

Wills

During the summer of 1926 negotiations continued, the Patricks, at the same time, making sure they had all their players signed for the next season at much-enhanced salaries and the NHL trying to pry loose the players.

Then the announcement came and it hit the coast fans like a bombshell.

Five of the Western League clubs had been sold, Victoria going to Detroit, Vancouver to Chicago and the rest of the players being spread over the other clubs in the NHL, including the Rangers, the new club in New York.

Each of the five western clubs got $50,000 for their players. Saskatoon thought it could make a better deal but wound up by getting only $22,000, and $15,000 of it was paid by the Cooks—Bill and Bun.

Then came an offer to Lester, The New York Rangers, who were to make their debut in the NHL, offered him $10,000 for the season, with transportation to and from Victoria for his family as well. Lester took it.

He was quickly introduced to the antics required to put over a show in New York. At the training camp he found most of the players' names had been changed. Lorne Chabot's was changed to Chabotski to appeal to the Poles in New York. Others had been given Italian and Jewish names.

"Our publicity man came up with a stunt to have a gunman hold-up Bill Cook on his way to the rink," Lester recalls with humor. "What they couldn't think up? Why, I never got three hours' sleep a night."

Quickly Learned Big City Antics

Finally the season opened and Lester's eyes popped when he saw the returns from one game. They were in excess of $30,000, which was more than he had taken from gate receipts in the whole previous season in Victoria.

Lester had his eyes opened again not long after this.

The Rangers were a highly disciplined team and did everything on schedule. For instance, they went on the ice at exactly 8.22 each night they played. It didn't matter what other clubs did.

Lester went into the dressing room 12 minutes before the team was to step on to the ice. He went to give last-minute instructions.

One particular night the Rangers were being opposed by the Montreal Maroons.

"Lester, I want to see you," said Chabot.

"What's wrong?" asked Lester.

"I've been offered a bribe to throw the game," said Chabot. "I'd rather not play."

Lester was not outwardly shocked, but inwardly he was mad. He knew New York well and wasn't surprised when faced with this awkward situation. Gamblers tried to fix anything and everything in New York.

Lester fixed Chabot with his piercing eyes.

"You've got to play," he said. "We can't get a substitute now. Go out and do your best and leave the rest to me."

It was a tough spot for Chabot and he was fidgety all through the game. But through no fault of his, the Rangers lost.

Maybe the gamblers were pleased but, not Lester nor any of the Rangers who were in on Chabot's plight.

Lester launched an immediate investigation and then called in the press. He told them the whole story, announced he had located the gambler and had barred him from Madison Square Garden for life.

Bold Move Impressed New Yorkers

The reaction to this bold move by Lester made a tremendous impression on New York. The folks there were not used to such drastic moves in sportsdom and they were glad to know that this new Canadian was a man not to be trifled with.

"Yes, I know what happened to people who crossed up the gamblers in New York at that time," says Lester. "But it just shows how a fast move can win you respect and make your path easier. I had to walk through the long corridor from the front of Madison Square Garden to my office and I had to pass all those fellows I knew were gamblers. But never once did they make any move even to ask me what I thought of my team's chances for any game in all the years I spent there."

Lester had another rough time in 1934 when he was finally convinced that his son, Lynn, had the makings of a major league hockey player. For a long time he resisted the temptation to put Lynn in a Ranger uniform, but eventually he did, using him on a third line with two other promising amateurs.

Lynn played centre and fans, particularly those in the cheap seats, figured Lester was playing favorites with his son. They booed his poor plays and shouted at Lester to "take him out."

Thirteens Best of Tens In City Pin Tournament

They took over the title won last year by Watson's Men's Wear by racking up a handicap total of 2,917 at Gibson's Bowladrome as the annual city tenpin championships opened Sunday.

Doug Elford's sparkling 235 effort in his second game of the three-game series carried Thirteens to the throne with a 15-pin margin over runner-up Dominion Meat.

Dominion Meat, rolling with a 116 handicap each game, posted scratch games of 862, 875 and 817 as they racked up a 2,902 total and edged Gorge Hotel by four pins.

In fourth place for the third successive year was the Princess Mary squad, paced by the 590 performance of Elmer Curtis, which ended up with a 2,892 total. Only 28 pins behind the leaders, but in fifth place, were Sunset Seniors with a 2,887 total.

SAGE HOT

Nip Sage, putting together single games of 201, 235 and 168 took the lead in the all-events race with a scratch total of 604. Four points back was Bob Bystedt and Curtis, who racked up a 223 score in his second game, holds down third place in the all-events scramble.

Sage and Elford shared single-game honors at 235 while Curtis took the third spot with his 223.

Individual scores posted in Sunday's team event will count toward the city all-events crown, which will be decided on scratch totals rolled in team, singles and doubles events.

WINS GRAND AGGREGATE

Valleau Rink Takes Top Bonspiel Prize

Victoria rinks took most of the prizes in the fifth annual men's bonspiel at Victoria Curling Club, but the top honors went to Duncan and Vancouver rinks.

Ed Valleau's foursome from Cowichan Curling Club, which was skipped by Tony Folk, walked off with the coveted grand aggregate award and the Dominion Hotel primary event while Fred Tinling's Vancouver quartet captured the other primary competition.

Folk nailed down the double honors when he skipped the Duncan entry to a 9-7 win over Ed Wilson of Victoria in the final of the Dominion Hotel event. The victory gave him a 9-1 record for the week-long bonspiel and a narrow edge over Tinling in the race for grand aggregate laurels.

Tinling, winner of the Colonist event during Saturday's finals with a 15-6 triumph over Harry Spottiswood of Port Alberni, finished with eight wins and one loss.

ONLY DEFEAT

Valleau, who ended Tinling's unbeaten skein in the 16s of the Dominion Hotel event, suffered his only loss against Spottiswood in the eights of the Colonist event.

Victoria rinks won the other four events and 20 of the 24 sets of prizes.

GALS SAVE THE DAY

Island Shuttlers Repel Vancouver

All four clubs representing the Lower Island were successful in defending badminton titles won last year as they beat off the strong challenge of the Vancouver and District league in matches played Sunday at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club

The Victoria Club won their first division matches by what appeared to be a large margin, 9-2, but, if it had not been for the over-all strength of the local women, Bal Skillings and his troupe from the Vancouver Racquets Club would have made it much warmer for Eric Hibberson and his cohorts.

The Brentwood second division team found the going a mite rougher as Archie Sluggett's team had to win the last match from a strong Vancouver Strathcona Club to tie the series six-all and then resort to the score sheet and some fancy figuring to come up with a narrow win on points.

Ian Williams' third division team from Cordova Bay had the easiest time of the day taking a 9-2 decision from the South Burnaby contingent, but not before Ian took a shuttle in the eye. He will carry the scars of battle for the next two weeks.

Ivan Temple's come-from-behind St. John's team did it again in their fourth division matches as they snatched victory from the Wireless Station club of Ladner in the last two matches to win 6-5.

Howe, Plante Earn Spot Beside Wings

Gordie Scoring King; Jacques Top Goalie

By The Canadian Press

Gordie Howe . . . Jacques Plante . . . Detroit Red Wings . . . those are the names that the 1956-57 National Hockey League schedule will be remembered by.

Wings put their name in the record book last week when they won their eighth NHL title in nine years, but Howe and Plante were forced to their peaks in weekend games before their places were assured.

Howe, the Wings' superlative right winger, pulled out all the stops Saturday night against Toronto Maple Leafs as he staved off a late-season drive by Montreal's Jean Beliveau and ensured himself of his fifth NHL scoring championship.

Gordie scored two goals and assisted on one other and added two more assists Sunday against the Leafs to finish with 44 goals and 45 assists for 89 points—the second highest total in history.

Plante went into the Canadiens' game with Chicago Black Hawks Saturday two goals down to Detroit's Glenn Hall in their race for the Vezina Trophy. He proceeded to shut the Hawks out as Canadiens won 3-0, while Hall was allowing three in Detroit's 5-3 victory over Leafs.

Howe Never Better, Claims Adams

Beliveau, only a point behind Howe before the games, was held to an assist Saturday and dropped to third place as the Wings' Ted Lindsay scored twice and got one assist to finish with 30 goals and 55 assists, a point ahead of Beliveau.

Canadiens' victory Saturday assured them of second place as Boston Bruins were beaten 4-2 by fourth-place New York Rangers and had to settle for third, two points back of Montreal.

Sunday, while the Wings were beating Toronto 4-1 in Detroit, New York and Chicago played to a 4-4 tie in New York.

Howe's sparkling play Saturday brought roars of astonishment from 12,940 Toronto fans and moved Jack Adams, Detroit general manager, to say: "He's never played better — this is what he can do any time he wants."

The 27-year-old scored once in the second period and again in the third. Bill Dineen, Lindsay and Metro Prystai got the others for Detroit.

Sunday the Leafs went ahead again 1-0 in the first period as junior star Frank Mahovlich, up for three games with the Leafs, scored his first NHL goal.

Detroit scored twice in the second and twice in the third to end their schedule six points in front of Montreal.

Rollins Steals Plante's Thunder

Though Plante's shutout won him the Vezina and $1,000 Saturday the evening's goaltending honors went to Hawks' Al Rollins. The lanky netminder put on an incredible display, stopping 50 shots as the Habs poured it on.

It was the highest number of shots fired at a goalie in a single game this season.

Rangers continued to hold a spell over Boston Saturday as they won their eighth in 14 games this season with the Bruins. They are the only team to have a winning margin against Boston over the schedule.

New York scorers were Andy Hebenton, Andy Bathgate and Danny Lewicki with two. Vic Stasiuk scored two for Boston.

Sunday New York needed a three-goal third period to tie the Hawks who burst out with four in the second after a scoreless opening period.

Varsity, Reps To Share Cup

VANCOUVER (CP)—Varsity and Vancouver Reps will hold the historic McKechnie Cup, emblematic of the B.C. English rugby senior championship, for six months each following a 3-3 tie at UBC Stadium Saturday in the final game before a crowd of 500.

Each team had beaten Victoria Reps earlier and Saturday's match was the deciding game. Northwests won the trophy last year.

On a good playing pitch but in cold rain, both teams found the ball hard to hold, and there were very few good backfield movements. Varsity scored their points on a dropped goal, and Reps tied it up with a penalty goal.

Cameron, Davies Win Carlow Golf

Barons Take Second Spot

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons captured second place in the American Hockey League Sunday with a home-ice 7-3 victory over fourth-place Hershey Bears in the finale of the regular schedule.

On top of a 7-0 shellacking of Buffalo Bisons Saturday, Barons wound up deadlocked with Rochester Americans in the point standings but took second spot on the basis of a superior scoring record.

Rochester also wound up the week-end with a pair of wins, 4-3 over the Bears at Hershey Saturday and 7-6 over the Bisons at Buffalo Sunday night on the strength of Gord Hannigan's goal with five seconds to play.

The league champion Providence Reds had a rough week-end with tail-end Springfield. The Indians trounced the leaders 11-1 Saturday, then invaded Rhode Island Sunday and twice grabbed the lead before the Reds came back to squeak a 5-4 edge.

Neil's Effort Wasted As Heaneys Gain Draw

A great one-man scoring surge was half-wasted Sunday as Canadian Scottish and Heaneys battled to a 4-4 tie in a Victoria and District Soccer Association game.

Neil Standley, brilliant Scottish forward, booted home three goals in the first half but the Scots were not as thrifty as their name implies and they managed only a split in points.

The Scots were ahead, 3-2, at half-time with Standley supplying all the Scot goals and Stu Walker and Darrell Burley scoring for Heaneys.

John Speechley put the Scots ahead, 4-2, early in the second half but Morris Bunyan and Tom Rimmer scored in quick succession for Heaneys to force the tie.

Both Scots and Heaneys have finished their second-half schedule.

GORGE TAKES LEAD

However, the battle for first place in the second half still remains and Gorge Hotel took a step in the right direction Sunday when they scored a 3-1 win over Punjab United with big Charlie Constable again doing most of the damage for the winners.

The win gave Gorge a two-point league lead over second-place Tillicums.

However, Constable scored his second goal, the eventual winner and Bill Bamford put the decision out of reach with the third Gorge tally.

On Saturday, Brodies Bakery smashed through with three overtime goals to take a 6-3 victory over Esquimalt and gain the final of the lower Island Province Cup competition.

Brodies had roared into a 3-1 lead in the first half, on goals by Willie McMillan, Charlie White and Jim McConachie against a single Esquimalt goal by Tommy Druce.

STEWART TIES GAME

Veteran Len Scott was dead on the target with a second-half penalty kick to put Esquimalt within one goal of the Bakers and Alex Stewart tied it all up when he scored 15 minutes from full time.

But there was no holding the Bakers in the overtime session as White blasted in two more goals to complete a hat trick and Don Hughes added the other goal.

Feature game next weekend will be the other Province Cup semi-final, with Gorge taking on Tillicums, the winner advancing against Brodies in the lower Island final April 6.

TAC Plays to Form In Knockout Soccer

Tillicum Athletic Club, the class of division one, did the expected Sunday in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association knockout competition.

Tillicums blanked McNutt's Grocery, 2-0, behind the stout playing of Jamie Costain, who scored both goals and was a powerhouse on offence.

At Carnarvon Park, Fuller's Clippers won their division three match against Eagles by a 1-0 score as Don Elphick hit the netting from his wing forward position at 4½ minutes of the second half.

Two out of town exhibition games had division four Heaneys beating Ladysmith and division five Lansdowne Trojans winning 3-0 over Ladysmith.

In knockout cup action Saturday, Heaneys edged past Victoria West with a 3-2 overtime win following a regulation time 1-1 tie.

Eagles shut out Central Flyers in their division five match at Beacon Hill on goals by Ken Piercy, Asbjorn Waldall and Brian Fisher.

Senators Crowned City Puck Kings

Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association city peewee championship went to Senators Saturday when they defeated Flyers 3-0, in a sudden-death final game.

Flyers had played a game earlier in the morning to decide who would go into the finals when they met Royals to decide the outcome of a 5-5 tie logged earlier in the week.

The teams played 50 minutes without scoring a goal, so league officials pulled both goalies and Paul Bion scored after seven more minutes of play.

Association wind-up will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall April 3 at 7:30. Crests and trophies will be awarded at that time.

Higgs' Steal Evens Up Cup Series

Ken Higgs made the move Saturday afternoon that started JBAA on their way to an 11-6 win over Oak Bay Wanderers and even the best-of-three Victoria Rugby Union Barnard Cup series at one apiece.

Higgs stole the ball from the hands of Keith Gold to score a 50-yard try and put the Bays ahead at 10 minutes in the first half. Gordon Hemingway attempted the kick but missed.

Hemingway added three more points to the James Bay cause when he booted a 35-yard penalty kick from a tough angle while Harry Millard finished off the "Blues" scoring when he sneaked around the blind side from a five-yard scrum. Hemingway made good the convert.

The second half was all Oak Bay's in the scoring when at the 15-minute mark, Raphael Duke finished off a three-quarter movement started by Gerry Main, Keith Gold and Bob Hutchison. Dick Ellis missed the kick.

Oak Bay's second marker came toward the end of the game when Gold completed a three-quarter run and again Ellis missed the conversion.

The James Bay win extended the series to three games with the final going next Saturday afternoon at McDonald Park at 3.00.

COLLEGE WINS

In handing a 14-6 drubbing to the Oak Bay Wanderers, Victoria College won the second division championship.

It took College four minutes to gain an eight-point lead over Bays when Jack Greenhouse scored a try converted by Stu Smith, College kicking star. Smith then booted a penalty kick for three more points before Vandersleys scored a try for Wanderers.

Smith's educated toe hit for another penalty kick and Derek Hyde-Lay went over for three points to make the half time score 11-6 for College.

TIMES ISLAND OPEN STARTS SUNDAY

Colwood Aces Put Buttons In Cold Storage for Summer

Buttons, buttons, who's got the buttons?

Guessing who has the city open golf buttons when the Annual Daily Times Vancouver Island Match Play Open rolls around is getting to be an easy chore.

It's Bill McColl and Vic Painter.

Last year the Colwood pair were in possession of the lapel decorations when the Island Open launched the seasonal series of major golf tournaments that shoved the button matches onto the back shelf and didn't make their next defence until late September.

Their timing is right in the groove again this year. With the eighth renewal of the match play classic due to start with the 18-hole qualifying round at Gorge Vale next Sunday, McColl and Painter are assured of holding the buttons through another summer.

They wrested the buttons from Einar Brynjolfson and Doug Munro two weeks ago and Sunday at Gorge Vale they retained possession by scoring a 2-and-1 victory over the Uplands challengers, Bob Morrison and Frank Scroggs.

All square at the turn, the defenders halved the next three holes, then went ahead on the 13th green when Painter fired the only par of the hole.

The 14th was halved in pars and McColl matched Morrison's birdie 4 on the 15th to hold the 1-up margin.

After the 16th was halved with pars, McColl dropped a birdie putt on the 17th to nail down the decision.

Playing out the 18th, Painter and McColl finished with a best ball of 69, compared to a best ball of 71 for the challengers.

In a junior match, also played over the Gorge Vale, Cliff Horwood and Jack Walker of Victoria Golf Club failed in their first defence as they dropped a 4-and-3 verdict to Ted Bradshaw and Norm Boden.

Playing over their home course, Boden and Bradshaw reached the turn with a 1-up lead and boosted it with a birdie at the 10th hole.

They stretched their lead to 3-up with another win on the 11th and closed out the match on the 15th when they took the hole with a par to get four up with only three holes left to play.

Morrison and McColl will each be shooting for a second Island crown when the Times tourney starts next Sunday. The Colwood ace grabbed the title in 1955 while Morrison went all the way in 1955.

A total of 91 entries had been received by this morning.

Arrows Rally To Capture Island Title

Arrow Furniture came from behind Saturday night at Brentwood Community Hall to take the second game of a two-game total-point series with Courtenay Senior "C" men and win the Island Championship by nine points, 98-89.

The game score was Arrows 64, Courtenay 49.

Arrows were six points in the hole following the first meeting between the two teams for the championship in Courtenay when the host team won 40-34.

High man for the winners, in the final game was Ralph Anderson who hooped 16 points, while strong support came from Ron Benn who sank 14 points, in the initial encounter.

Arrows, winners of the People's Credit Jewellers Trophy, will host Armstrong for the B.C. title at Brentwood April 5 and 6.

DEFEATS OLD GUARD

'100-1' Balding Wins Miami Open

MIAMI BEACH (UP) — The touring golf professionals headed today for the Wilmington Open and more than a few of the "old guard" figured they had better get in some serious practice if they are not to be outshone by "youngsters" in the coming Masters Tourney.

Al Balding of Toronto, a 100-1-shot, came home a stroke in front at 17 Sunday to win the $7,500 Miami Beach Open, proving once again that "old reliables" such as Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furgol and Julius Boros have not been winning many tournaments lately.

They all landed out of the money, Mangrum and Boros with 142s, Snead and Middlecoff with 143s and Furgol with a 146.

Balding earned his $1,200 first prize the hard way. He had the title practically sewed up on the front nine with magnificent iron shots that paid off with five short birdie putts. After 12 holes, he was six strokes under par and six in front, needing only to coast in with pars for certain victory.

Starting with the 14th, the 32-year-old Canadian lost his touch with his irons and banged his approach shots over the green on each of the five closing holes. It cost him four bogeys in a row.

But when the ball came flying past the flag on the final hole, a big gallery was waiting and pulling for the slender professional who gave up his club teaching job to devote full time to tournament play. The ball, heading for the bushes and another sure bogey, couldn't get through the packed crowd.

Balding had an easy chip back onto the green and then rolled down a four-foot putt for a birdie and victory after Harbert missed a 20-foot shot that would have meant a tie.

Old Sweats Finding Spring Loop Tough

By The Associated Press

While it's too early to count them out of the picture entirely, indications today were that veteran pitchers Jim Hearn of Philadelphia Phillies and Hal Jeffcoat of Cincinnati Redlegs are having trouble getting their arms in condition.

Hearn is 33 and has been kicking around the big leagues for a long time. Jeffcoat is 32. When pitchers reach their ages, managers want them to produce or they begin looking around for youngsters to fill the gap.

Hearn was clubbed for five runs by Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday before he was taken out in the sixth inning by Fort Myers, Fla. As it turned out, Bob Miller, his relief, didn't allow a hit the rest of the way and the Pirates won 5-3.

Jeffcoat's trouble against Chicago White Sox in Tampa, Fla., was even more pronounced. The Pale Hose slashed 11 hits off Jeffcoat en route to an 8-1 victory.

After losing five games in a row, Cleveland whipped New York Giants 4-3 in Los Angeles with ace Herb Score yielding just two hits in five innings.

The Yanks, meanwhile, suffered a jolt at Miami when their triple crown winner Mickey Mantle, stepped in a hole in the outfield while warming up before a game with the Brooklyn Dodgers and severely strained a ligament. Mantle will be out of uniform at least a week.

But his injury didn't silence the Yank bats. The Bombers crashed out 16 hits against four Brooklyn pitchers and coasted to a 14-4 victory.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee Braves blanked St. Louis Cardinals 1-0; Chicago Cubs capitalized on three errors to turn back Baltimore Orioles 8-2; Boston Red Sox turned back San Francisco 5-4 and Detroit Tigers humbled Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League 15-3 in Lakeland, Fla., and Kansas City blanked Washington, 4-0.

Gerry's Face Red Or What, No Pocket?

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Gerry Stevens found his face as red as the fire truck when the firemen arrived at the Stevens home here in answer to an alarm.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens were sitting down to lunch when they smelled smoke. While Mrs. Stevens phoned in an alarm, her husband went outside to close off the main electrical switch.

While outside, the smell of smoke became stronger. Suddenly Mr. Stevens found his jacket pocket smoldering. The pipe he had dropped into the pocket before sitting down to lunch was the culprit.

What Is a Gazelle?

The Arabs thought of the gazelle as a living poem. For them, no ordinary words could describe his grace and elegance. So they named him from the word ghazel, which is a form of old Persian lyric poetry. In the animal kingdom, he is classed as an antelope relative of the deers. Along with 60 or so cousins, he adds his charm to the plains of North and East Africa, Mongolia and parts of India.

In appearance, the gazelle is like a smallish, well-knit deer. Full grown, at shoulder level he is two to three feet tall—depending upon his species. The neat, silky coat is usually fawn colored to match the landscape, though some of the cousins wear rich brown, tan or sandy colors. There are often black or white markings to enhance the handsome face. The graceful horns are usually bent to form a lyre shape. Above all this charm, the gazelle has one outstanding feature — his eyes. Those big, bright, gentle, black eyes have inspired poets of the east since poetry began.

It is hard enough to describe the handsome fellow in repose. In motion, we can only agree with the Arabs who called him a living poem, a gazelle. His delicate hoofs fly over the ground and his supple muscles ripple like a dancer's. Over a long distance, no animal, horse or dog included, can compete with him. In 20 minutes he can cover 10 miles with ease and at full speed he has been clocked at 60 miles an hour.

The African lion is too slow to dine on gazelle meat. Apart from man, the speedy antelope has but one serious enemy, the cheetah. This sizeable cat can outrun the gazelle, but only for a short distance. As a sprint speeder, the cheetah is the fastest animal in the world. And he is a shrewd hunter. He waits his chance with the gazelle and creeps up close. When he gets to within a few yards of his prey he launches himself in a furious burst of speed. Even so, a gazelle in his prime can escape.

Perhaps because he depends so much on speed, the gazelle is always a creature of flat lands. He never ventures into the thick forests or roams up the mountains. He loves the open plains and even thrives in the dry deserts. For all his fragile appearance, he dines on scrub and the sparse grasses of the sandy wastes. He is often found far from streams and water holes.

As to character, the gazelle is as gentle as his appearance. He travels with his family in a small herd. The herd is friendly and sociable with other animals that share the grazing lands. Very often a group of our living poems is found enjoying life in the company of zebras and hartebeestes.

Snarling Alvis Pulls Toy Pistol To Scare Off 'Fighting' Marine

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis movie badman Presley agreed Sunday night that he startled a marine by whipping out a "pistol" and snarling like a prop gun. "For crying out loud, it was a toy," Presley said. "A Hollywood around there knew it wasn't real. He didn't think it was real, did he?"

The marine, Pte. Hershel Nixon, said he certainly did think it was real.

Presley, 22, said the marine walked up and said: "You bumped into my wife as she walked out of a restaurant about two months ago."

Nixon said he just wanted to strike up a conversation with Presley and mentioned his wife "so I would have something to talk to him about."

"He pulled the gun—it looked like a .25-calibre pistol—on me for no reason at all. He said, "I'll blow your brains out, you punk."

Presley said he and a friend had been "playing" with the prop guns.

Here is an interesting and exciting true story from the book "ALBERT R.N." about life in and a daring escape plot from the Prisoner of War Camp "Maralag 'O'" for Naval Officers in Germany during World War II. It takes its place with "The Colditz Story" and "Stalag 17", the emphasis being on British humor and adaptability under trying circumstances. Highly recommended.

Conclusion of the week-long Greater Victoria Schools' Drama Festival came Saturday night with a repeat honor performance for three of the 29 plays, and presentation of awards to outstanding actors and actresses.

A large audience at Victoria High School saw a fantasy, "Make Him Smile", presented by James Bay Elementary School; a comedy, "Make Room for Rodney", by Mount Douglas High School, and Act I of "The Cradle Song", by Oak Bay Senior High.

BALANCED PROGRAM

These had been Vancouver adjudicator Mrs. Dorothy Goldrick's selections, chosen among seven of the best to make a balanced program for the final night. Mrs. Goldrick commended the festival for its excellent standard and the knowledge, vitality and comprehension that went into the productions.

Senior scholarship for best actress went to Helen Simenson of Esquimalt High School. Donna Robertson, Victoria High, and Diane Beale, Oak Bay High, were runners-up.

(BB PLUS) "THE TRUE STORY OF JESSE JAMES" (Capitol): If there is anything to criticize in 20th Century-Fox's "The True Story of Jesse James," it is that the film somehow makes a sympathetic character of the American outlaw. So, in the end, there will be some who will be hoping the bad men will be able to fight their way out of and escape the forces of law and order.

Actually, however, the screen biography follows the history of Jesse and his brother Frank remarkably faithfully. Born in Clay county, Mo., Sept. 5, 1847, Jesse and his family were partisan to the southern forces in the early months of the Civil War and were made to suffer accordingly. As retaliation Jesse turned informer and, later, at 15, joined the forces of C. W. Quantrell. At the conclusion of the war he formed his own band of desperadoes who robbed banks and held up trains and was responsible for the deaths of several innocent humans.

* * *

RIGHT TRIUMPHED in the end, however. After Governor Crittenden of Missouri posted a $30,000 reward for Jesse, dead or alive, the outlaw was shot in the back by two members of his own gang, Robert and Charles Ford.

As the two brothers, Robert Wagner (Jesse) and Jeffrey Hunter (Frank) give sound performances, although sometimes the career of the outlaw is not too convincing from a psychological aspect. Agnes Moorehead is good as the boy's mother, Hope Lange as the girl Jesse marries, and Alan Hale as one of the Cole Younger brothers.

HISTORY APART, this is an entertaining and exciting western.

Pretty Tea-Pluckers

Tea pluckers at work on a typical tea plantation. The plucking is done by hand, mostly by women, who develop amazing skill and speed at selecting the important two leaves and a bud, breaking them off between thumb and finger, and transferring them by handfuls to their baskets.

Intriguing Legends, Facinating History

Attributes of Tea Appreciated In Far East Over 2,000 Years Ago

No beverage has a more fascinating and interesting history than tea. In the legend-shrouded times of oriental antiquity, tea was referred to as "a gift of the Gods"—but apparently was only available to a few philosophers and princes.

The origin of tea is recounted in several legends depending upon where they are told. These legends are intriguing in themselves, but the story of tea through the ages is no less interesting. Today, we are aware of the fact that tea is a good pick-up—gives a person a lift when most needed. There is nothing new in this idea, however, for over 2,000 years ago these same attributes of tea were appreciated and understood. Writings in those days indicated that its popularity was largely due to its effectiveness against "noxious gases of the body," and a cure for lethargy. Modern confirmation of this comes from the medical profession, who say that tea aids digestion, and from sports coaches who assert that it is a good fatigue recovery aid for athletes.

BROUGHT TO VENICE

Although tea has long been the favorite drink of people in the Far East, it was only about 400 years ago that it first came to what was then known as the "western" world. It is said that the first European to write of tea was a Venetian who, although not a traveler himself, discussed travel and experiences with many of the famous voyagers who came to Venice. This man, a Mr. Ramusio, wrote of a Persian merchant who said that if Europe knew about tea "merchants would cease altogether to buy rhubarb." Apparently in those days rhubarb was a popular health food. From this time on, tea and the therapeutic values claimed for it filtered steadily into Europe—originally through the Dutch merchants who trade with the Far East.

CHANGES IN STATUS

There have, however, been changes in the social status of tea. Originally it was the prerogative of the very rich. This no doubt was due to the premium prices which it fetched. Smuggling was not unknown, even in the most aristocratic quarters. Later however, when tea became more plentiful, it became the drink of the working people. A recent survey taken in England indicates however the aristocracy have taken to drinking tea to a far greater extent than before the war. This is possibly due to an onset of nerves and uncertainty because of the heavy taxation on land and property!

The first tea drunk in Europe came from China and it wasn't until 1823 that India came into the picture when an English explorer discovered tea plants growing wild in the jungles of northern India. Ten years later a British committee established a plan to start tea culture in that country. After a few years, the Assam Tea Company was founded and the tea industry of India was launched. In May, 1838, the first consignment of Indian tea, consisting of eight chests, came to Britain. It brought premium prices. By the beginning of the 20th century India was firmly established as a leading exporter of tea.

Tea World's Most Consumed Beverage for All Classes

If you were asked to name the world's most popular drink, what would your answer be? Would you say wine? . . . beer? . . . milk? Well, if you did you would be wrong because more people all over the world drink tea! For the sceptics, here is a list of yearly imports for various tea-drinking countries:

England, 451,000,000 pounds; U.S.A., 103,000,000 pounds; Australia, 59,000,000 pounds; Canada, 46,000,000 pounds; Egypt, 37,000,000 pounds; French Morocco, 27,000,000; Republic of Ireland, 24,000,000 pounds; Iraq, 22,000,000 pounds; Union of South Africa, 23,000,000 pounds.

What are the reasons for this enormous consumption of tea? Why do people of all walks of life prefer tea over all other beverages? The answers to these questions would probably be as diverse as people themselves.

Most people drink tea because they like it. As they sip a warming cup of tea they experience a very satisfying feeling of well-being. This arises out of the fact that tea has the unique quality of being an excellent pickup, yet relaxes at the same time. The stimulating qualities of tea are enjoyable but provide no undesirable after-effects.

If you asked your family doctor he would probably tell you that people instinctively turn to food and drink that is good for them. He might mention that the diet manual of the Mayo Clinic allows tea on practically all diets, and, as it contains no sodium, tea is particularly recommended in salt-free diets.

Lloyd Percival, famous athletic coach and director of sports college, claims that tea is the best beverage for athletes because it is the finest possible fatigue-recovery aid.

Lemon in Clear Tea Brings Out Flavor to Full Extent

Experts agree that in clear tea (without milk or cream) you get the full flavor and fragrance of the tea itself. For added flavor place a thin slice of lemon on top of a cup of clear tea. Tea and lemon go together to produce an irresistible flavor that has no equal. If you like more lemon, use a tangy fresh lemon wedge. Try it!

As an alternative try floating a slice of orange on top of your cup of clear tea. It has a flavor of its own that's hard to beat.

MACMILLAN-EISENHOWER COMMUNIQUE

'Peace With Justice' Key To Big 2 Bermuda Decisions

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—Text of the joint communique and annexes released by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan:

The president of the United States and the prime minister of the United Kingdom assisted by the U.S. secretary of state and the British foreign secretary and other advisers have exchanged views during the last three days on many subjects of mutual concern. They have conducted their discussions with the freedom and frankness permitted to old friends in a world of growing interdependence. They recognize their responsibility to seek to coordinate their foreign policies in the interests of peace with justice.

Among the subjects discussed in detail were common problems concerning the Middle East, Far East, NATO, European co-operation, the reunification of Germany and defence.

The president and the prime minister are well satisfied with the results of this conference, at which a number of decisions have been taken. They intend to continue the exchange of views so well begun.

The agreements and conclusions reached on the main subjects discussed at the conference are annexed.

Annex I

1. Recognition of the value of collective security pacts within the framework of the United Nations and the special importance of NATO for both countries as the cornerstone of their policy in the West.

2. Reaffirmation of common interest in the development of European unity within the Atlantic community.

3. Agreement on the importance of closer association of the United Kingdom with Europe.

4. Agreement on the benefits likely to accrue for European and world trade from the plans for the common market and the free trade area, provided they do not lead to a high tariff bloc, and on the desirability that all countries should pursue liberal trade policies.

5. Willingness of the United States under authority of the recent Middle East joint resolution to participate actively in the work of the military committee of the Baghdad pact.

6. Reaffirmation of intention to support the right of the German people to early reunification in peace and freedom.

7. Sympathy for the people of Hungary, condemnation of repressive Soviet policies towards the peoples of Eastern Europe, and of Soviet defiance of relevant United Nations resolutions.

8. Agreement on the need for the speedy implementation of recent resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly dealing with the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

9. Agreement on the importance of compliance both in letter and spirit with the Security Council resolution of Oct. 13 concerning the Suez Canal and on support for the efforts of the secretary - general to bring about a settlement in accordance with its provisions.

10. Joint declaration on policy regarding nuclear tests (see Annex II).

11. Agreement in principle that in the interest of mutual defence and mutual economy certain guided missiles will be made available by the United States for use by British forces.

Annex II

1. For a long time our two governments have been attempting to negotiate with the Soviet Union under the auspices of the United Nations disarmament commission an effective agreement for comprehensive disarmament. We are continuing to seek such an agreement in the current disarmament discussions in London. In the absence of such an agreement, the security of the free world must continue to depend to a marked degree upon the nuclear deterrent. To maintain this, effectively continued nuclear testing is required, certainly for the present.

2. Recognize however that there is sincere concern that continued nuclear testing may increase world radiation to levels which might be harmful. Studies by independent scientific organizations confirm our belief that this will not happen so long as testing is continued with due restraint. Moreover, the testing program has demonstrated the feasibility of greatly reducing worldwide fallout from large nuclear explosions.

3. Over the past months our governments have considered various proposed methods of limiting tests. We have now concluded together that, in the absence of more general nuclear control agreements of the kind which we have been and are seeking, a test limitation agreement could not today be effectively enforced for technical reasons, nor could breaches of it be surely detected. We believe, nevertheless, that even before a general agreement is reached self-imposed restraint can and should be exercised by nations which conduct tests.

4. Therefore, on behalf of our two governments we declare our intention to continue to conduct nuclear tests only in such manner as will keep world radiation from rising to more than a small fraction of the levels that might be hazardous. We look to the Soviet Union to exercise a similar restraint.

5. We shall continue our general practice of publicly announcing our tests series well in advance of their occurrence, with information as to their location and general timing. We would be willing to register with the United Nations advance notice of our intention to conduct future nuclear tests and to permit limited international observation of such tests if the Soviet Union would do the same.

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Post announced today that its price will go up from five to 10 cents Tuesday. The city's two other afternoon newspapers announced similar price increases last week. "The sinister spiral of wage and price increases we have so often deplored editorially has caught up with us," the Post's publisher says in a letter to readers.

Interference in CBC Programs Charged Against St. Laurent

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — A Canadian Broadcasting Corporation commentator and Montreal Gazette columnist Arthur Blakely, charged in a column in the Montreal newspaper today that Prime Minister S. Laurent has attempted to interfere with CBC operations.

He said: "In recent months Prime Minister St. Laurent has made a determined bid to interfere in CBC Public Affairs programming—interference designed to improve the picture which the CBC presents of the Liberal party and its activities at the expense of other political parties represented in Parliament."

The commentator continued, "Other members of the federal cabinet among them Immigration Minister J. W. Pickersgill and Health Minister Paul Martin—have also tried their hands at direct intervention."

Acting prime minister Hon. Paul Martin said today he did not know what the columnist was talking about. Prime Minister St. Laurent is in Bermuda.

Mr. Blakely declined to elaborate on his allegations when questioned. "I have nothing more to say at this time," he said.

A. Davidson Dunton, chairman of the board of governors of the CBC had no comment.

'---Would Have Been No Emily Carr Without Me', Says U.S. Artist

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Why did Emily Carr never acknowledge, by so much as a single word in one of the several autobiographical books she wrote, the debt a distinguished American artist claims she owed him?

Bearded, philosophical Mark Tobey, an important figure in the international world of art, turned a flashing blue gaze in my direction when I asked him if it was a fact that he had at one time taught Emily Carr.

"There would have been no Emily Carr," he said abruptly, "if it hadn't been for me."

Tobey, who soared into the realm of master painters in the decade between 1935 and 1945, with his discovery of what has been described — though not by him—as "white writing," was paying one of his periodic visits to Victoria this weekend.

The visits have extended intermittently over a period of 35 years.

BOARDED

It was back in the early twenties when first coming to this city to paint and meditate, that Tobey stayed at Miss Carr's boarding house.

There he quickly became interested in the talents of "a greatly gifted woman" who was frittering her time away with pottery ash trays and still lifes.

She became his pupil and he taught her the principles and concept of form, which she came to understand and accept "after a great struggle."

In his own words: "It simply is not possible that a woman living her circumscribed life, could have developed as she did, to conceive the great swirling canvases, the wonderful tree forms, unless there had been someone to indicate the way for her: I was that someone."

While there is apparent in Tobey, the pronounced ego that is inevitable in all great artists, however deceptively simple they may appear to be, in his case it is an ego that has sunned itself in the mellowing influence of a humane and broad intelligence for more than 60 years.

TURNED AGAINST

He speaks of Emily Carr and the fact that "for some unaccountable reason she turned against me" without rancor, and with a firm forthrightness that lays as much emphasis on her stifled genius as it does on himself as the liberator of that genius.

We sat at lunch in an Empress Hotel window and he turned a morose eye in the direction of the brash new timbering hiding the scars of the dismembered post office.

"Why can't Victoria be content to be itself?" he demanded.

In his opinion such old buildings are part and parcel of a city's character and its life story.

"So much modern architecture is entirely functional . . . impersonal. There is a cold, matter-of-fact uniformity about it."

He loves Victoria; but he likes it for its own serene, unhurried, rather old-world flavor and hopes it will never feel obliged to ape American cities.

Born in Wisconsin, Mark Tobey has travelled extensively, studying in France, working as resident artist at famed Dartington Hall, a progressive school in South Devon, and visiting and studying in the Near and Far East.

His absorption in Chinese caligraphy and Japanese brushwork led to the discovery of "white writing," an intricate overall patterning of rhythmically interwoven lines, which has been called "one of the few original contributions to American painting" and a "Bach-like building up into a massive composition . . ."

Two years ago, Tobey's paintings were shown at the Galerie Jeanne Bucher in Paris and French critics hailed him as a great American master. "All eyes are now fixed on Tobey," said one, while another declared that he was the American painter who, in recent times, had roused more interest in France than any other.

While he doesn't admit to having any fixed address, Tobey does spend most of his time while on this continent, in Seattle—when he isn't in New York.

In June he is bringing the gallery a one-man show, representative of the best of his works; mostly because of his affection for the city and admiration for the gallery.

. . . wish I'd remembered my favorite one-way street story the other day when I was talking about one-way streets . . . the story about the inebriated gentleman who was driving the wrong way when he was stopped by the police with the usual polite question "where do you think you're going?" . . . "I don't know," replied the fuddled driver, "but wherever it is, I'm too late. Everybody is coming back." . . .

How Do You Vote on Centennial Project?

A total of 31 suggestions have been made from various individuals and groups as to the type of project Greater Victoria should have to mark the province's 100th birthday next year.

Shortly the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee will begin sorting them out for a decision as to which one goes ahead.

Times' readers, through their correspondence, have expressed the hope that a fitting and lasting memorial will be chosen.

To help them express a majority view the Times today submits a ballot listing all the projects suggested so far. It is quite apparent that some of these will be ruled out because of the cost involved or other practical reasons. But at least an expression of viewpoint will help the centennial committee in arriving at a decision.

We would appreciate it if subscribers would mark a cross against the project you think best and mail it to "Victoria's Centennial Project Ballot, c/o The Victoria Daily Times, 2631 Douglas, or leave the ballot at the Douglas or Broad Street offices.

Skeena to Join Southern Cruise

Second New D-E Coming

Canada's newest destroyer escort, the Skeena, has her summer's work laid out for her even before commissioning which takes place at Burrard Drydock Co. Ltd. Saturday, it was learned today.

On June 12, she will sail in company with three other Pacific Command ships on a two-month training cruise with cadets from the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

As usual for these cruises, senior ship will be HMCS Ontario, cruiser especially converted for training purposes.

Escort vessels, in addition to the Skeena, will be HMC Ships Cayuga and Athabaskan.

TO HAWAII

General area to be covered by the cruise was announced officially today, but specific ports are withheld until clearances are obtained. The four ships will work in the Hawaiian island area, and will call at ports on the Pacific Coast of the United States.

Prior to her first training voyage, the Skeena will have shakedown cruises and work-ups in local waters, with a possible work-up farther south.

About 40 of her crew are now at North Vancouver, and the balance of the peacetime complement of 12 officers and 198 men will arrive there from the pool at HMCS Naden Friday.

The Skeena will leave for Esquimalt within a few days of commissioning.

TO ATLANTIC

Not yet officialy confirmed is transfer of HMCS Sioux, veteran of training cruises and combat action, from Pacific to Atlantic command. Sioux is expected to leave soon for Halifax after completing post-refit trials. She is now in final stages of refit.

It is expected the Second Canadian Escort Squadron based at Esquimalt will be strengthened by the addition of another of Canada's brand new destroyer escorts, the Margaree, which was built in Eastern Canada.

Departure of the minesweeper HMCS Comox for the East Coast has been confirmed by naval headquarters at Ottawa. She will leave Esquimalt April 3, arrive at Halifax May 4.

Still unconfirmed is rumored transfer of the Comox to NATO forces under mutual aid.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Deer on Highway Blamed by Driver For Collision

A deer which jumped in front of his car was blamed by Allen Repesse of Nanaimo, defendant in a Supreme Court civil action here, for a highway accident near the Chemainus River bridge on Nov. 6, 1955.

The civil suit is being heard before Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes.

Plaintiff is William Keserick, who is suing Repesse for $2,000 for damage to his car, and injuries suffered when his car was in collision with the defendant's vehicle.

Repesse claimed, however, that he could do nothing to avoid the accident as a deer jumped in front of his car, causing him to lose control. A dead deer later was found near the scene of the accident.

'MAN OF GREAT HOSPITALITY'

Gwiutalas, pronounced Gwee-yu-tha-lasx, is the newest member of the Kwakiutl Indian Tribe. He's better known as Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, pictured Saturday being made an honorary member by carvers Henry Hunt and David Martin (partially hidden). Title was bestowed by Chief Mungo Martin. Induction took place after lieutenant-governor made first cut in the 100-foot cedar log which will be carved as a totem gift for Queen Elizabeth. Gwiutalas means "man of great hospitality." (B.C. Government Photo.)

ASK The TIMES

Q.—When was standard time established and how many zones are there in Canada?—W.L.S.

A. — Standard time was adopted at a world conference in Washington, D.C., in 1884. It sets the number of time zones in the world at 24, each zone extending over one-twenty-fourth of the world's surface and including all the territory between two meridians 15 degrees apart longitude. Standard time is Greenwich time, all other time zones being a definite number of hours either in advance of or behind Greenwich time. Canada has seven time zones, the most easterly being Newfoundland standard time, three hours and 30 minutes behind Greenwich mean time. Pacific standard time, used throughout British Columbia and part of the Northwest Territories, is eight hours behind Greenwich. There are also villages that adopt such time as seems best to suit their convenience, but in general the legal boundaries of the different zones are actually in use.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Glamor Can Come to All . . . Even to the Safety Pin

By PENNY SAVER

The safety pin has been given new elegance and prestige, and can now be brought out into the open. No more pinning things from the inside, making sure the safety pin (often a life saver) doesn't show. Large gold plated safety pins are now most fashionable for lapels, scarves and as bars for collars. Yes, ladies, the safety pin, glamorized and glittering, has come into its own. At the crooked end of the pin you'll see disks, some round, some square, that are decorated with dimensional designs or with dainty engraving. Your scarves will be kept neatly in place, and your simple jackets or sweaters will be brightened by these attractive pins. The price $1.95.

Still catering to milady with long hair, manufacturers have come up with a chignon ring, similar to ones I have previously mentioned, but at the base of this one is a star. Of expansion gold dotted with rhinestones at the joins, the band fits around your chignon and holds it neatly. The back part of the band that fits next to your head expands into a glittering star. A little different than most, these chignon rings are selling at $3.95. This would be a good gift idea for birthdays.

Oh . . . sour cream! No, I'm not saying that in dismay, it's delight. Time after time I've "soured" cream in the kitchen so that I could mix a favorite recipe, but no more of that for me. Now I buy sour cream, rich and tangy, for 27 cents a half pint. A local dairy has taken pity on cooks such as me, and is saving us a lot of trouble. The size of the containers is so handy . . . just right. It used to be that you could only buy sour cream in pint or quart sizes, and inevitably one would have no use for the leftover portion. Salads, baked goods and many dinnertime treats taste all the better for the addition of sour cream.

Rather than search through city stores for items mentioned in the column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I shopped.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hints for Minimizing Those Aging Lines

We women know we cannot expect to go through life without getting some battle scars, and also some happiness scars, unless we put our emotions in cold storage and our epidermis in a cold cream jar. But, when we first notice a few lines and a grey hair or so it is surprising. If we are happy and enjoy living we go gaily along, subconsciously believing that it will never happen to us. We expect some magic potion to save us before we begin to show signs of aging.

Actually, we do have many potions which are a great aid. Regular skin lubrication, plus all the benefits of exercise, happy emotions and good nutrition, which are reflected in our appearance, can create near magic.

Anyway, don't allow those lines to throw you—except into action. No doubt some of the lines you have are laughter lines. Some may have come from wonderful hours spent outdoors. You may have acquired some while in the heart-warming sunshine or when sitting by the sea. The sun and wind are not kind to our complexions but they are great for our health and our laughter.

I think that lines, and even an occasional cold, are worthwhile if you have fun while getting them. The lines to dread are those which come from boredom, from worry, from a dour disposition, from such down-pulling emotions as envy and bitterness.

However, every woman wishes to remain as youthful looking as possible without sabotaging vibrant living. Here are a few hints about minimizing the lines you may be subject to:

1. Wear colored glasses when in the bright sunshine. You will otherwise accumulate squint lines. Many women have lines because they will not wear eye glasses when they need them. Eye strain makes them squint.

2. Avoid extreme facial mannerisms, such as lifting the eyebrows and screwing the face up. These are not attractive anyway.

3. Most important—keep your skin pliable through daily lubrication.

4. Pat your cream on gently. Do not massage vigorously.

If you would like to have my facial exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No 9 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Please explain where to draw the line in sending wedding invitations. Does one include the names on a Christmas card list? My husband and I are employed in the same building but not in the same office. Do we send invitations to everyone in both offices or just one each to our respective bosses and his group? We have no social contacts with our fellow employees to speak of.

Louise

Do we send an invitation to our doctor and his wife? How about our neighbors?

Louise Davis answers:

If co-workers and executives are personal friends in your own social circle you would want to send them invitations. Think twice before inviting others. You might be embarrassing yourself as well as them concerning gift obligations, especially if you invite them to the reception, too. Business and social worlds usually are separate units.

Invite your doctor and his wife only if they are personal friends. You probably would want to ask your neighbors, especially if you see them often.

Governor Is Proud of Wife

By ELIZABETH FORBES

The words that won most approval from members of the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Historical Society, at a reception in Government House last Saturday afternoon, had nothing to do with official speeches, expressions of thanks, nor a talk on the life of Anthony Musgrave, one-time governor of British Columbia.

Elizabeth

They were an impromptu. Given by His Honor the Lieutenant - Governor, when he was asked, without any previous intimation, to introduce his wife to the gathering.

Although taken by surprise, His Honor was not at a loss. It was to speak to the members, asked to present his wife, who was to speak to the gathering. Then, with quiet feeling he added, "Any success I may have had, any popularity I may have attained, I owe entirely to my wife."

It was not lip service. Everyone in the room knew, by the tone of voice, that His Honor was proud of his wife and that he sincerely meant what he said.

A HAPPY PARTY

This was a gay and happy party. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross met members of the historical society in the drawing room, where gorgeous arrangements of daffodils, tulips and calla lilies added to the beauty of the surroundings.

Official part of the gathering was held in the great ballroom where Mr. James Nesbitt, president of the group, gave the talk on Anthony Musgrave. Later he introduced Mrs. C. E. C. Morgan-Kelly and Mr. Herbert A. M. Dodgson, a niece and nephew of Mr. Musgrave.

Little Miss Diana Holmes, a great-great-granddaughter of Joseph Despard Pemberton, first colonial surveyor-general of Vancouver Island, was introduced. She presented His Honor with a boutonniere and Mrs. Ross with a white orchid corsage. Hon. Robert Bonner, representing Premier Bennett, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Ross spoke of the great need to know and to preserve the history of British Columbia and assured the gathering of her interest in this work.

Dr. E. W. Elkington gave the thanks of the group to His Honor and Mrs. Ross.

Afternoon tea was served from a table arranged at the conservatory end of the ballroom. It was covered with a delicate lace cloth and centred with white and pink carnations and white candles in silver candelabra. Presiding at the silver urns were Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, Mrs. Robert Bonner, Mrs. Buda Brown, MLA, and Mrs. Lois Haggen, MLA.

Co-Hostess Shower

A miscellaneous shower for Miss Eileen Leachman, whose marriage to Mr. Douglas Macauley takes place shortly, was given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Roy Leachman and Mrs. Reg Mail at the latter's home on Westall Avenue. A corsage of roses was presented to the guest of honor on arrival. Those present were Mrs. Colin Kilburn, Mrs. Bill Davidson, Mrs. Nelson Bulloch, Mrs. Don Chiupka, Mrs. Doug Anderson, Mrs. E. Austin, Mrs. E. Holt, Mrs. H. Jones, Mrs. J. Barr, Mrs. L. Barker, Mrs. M. Broadridge, Mrs. R. Fairbairn, Mrs. J. Mickie, Miss Myrna Collison and Miss Sharon Austin.

WOMEN HELD BY SMALL DAILY CHORES

MONTREAL (CP)—Women, says British writer Vera Britain, are members of the interrupted sex and that's why there's never been a female Shakespeare or a female Leonardo da Vinci.

"That kind of greatness demands a maximum of concentration," she told the Women's Canadian Club Thursday night.

And how she asks can women be that great when they're always being interrupted — interrupted by the door bell, by the pipes bursting, by children and generally by other home responsibilities.

Lovely Gown of Blue Satin Worn By Bride Carol Larsen Saturday

As traditional wedding music was played by organist, Ted Semmler, Miss Carol Arlene Joan Larsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alf R. Larsen, Helmcken Road, was escorted by her father into Kingdom Hall, where she became the bride of James Edward Siddall, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Siddall of North Battleford, Sask.

David C. Porter officiated at the ceremony in which the young couple exchanged vows and rings. Baskets of pink tulips and white narcissi formed an attractive floral background for the service

Maid of honor, Miss Maureen Mansergh, and bridesmaid, Miss Claudia Houle, cousin of the bride, were gowned in identically style dresses of peach taffeta and pink-violet taffeta, respectively. Their headdresses were shirred bandeaux of net to match their gowns. Completing their ensembles, they wore pearl necklaces and carried arm bouquets of peach and pink-violet carnations.

The groom had Ross Hargreaves as best man, and usher was Curtis Larsen, brother of the bride.

A reception party was held in Newstead Hall, where a buffet supper was served under the direction of Mrs. J. Bednarz and Miss Esther Marshall. The newlyweds cut a wedding cake made and decorated by the bride's mother. Assisting in receiving guests were Mrs. Larsen in a gown of cream and gold brocaded lame with matching hat of satin and a fur stole. Her corsage was of pink and gold rosebuds.

For a honeymoon trip up-Island, the bride donned a midnight blue suit with matching tweed coat, pink straw hat and pink and beige accessories. Her corsage was of tawny gold roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Siddall will make their home on Gull Road in View Royal.

Miss Gorry Feted

'ONE MINUTE TO DITCH' DOCUMENTARY ON C-4 AT 9.30

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

IN RETROSPECT—It is hoped that a goodly proportion of local viewers were fortunate enough to pick up the CBC's original musical comedy last Wednesday evening when Shirley Harmer and Shane Rimmer cavorted about in "Ring Around the Square."

Even though the plot—about an Elvis Presley-type character who wanted to sing "straight"—was a trifle on the shop-worn side, the music and lyrics by Saul Ison were most laudable and gave one heart that there was more of the same to be forthcoming shortly. The dances were well staged and performed with such abandon and vitality that, at times, the CBC production was something that a Canadian could be darn-well proud of.

Though the comedy was notably weak, principally because it was affected and stemmed from rote rather than from the soul, "Ring Around the Square" had an over-all tone and moved the heart several times, especially in one or two song sequences employing Miss Harmer and Mr. Rimmer.

IN THURSDAY night's Playhouse 90 offering, "The Hostess with the Mostes'," Shirley Booth proved once and for all that an actress isn't a star because of the expanse of her bosom or the beauty of her limbs.

As fabled Washington hostess Perle Mestax (former President Harry Truman's ambassador to Luxemburg and subject of the Broadway and motion picture hits, "Call Me Madam"), Miss Booth gave a stellar performance to provide a feeble play with warmth and meaning.

Indeed, when it was over, all you could remember was the sheer brilliance of the actress that blinded you to the fact that she is not beautiful, but a plumpish woman inclined to be a bit on the dumpy side. And that, as everyone will agree, is acting.

★ ★ ★

FRANKLY, this column isn't much of a Dinah Shore fan. She is definitely something we can do without. Perhaps it's her little girl approach to her audience or her puerile mugging that hurt us, as Bilko might say, right here. Friday night, however, we did a double take. Her effort with Shirley MacLaine and Dan Dailey was as about an entertaining an hour as we would care to tune in on. And as for that MacLaine woman! Bet you she could dance around the world in 80 days. There's vigor for you. And it's always a pleasure to have Dailey about.

CARS' STARS' ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

"The Stars impel . . . They do not compel! What you make of your life is largely up to you."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—You are so busy getting what you want that you need to take into account the goals which are similar to yours with your friends. Uniting with them, standing less alone produces all kinds of favorable results. Really go now.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Quietly getting together with intimates and confidantes really gains you behind-the-scenes support you require in order to please your family and to make yourself better understood with those that could. Accept this sudden chance. Act.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—You have so many ideas you don't know which to put into motion first. But all you have to do is make up your mind early. Then you can get off with chosen comrades to new sites or viewpoints and swiftly advance. Today is the mostest!

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Please that official, executive who looks to you for interesting ideas how to increase his and your good things of life. Working away vigorously, putting in streamlined, up-to-date methods where your own job is concerned, pays off big.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—You have so many fine inspirations you hardly know where to start first, and where to continue. So, early organize your time to take full advantage of this splendid day, night. Be sure to let those you adore know of your devotion. Be happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Financial interests come to a head with others, and it's all in your favor if you accept this as an opportunity to get your foundation on a more secure basis by a new arrangement. Do whatever is necessary to really make things hum at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—Have you gotten together recently with those broad-visioned and important friends who are yours, and who urge you to make more of yourself, your life, your hopes and wishes? If not, this is the day to do so. Fine for coming to a better understanding with partners, especially the one you love the most, mate, fiance, etc.?

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Be as worldly and civic-minded in your attitude as possible. Then you are able to be of great assistance to your family, as well as outside contacts. Be more friendly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Take early, in all spare moments, the treatments that enhance your charm the most. Then you will find you have it in your power to get others to see the projects dear to you that you want to put across. P.M. have fun. Be happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—You have a chance to get that confidential information, private data of a material nature from experts, financiers, specialists that give you the chance for which you've been waiting to increase your assets. Put into effect quickly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—This is really your day. You have every chance to get in touch with all associates, companions, comrades, attachments, colleagues and to work along in harmony with them for whatever your goals are. Really get on the beam and produce results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—You are carried along on the swift and beneficial aspect of today's influences if you will go along with those about you. Stop holding back. Follow sensible suggestions made. Then you find this is one of your best days. Plan future.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY . . .

Tuesday's child is one of those very unique and unusual youngsters who is all wrapped up constantly in impetuously putting into effect all kinds of progressive and original courses of action. Be sure you encourage this tot's ingenious and talented behavior, while at the same time channeling in constructive channels. Then your "genius" offspring will be able to make a big success all through life. But intense activity is always a must for this child, who otherwise becomes a nervous wreck if held down too tightly.

50% CANADIANS BACK LIBERALS SAYS SINCLAIR

PENTICTON (CP)—Fisheries Minister Sinclair says recent public-opinion polls show the Liberal government has the same amount of support —about 50 per cent—across Canada as it did when it swept the 1953 general election.

He spoke at a Liberal nominating convention here Saturday night at which Dr. M. J. Butler, 38-year-old Kelowna dentist and sportsman, was chosen to represent Okanagan-Boundary riding in the forthcoming federal election.

Mr. Sinclair said a public sampling showed the Conservatives were supported by 30 per cent of the people, CCF by 12 per cent, and "other" parties by 8 per cent.

'STRAINS RELIEVED' IN SAN ANDREAS FAULT

San Francisco Quake Threat Now Eased for Some Years

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The San Andreas fault, which shook the San Francisco area with a jolting series of earthquakes causing widespread but minor damage Friday and Saturday appeared settling into a safe stability that could continue for several years.

Only one light aftershock was recorded Sunday. The light tremor at 7.34 a.m. was the 72nd aftershock following the major quake at 11.45 a.m. Friday.

"The earthquake Friday relieved the strains which have been building up in the San Andreas fault for a long time," said Rev. John S. Weber, University of Santa Clara seismologist.

Father Weber said Friday's shock, with a Richter magnitude reading of 5.5, was like the popping of a safety valve in the giant fault structure.

The Richter scale reading of the 1906 San Francisco quake was 8.25. The Richter scale computes the energy release of quakes.

The deadly, tormented San Andreas earthquake fault probably is the greatest and most active in the world.

It stretches for 2,000 miles, from off the Oregon coast, lengthwise down California and into Mexico. It is a path of potential catastrophe.

Many miles below the surface, pressures build up which can hardly be expressed in figures. These pressures are exerted against this mighty flaw in the earth's crust.

The U.S. coast and geodetic survey calculates that the seaward side moves northward two inches each year, relative to the continental side, along this massive crack. When the two underground surfaces rub together, or slip against each other like files, shock waves flash out in every direction.

When there is a major slip the earth reacts violently, heaving in convulsions.

It was a major movement along the San Andreas fault that laid San Francisco to waste in 1906. Since then, Long Beach and the Tehachapi mountain areas of California have been hard hit by quakes generated in the same great earth flaw.

are being used than ever before

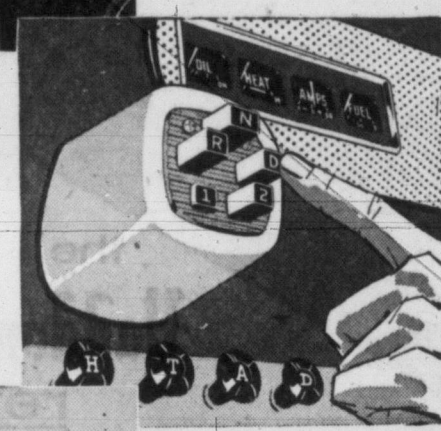
1. The Chrysler engineering know-how that is built into every Fargo truck makes them outstandingly dependable.

The soundness of Fargo design—and the ruggedness of Fargo construction—result in trucks that help make your business more profitable.

Remember, Chrysler Corporation has long been recognized for its engineering leadership . . . for building Fargo trucks to fit the job. So be sure to investigate Fargo before you buy your next truck!

2. Fargos deliver better gas mileage. Fargo trucks have the industry's most advanced V-8 engines. Exclusive Power-Dome design means engines burn fuel far more efficiently. And economical Fargo V-8's—Sixes, too—give you full power on regular gas!

3. Extra power cuts repair costs. In its wide range of models, Fargo leads all competitive trucks in V-8 power (up to 232 h.p.). This means less engine strain, less wear, less need for repairs. Exclusive full-opening alligator hood makes engine servicing easier, faster, thriftier.



4. Driving is easier. Fargo's smoother steering and shorter turning radius save driving effort. In all D100 (½-ton) models you can have the added benefit of push-button automatic drive. Fargo cabs are the roomiest, most comfortable.

5. You get a truck that's built for your kind of hauling. For example, Fargo expresses offer you a choice of three box sizes, three wheelbases, to suit your payload requirements. You'll find a Fargo for every trucking need—from 4,250 lbs. G.V.W. up to 46,000 lbs. G.V.W., 65,000 lbs. G.C.W.

Convict 'Houdini' Hangs Self in Cell

MONTREAL (CP) — Escape artist Fernand Dube, a habitual criminal serving a life sentence at 29, made good on his boast that St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary "won't hold me for a year." The body of the man who "couldn't do time" was carried out of the penitentiary after Dube succeeded in his third attempt to take his own life. He was found hanged Saturday night in his cell.

Dube, a petty thief since the age of 12, broke from Quebec jails six times in 1950-51. While held at Sorel, he broke nightly from the jail, pulled robberies and then returned to his cell. The warden subsequently was fined and several guards fired. One night Dube didn't return to his cell.

PUT IN PENITENTIARY

He was picked up in Barrie, Ont., a few months later, and sent to St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

There, the man that Warden Paul Lebel called "a real Houdini," made two abortive escape attempts before success. Working in the prison workshop, he fashioned a dummy for his bed from shoe trees and vanished.

He won a few hectic days of freedom and from then till last June made repeated escape attempts. Last summer, he and two companions succeeded again.

Dube had replaced door bolts with rubber substitutes and literally strolled out for a week's wild rampage of bank holdups netting $22,000.

Royal Theatre was jammed with 1,400 persons Sunday for start of huge international Rotary conference here. The program, including an inspirational address and entertainment lasted more than two hours. Speaker, Dr. A. M. Trendell, rector of Vancouver church, held audience attentive in discourse on "character, courage and wisdom" as basis of Rotary ideals. Music by Rotary Boys' Choir and songs by Jock Dunbar rounded out the interesting program. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

B.C. REACTION

Bennett Miffed Because Press First to Hear

Provincial government leaders today dodged direct comment on the Ottawa government's Columbia Power proposal, but criticized the way in which the announcement was made by Fisheries Minister Sinclair. (See adjoining column.)

Said Premier Bennett: "I will discuss it with the prime minister. I will not discuss Mr. Sinclair's election campaign."

Lands Minister Ray Williston said B.C. was interested in any scheme for developing the province's hydro resources, but added it was strange there had been no mention of the present proposals on negotiations now under way between the two governments.

WILLISTON HAPPY

"We are happy to see the federal authority realizing that major investment should be undertaken in this part of the country," Mr. Williston said.

He added that he wanted to see "what is in the fine print" before commenting further.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner commented that "inter-government communication by press release is making a farce of the public business of this country."

The announcement was hailed by CCF leader Robert Strachan.

"Now that all financial obstacles have been removed from the path of public power development in this province, I am hopeful that before this session finishes, the Premier will indicate his willingness to proceed immediately with the initial planning stages," Mr. Strachan said.

$300 Millions Available—If Public Hydro

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisheries Minister Sinclair said today the federal government is prepared to spend almost $300,000,000 to assist British Columbia with public development of its Columbia River power resources.

He said negotiations with the B.C. government could begin as soon as Canada and the United States agree on the division of downstream benefits from international rivers.

The U.S. and Canada entered into direct negotiations at Ottawa March 19 to expedite a settlement of this question.

The direct negotiations were undertaken when the International Joint Commission failed to come to an agreement.

"An early agreement will speed up industrial development in both British Columbia and the northwest states," he told a press conference, "and will save the Fraser River fisheries from the threat of power development."

Predicts Quick Action by U.S.

He said he is hopeful the announcement of federal government willingness to support the B.C. government in developing Columbia power "will act as a spur to negotiations."

"The American attitude used to be we couldn't do things ourselves," he said.

But this had changed slightly since negotiations for the St. Lawrence seaway when Canada had to indicate "we were big enough to do it ourselves" before the U.S. could be prodded into action.

The U.S. might act faster in present negotiations at Ottawa if it saw Canada was willing and able to go ahead with power development.

B.C. Could Buy Out Federal Interest

"If, after international agreement has been reached, the provincial government should decide on public development of this great power potential, and should need assistance in financing, the federal government will be prepared to assist . . ."

He said the amount of the federal contribution is a matter for negotiations but "could be almost as big an investment as the Canadian share of the navigation section of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

He estimated this at $300,000,000.

The assistance wouuld be by either joint or federal, crown companies doing specific sections of the development. The B.C. government could later buy out the federal government's interests.

Mr. Sinclair compared the offer to B.C. with the assistance given Ontario in building the interprovincial gas pipe line across northern Ontario, and the offer to help Nova Scotia and New Brunswick build an interprovincial power grid linking N.S. thermal power plants with N.B. hydro plants.

Final Decision Up to B.C.

"Once agreement is reached on the division of power between the two countries, it will be the responsibility of the B.C. government to decide whether privately-owned or publicly-owned agencies are to develop this power on the Canadian side, and to distribute the power received from the U.S. in return for downstream benefits derived from Canadian water storage."

He said the project would be "tremendous and it would do tremendous things to the province and the fishing industry as well.

Sinclair said he thought Premier Bennett would welcome the announcement of the federal offer.

Heretofore there has been considerable friction between the federal and B.C. governments on how power from the Columbia, third largest river system in North America, should be handled.

In 1955, Parliament passed the International Rivers Act giving the federal government jurisdiction over works constructed on rivers crossing the International Boundary, and over the flow of water from these rivers across the boundary.

The action was taken to prevent B.C. from allowing the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. from building a dam on the Arrow Lakes, 50 miles north of the border. Federal authorities called it a give-away of power.

Various projects, all running into many multi-million dollars, have been proposed here from time to time, both public and private. To date, however, nothing more than surveys has been undertaken.

Rotary Demonstrating Goodwill To World, Big Conference Told

By TONY DICKASON

Rotary is demonstrating to the world that an international organization can work successfully, Estes Snedecor, Portland, Ore., a past president of Rotary International, said here today.

He was addressing a packed Royal Theatre audience of Rotarians, 1,400 strong, who have converged on Victoria in the largest Rotary conference ever held here.

The visitors, packing available accommodation in downtown Victoria, were welcomed on behalf of the city by Mayor Percy Scurrah, a Rotarian himself.

Delegates from throughout B.C., Alaska and Washington heard Mr. Snedecor's thoughtful remarks, in which he pointed out that "national boundaries and differences in language, race or religion do not prevent men of good will from working together for the promotion of common ideals of justice and fair dealing throughout the world."

438,000 MEMBERS

Rotary now embraces 438,000 persons in 99 countries. Growth is noted by comparison with the 1923 figures when there were only 90,000 club members in 27 countries.

By far the greatest achievement of Rotary, said the speaker, was raising of more than $4,500,000 for Rotary fellowships enabling graduate study by scholars in countries other than their own.

This year 122 outstanding students from 30 countries were awarded these fellowships, and to date, 841 students have been given the chance to complete studies in another country.

"Thus they are not only brought into contact with the best minds in their chosen fields, but, far more important, they are given the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the life, habits and true worth of the people of the country so visited," he said.

LEADERS

When these students return home, they become leaders of thought in their native lands and "ambassadors of goodwill" from countries in which their education was completed.

Mr. Snedecor has been a Rotarian since 1913, and submitted the first complete revision of the constitution of Rotary International, adopted in 1917.

He said that while business interest was originally one of Rotary's aims, this has long since been discarded.

"Business will flow naturally" to those who demonstrate their ability to perform the best kind of service, he stated.

He termed business as "dignifying" the opportunity to serve society.

"WE THANK THEE"

Giving the invocation to a hushed theatre, Mr. Buckingham prayed "we thank Thee for the beauty of this lovely morning . . . and for Rotary International, that we may make this movement count in fulfillment of the ideals for which we stand. . ."

Rotarians believe, and try to live "Service Above Self."

Backdrop to the stage was a huge illuminated Rotary wheel, the symbol of the service Rotary performs in 248 districts in 99 countries.

Chairman Jack Housez, Victoria, read greetings. They came from many distinguished people, and ranged from Alaska to Ottawa to Texas.

MESSAGE FROM IKE

U.S., British Chiefs Settle Many Points

(Text of Communique, P. 13)

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower Sunday issued a 780-word communique that disclosed the United States will supply "certain guided missiles" to Britain to help the British achieve an atomic-age military force.

Issued just prior to Eisenhower's return flight to Washington, the communique said the U.K. and U.S. are willing to give the United Nations advance notice of nuclear tests and open the tests to international observers — provided Russia does the same.

They declared their own intentions "to continue nuclear tests only in such a manner as will keep world radiation" from rising to a level hazardous to human safety.

Among subjects covered in detail were common problems concerning the Middle East, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, European co-operation, the reunification of Germany, defence and "repressive Soviet policies" towards Eastern Europe, the communique said.

The president and prime minister agreed on the "need for speedy implementation of recent United Nation's resolutions dealing with the Gaza Strip, the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal."

Raging Blizzard Cripples Midwest

(From AP and UP)

KANSAS CITY — The worst spring blizzard in 30 years continued to rage in the midwestern United States today, paralyzing transportation and crippling communications in many sections of eight states.

One major train, carrying 400 passengers, and an estimated 7,500 highway travellers were reported stranded. Six deaths were attributed to the storm and nine persons were listed as missing.

The train was the Union Pacific City of St. Louis, westbound from St. Louis to Los Angeles. It was mired in drifts ranging up to 18 feet near Winona, Kan., about 50 miles from the Colorado line.

The blizzard, with raging winds that piled up drifts 14 feet deep, started Saturday and covered parts of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska and Missouri.

Winds up to 80 miles an hour in velocity—five miles over minimum hurricane strength—started easing up early this morning in the Texas Panhandle, but the snow had generally stopped.

Omaha was choked by 14 inches of snow and the fall continued today. Lincoln, 60 miles southwest, had a similar situation. Schools in both cities were closed.

There were 14 inches of snow in the Council Bluffs, Iowa area, and more falling.

Temperatures in the Texas Panhandle were expected to get a little above freezing today, allowing a little thawing. But they were expected to drop to 24 degrees at night.

Macmillan, St. Laurent Start Talks

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (CP)—Canada's prime minister arrived at nearby Bermuda airport today for talks with Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain as a follow-up to the Big Two conference.

Plans were for a two-hour afternoon meeting of St. Laurent and Macmillan, with Howe and Pearson also sitting in, for a briefing on talks Macmillan had with President Eisenhower.

St. Laurent, in a brief airport statement, said both his and Eisenhower's meeting with Macmillan would be important to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He said he did not expect to reach any detailed conclusions during the talks but expected just the same friendly exchange as had marked the Eisenhower-Macmillan conference. (See column 1.)

Strike Talks Collapse

LONDON (CP)—Talks between shipbuilding employers and union leaders broke down in deadlock today, shattering hopes of an early settlement of a strike that has paralyzed shipyards for the last nine days.

The talks failed as Britain felt the full force of a new strike involving 1,000,000 engineering workers in aviation, auto and machine tool industries.

Small Auditorium Asked by Scurrah

The suggestion that Greater Victoria Centennial Committee should consider erection of a small 2,800-seat civic auditorium as a birthday year project was put forward today by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

The mayor said he had reached the conclusion a much smaller auditorium than had been ordinarily envisaged might be a suitable centennial project.

DENIAL

An earlier report that six city organizations including the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Arts Centre, Symphony Society and Victoria Labor Council, planned to send a delegation to the next centennial committee meeting to promote an auditorium, was discounted today.

Chamber secretary Arnold Webb denied that group was interested.

Vancouver Loses Sunday Sport Bid

Vancouver's bid for commercial Sunday sport today was turned down by a legislative committee.

The private bills committee, comprising nine Socreds and four opposition members, reached a decision after only a brief discussion.

It was not known how committee members voted.

The city had applied for an amendment to its charter to legalize commercial sport on Sunday afternoons between 1.30 and 6 p.m. Vancouver citizens supported the measure in a plebiscite in December, 1955.

Neither city council nor the provincial government took any action at the last session to implement the result of the plebiscite.

It was reported at that time the government was considering a province-wide plebiscite on the controversial issue.

This year the city took action to have the charter amended and appeared before the private bills committee Friday. The Lord's Day Alliance also presented a brief at Friday's open hearing opposing Sunday sport.

CLOSED MEETING

The committee went behind closed doors today and reached its decision in short order.

It is understood the vote was called quickly because members had made up their minds on the matter and further discussions were considered unnecessary.

The committee decision apparently kills all hope of Vancouver having Sunday sport this year.

There may be further debate on the issue, however, when other requested Vancouver charter amendments come before the legislature this week.

If the committee had approved the amendment the final decision would have been made by the whole legislature. It usually follows the recommendation of the committee.

SOCREDS OPPOSED

Many government members are known to be opposed to Sunday sport. Premier Bennett stated last year that he was personally against Sunday sport, but added that if the people of Vancouver wanted it they could have it.

Chairman of the committee is Alex Matthew (SC-Vancouver Centre). Other members are: Dan Campbell (SC-Comox), secretary; Mel Bryan (SC-North Vancouver), Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale), Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard), Fred Sharp (SC-Vancouver East), Mrs. Buda Brown (SC-Vancouver Point Grey), Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, Rae Eddie (SC-New Westminster), Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East), George Gregory (Lib-Victoria), Tom Uphill (Ind. Lab.-Fernie).

During the talks on the Middle East, Eisenhower and Macmillan were kept in close touch with discussions under way in Cairo between UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and Egyptian President Nasser, an American source said. (See page 3.)

The communique said that in the absence of an effective agreement for comprehensive disarmament, the security of the free world must continue to depend upon nuclear deterrent. To maintain this effectively, continued nuclear testing is required.

The United States and Britain would be willing to register with the United Nations advance notice of nuclear tests and would permit "limited international observation of such tests, if the Soviet Union would do the same," it added.

Official spokesmen refused to discuss the types of guided missiles the United States will supply to Britain, beyond acknowledging they include 1,500-mile intermediate-range ballistic weapons.

An American source said they will probably be paid for under a lend-lease agreement similar to wartime agreements among the allies.

But, the source added, the missles are not yet in production. He estimated it will be a couple of years before they are actually produced in substantial volume.

SUEZ DISCUSSED

On the Suez Canal, the two statesmen recorded agreement on the importance of compliance "both in letter and spirit" with the Security Council resolution of Oct. 13, which said any settlement should meet six "requirements."

These provided for free and open transit without discrimination, respect for Egyptian sovereignty, insulation of the canal from the politics of any country, agreement by users and Egypt on tolls, allotment of a fair proportion of dues to development, and settlement of disputes by arbitration.

worthy of the most complete endorsation, as throughout the world the club is pursuing the same objectives with the same goodwill.

Governor Ralph Bartholomew, Ketchikan, Alaska, district 151, emphasized the current intra-club aim is to "keep Rotary simple."

This is difficult, said the man who in the last year travelled 30,000 miles in interests of the club, "but we hope to keep Rotary simple, in its obligations."

FORUMS

The governor said steps are being taken to set up inter-city forums to meet from time to time, with a speaker from Rotary International to keynote the gatherings.

"Our target should be to go forward without spinning our wheels."

He mentioned Vancouver Island club projects, which included an air strip at Qualicum, hacked out of the bush by Rotarians, and also a tower and diving float at Chemainus.

The conference opened Sunday night with a two-hour and 15-minute program which featured an inspirational address by Dr. A. M. Trendell, rector of St. John's (Shaughnessy), Vancouver, plus entertainment.

FULL HOUSE

Invocation was pronounced by Dean Brian Whitlow, Christ Church Cathedral, and the packed house heard baritone "Jock" Dunbar, the Rotary Boys' Choir, and a presentation of flags by the Victoria Girls' Drill Team.

Tonight there will be a variety show for Rotarians, 8.30 p.m. at the Royal.

There are so many here for the conference that delegates are eating in the crystal ballroom of the Empress, the hotel's dining room, and overflowing into the Crystal Garden.

IN MUNICIPAL ACT

'Undemocratic Powers' Hit By Ratepayers

A telegram asking Premier W. A. C. Bennett to withdraw a section of the Municipal Act governing unorganized territories was sent today by G. E. Bonner, president of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

Island ratepayers are "greatly concerned" with the bill which gives the municipal affairs minister "powers that are not democratic," Mr. Bonner said.

NO VOTE

Main objection is that under the new Municipal Act the minister may undertake local projects without appealing to ratepayers through a referendum or plebiscite, he said, and then pay for it by imposition of a mill rate on land and improvements.

Bottle-Wielding Teen-Agers Injure Two in Crashing Party

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gang of eight teenagers tried to force their way into a house party during the weekend and householder Fred Corrado was struck by a bottle, police report.

Corrado said he forced the youths out of the house and a fight started in the yard. Neighbor Dick Axelson, who came to Corrado's aid, was hit in the face by a rock. Mrs. Corrado was also "pushed around" in the melee.

Mr. Corrado, treated at hospital for face cuts, said the party was given for his 14-year-old daughter.

A youth, also 14, was taken to the juvenile detention home by police, who said he faces several charges.

Sunday night police officers dispersed more than a score of youths at a suburban intersection. Police said they believe a gang war was in the offing.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK — By RUTH ENKE

The Other Millions

A WEEK or two ago, when I went to see "The Crucible" at the College the unknown woman next me said she'd been attending the course of lectures on the different major religions.

I envied her because I, too, wanted to hear those lectures. But what with the column job and the Social Studies Course, I simply didn't have the time.

Such lectures seem to me invaluable and badly needed in this day and age. I'm only sorry that they're usually given on what one might call the university level, and in language that is sometimes difficult for the average individual to understand.

Ruth

* * *

I wish that the ideas in them could be presented in more popular form and free of extra charge to the general public.

As it is, the people who go to these lectures are generally well educated, have the money to pay the fee, and already have some interest in the subject. The lecturers are preaching to the converted, I fear.

The uninterested are the ones we want to catch.

Why do we want to catch them?

As I see it, we want to catch them because the world is shrinking rapidly. Our present world is utterly unlike the one our parents, or even ourselves, knew as children. Distances that were immense are now almost nothing. Nations which once were far away are now virtually our neighbors.

Moreover, whether we want to or not, we must learn to get along with those neighbors. We must learn about their cultures and their ways, and that means learning about their religions, too, because the dominant religion of a country affects the pattern of its culture.

Not so very long ago, those of us who were raised in the Christian faith used to speak with superiority of "the heathen." We didn't mix with them. The chances were that we'd never come into direct contact with them in our lives.

Those days are past.

* * *

Nowadays, their representatives and ours meet together at the United Nations to see whether, by discussion, they can settle differences which, in former times, would have resulted in war.

To settle differences, we must yearn to understand the other nation's point of view. Often, though not always, that point of view must know what that religion is.

At least, that's the argument as I see it.

As I see it, it's most important that Christians no longer claim that they have a monopoly on goodness or on truth.

We may prefer the Christian faith. That's our privilege. Others may prefer another faith. That's their privilege.

If we are sincere in our talk of the brotherhood of man and peace on earth, then we must respect the religious rights of others.

* * *

I realize full well that this column will bring me some grieved and angry letters. This kind of column always does.

But, to the writers of those letters, I'd like to suggest that it's shortsighted, if not stupid to study other religious faiths.

It's not a question of changing one's own beliefs. It is a question of trying to understand the millions who adhere to faiths that are different from our own.

Those millions are sharing the world with us.

We must understand them or possibly perish.

LONDON LETTER — By WALLACE REYBURN

The King's Troop in Town

LONDON—The King's Troop, Royal Horse Artillery, are a very special outfit of the British Army. I could say they are the only horse-drawn artillery left in the world but in case in some far-off place there are other units that still have horses to move their field pieces around I had better say they are one of the few outfits that have not been mechanized.

The main distinction that attaches to them is the fact that they are royalty's own troop and are on hand all the time for the firing of royal salutes and for ceremonial parades that go out from Buckingham Palace.

Reyburn

* * *

They are a really splendid sight when in full dress, and Torontonians will have a chance of seeing them later this year. They were supposed to be at the CNE last year but arrangements fell through. However, in the coming months they are going out to San Francisco to put on displays, there and I understand they'll be calling in at Toronto on the way back.

Why I bring up the King's Troop at this time is that they are neighbors of ours. Their barracks are a couple of blocks from us and whenever they go down to the palace for some ceremony or to Hyde Park to fire a salute our youngsters, along with all the other kids on the street, have an exciting close-up of the resplendently uniformed men, the sleek horses and the guns they trundle along behind them. (The fact that they wear fur caps has recently caused a certain element among the youngsters to chant "Davy Crockett" as they go by but that undignified reaction will soon pass out of favor.)

* * *

Since the men of the King's Troop live in our area it's not unnatural that we have got to know quite a few of them and the other day I was sharing a beer in the local pub with the sergeant who looks after the riding instruction at the barracks. Casually he said to me: "You have a son, haven't you? Would he like to learn to ride?" It appeared that he had a son of young Mac's age, he was going to teach his boy to ride and thought it would be a good idea to teach a couple of them while he was at it.

I couldn't get home to Mac fast enough to tell him the news. His eyes popped at the idea of learning to ride on the horses that parade for the Queen. He at once cancelled a party he had been looking forward to for a month, so as to fit in with the time of the first lesson, and off he went so excited that he arrived at the barrack gates an hour before he was due.

The sergeant told me an interesting thing about how they teach riding. None of the recruits are allowed out in the open on any of the Troop's 103 horses until they've had three months' riding training indoors. Great mistake of commercial riding schools, he says, is that they put a beginner on a horse in the open, the horse decides to have a run and that's how the broken collarbones start. But that's about all the sergeant has told me. He won't let me into the barracks to see Mac in action—and I'd be as thrilled as any youngster to have a look round there.

"No parents hanging around, thank you," says the sergeant.

HOME GARDEN — By HILDA BEASTALL

Early Vegetables Are Worth Effort

The value of raising early salad vegetables in a suitable cold frame cannot be overestimated.

Apart from the dollars and cents value, which may not appeal to the average large wage earner, it is the hard to estimate value of freshness in young crops.

Hilda

In spite of modern methods of freezing and cold storage, delicate young lettuce and radish do not, to my knowledge, appear on the market. Their keeping quality is too ephemeral.

To be successful, the soil in the cold frame should be deep compost. It may consist of well-rotted manure, spent hops, rotted sawdust, and good black soil from the compost heap.

Keep the glass covers on for a few days before planting, so that the soil mixture is warm.

3 INCHES APART

The pinch of lettuce seed shown indoors less than three weeks ago, will have produced seedlings large enough to prick out in a few more days. Space them about three inches apart each way. As the plants grow, alternate ones may be used, leaving more space for the remainder.

Sow a short row of a small type radish (if you like them) at intervals of seven days. A clump of chives in a corner will furnish delicate onion flavor.

Any further space available in the frame could be sown to a short-horn carrot to be used as "fingerlings," and beets if you prefer eating the young tops as many do.

Keep the glass on for germinating, and for the first three or four days after putting out the lettuce seedlings. Later, raise the covers for air during all mild days, rain or shine.

If the compost has been made from a wide assortment of materials, no further fertilizers will be needed for these early vegetables. They will be used and the frame cleared for further use before the really warm weather arrives.

150 Embryo Teachers in Annual Feast

Annual banquet for 150 student-teachers of Victoria College was held at Lougheed's Banquet Hall Friday night by the B.C. Teachers' Federation and the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association.

Speakers were Miss A. Nimmo, student teacher representative; Dr. W. Harry Hickman, principal of Victoria College, and Ian Boyd, president of the provincial federation.

The two teaching groups sponsored a student-teacher workshop at the college Friday afternoon when group discussion centred on staff, parent and community relations, professional problems, ethics and promotional opportunities.

A general assembly in the auditorium was addressed by C. D. Ovans, provincial general secretary, and H. C. Gilliland, director of teacher education at the college.

BANKER WARNS OTTAWA AGAINST HASTY ACTION

'Fullest Investigation' Asked On Proposed Changes in Banking

MONTREAL (CP)—President Gordon R. Ball of the Bank of Montreal today called on the government for a prompt "public announcement . . . that no fundamental changes in the Canadian banking structure are contemplated without the fullest possible investigation of what might be involved."

Mr. Ball referred to a recent proposal by governor James E. Coyne of the Bank of Canada that chartered banks' personal savings deposits should be channelled into mortgage loans and other long-term securities.

His statement was a strong warning against "precipitate action" on something which would "involve radical changes in the structure and operations of the Canadian banking system." It also contained objections to the idea itself.

It was "rather unfortunate that the proposals had been brought before the public in the way they have," Mr. Ball said. Public psychological reactions so far had been "undesirable and possibly dangerous."

He said he has approached Finance Minister Harris about Mr. Coyne's proposals, outlined in the Bank of Canada's annual report earlier this month.

UNSEEN CONSEQUENCES

They were highly technical ones which "at this juncture neither the Bank of Canada, which initiated the proposals, the government which would have to accept responsibility for them, the banking system, which would have to implement them, nor the Canadian public, which would be affected by them, can as yet fully realize all the consequences involved."

Individual depositors had a right to expect that practical bankers will determine the kind and quality of assets securing their deposits rather than a rigid Bank of Canada formula or a government edict.

The proposal apparently meant a "virtual ceiling" on chartered bank loans to industry and individuals until demand deposits had been increased by about $1,500,000,000, Mr. Ball said.

UNFORTUNATE

In his view, it would be unfortunate during any business recession, real or incipient, if the banking system was prevented from making loans "that needed to be made."

Snarling Elvis Pulls Toy Pistol To Scare Off 'Fighting' Marine

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Elvis Presley agreed Sunday night that he startled a marine by whipping out a "pistol" and snarling like a movie badman.

"For crying out loud, it was a toy," Presley said. "A Hollywood prop gun. Everybody else standing around there knew it wasn't real. He didn't think it was real, did he?"

The marine, Pte. Hershel Nixon, said he certainly did think it was real.

Presley, 22, said the marine walked up and said: "You bumped into my wife as she walked out of a restaurant about two months ago."

Nixon said he just wanted to strike up a conversation with Presley and mentioned his wife "so I would have something to talk to him about."

"He pulled the gun—it looked like a .25-calibre pistol—on me for no reason at all. He said, "I'll blow your brains out, you punk."

Presley said he and a friend had been "playing" with the prop guns.

"Maralag 'O'"
Starring ANTHONY STEEL with JACK WARNER
Here is an interesting and exciting true story from the book "ALBERT R.N." about life in and a daring escape plot from the Prisoner of War Camp "Maralag 'O'" for Naval Officers in Germany during World War II. It takes its place with "The Colditz Story" and "Stalag 17", the emphasis being on British humor and adaptability under trying circumstances. Highly recommended.

Senior scholarship for best actress went to Helen Simenson of Esquimalt High School. Donna Robertson, Victoria High, and Diane Beale, Oak Bay High, were runners-up.

(BB PLUS) "THE TRUE STORY OF JESSE JAMES" (Capitol): If there is anything to criticize in 20th Century-Fox's "The True Story of Jesse James," it is that the film somehow makes a sympathetic character of the American outlaw. So, in the end, there will be some who will be hoping the bad men will be able to fight their way out of and escape the forces of law and order.

Actually, however, the screen biography follows the history of Jesse and his brother Frank remarkably faithfully. Born in Clay county, Mo., Sept. 5, 1847, Jesse and his family were partisan to the southern forces in the early months of the Civil War and were made to suffer accordingly. As retaliation Jesse turned informer and, later, at 15, joined the forces of C. W. Quantrell. At the conclusion of the war he formed his own band of desperadoes who robbed banks and held up trains and was responsible for the deaths of several innocent humans.

* * *

RIGHT TRIUMPHED in the end, however. After Governor Crittenden of Missouri posted a $30,000 reward for Jesse, dead or alive, the outlaw was shot in the back by two members of his own gang, Robert and Charles Ford.

As the two brothers, Robert Wagner (Jesse) and Jeffrey Hunter (Frank) give sound performances, although sometimes the career of the outlaw is not too convincing from a psychological aspect. Agnes Moorehead is good as the boy's mother, Hope Lange as the girl Jesse marries, and Alan Hale as one of the Cole Younger brothers.

Pretty Tea-Pluckers

Tea pluckers at work on a typical tea plantation. The plucking is done by hand, mostly by women, who develop amazing skill and speed at selecting the important two leaves and a bud, breaking them off between thumb and finger, and transferring them by handfuls to their baskets.

Intriguing Legends, Facinating History

No beverage has a more fascinating and interesting history than tea. In the legend-shrouded times of oriental antiquity, tea was referred to as "a gift of the Gods"—but apparently was only available to a few philosophers and princes.

The origin of tea is recounted in several legends depending upon where they are told. These legends are intriguing in themselves, but the story of tea through the ages is no less interesting. Today, we are aware of the fact that tea is a good pick-up—gives a person a lift when most needed. There is nothing new in this idea, however, for over 2,000 years ago these same attributes of tea were appreciated and understood. Writings in those days indicated that its popularity was largely due to its effectiveness against "noxious gases of the body," and a cure for lethargy. Modern confirmation of this comes from the medical profession, who say that tea aids digestion, and from sports coaches who assert that it is a good fatigue recovery aid for athletes.

BROUGHT TO VENICE

Although tea has long been the favorite drink of people in the Far East, it was only about 400 years ago that it first came to what was then known as the "western" world. It is said that the first European to write of tea was a Venetian who, although not a traveler himself, discussed travel and experiences with many of the famous voyagers who came to Venice. This man, a Mr. Ramusio, wrote of a Persian merchant who said that if Europe knew about tea "merchants would cease altogether to buy rhubarb." Apparently in those days rhubarb was a popular health food. From this time on, tea and the therapeutic values claimed for it filtered steadily into Europe—originally through the Dutch merchants who trade with the Far East.

CHANGES IN STATUS

There have, however, been changes in the social status of tea. Originally it was the prerogative of the very rich. This no doubt was due to the premium prices which it fetched. Smuggling was not unknown, even in the most aristocratic quarters. Later however, when tea became more plentiful, it became the drink of the working people. A recent survey taken in England indicates however the aristocracy have taken to drinking tea to a far greater extent than before the war. This is possibly due to an onset of nerves and uncertainty because of the heavy taxation on land and property!

The first tea drunk in Europe came from China and it wasn't until 1823 that India came into the picture when an English explorer discovered tea plants growing wild in the jungles of northern India. Ten years later a British committee established a plan to start tea culture in that country. After a few years, the Assam Tea Company was founded and the tea industry of India was launched. In May, 1838, the first consignment of Indian tea, consisting of eight chests, came to Britain. It brought premium prices. By the beginning of the 20th century India was firmly established as a leading exporter of tea.

Tea World's Most Consumed Beverage for All Classes

If you were asked to name the world's most popular drink, what would your answer be? Would you say wine? . . . beer? . . . milk? Well, if you did you would be wrong because more people all over the world drink tea! For the sceptics, here is a list of yearly imports for various tea-drinking countries:

England, 451,000,000 pounds; U.S.A., 103,000,000 pounds; Australia, 59,000,000 pounds; Canada, 46,000,000 pounds; Egypt, 37,000,000 pounds; French Morocco, 27,000,000; Republic of Ireland, 24,000,000 pounds; Iraq, 22,000,000 pounds; Union of South Africa, 23,000,000 pounds.

What are the reasons for this enormous consumption of tea? Why do people of all walks of life prefer tea over all other beverages? The answers to these questions would probably be as diverse as people themselves.

Most people drink tea because they like it. As they sip a warming cup of tea they experience a very satisfying feeling of well-being. This arises out of the fact that tea has the unique quality of being an excellent pickup, yet relaxes at the same time. The stimulating qualities of tea are enjoyable but provide no undesirable after-effects.

If you asked your family doctor he would probably tell you that people instinctively turn to food and drink that is good for them. He might mention that the diet manual of the Mayo Clinic allows tea on practically all diets, and, as it contains no sodium, tea is particularly recommended in salt-free diets.

Lloyd Percival, famous athletic coach and director of sports college, claims that tea is the best beverage for athletes because it is the finest possible fatigue-recovery aid.

Lemon in Clear Tea Brings Out Flavor to Full Extent

Experts agree that in clear tea (without milk or cream) you get the full flavor and fragrance of the tea itself. For added flavor place a thin slice of lemon on top of a cup of clear tea. Tea and lemon go together to produce an irresistible flavor that has no equal. If you like more lemon, use a tangy fresh lemon wedge. Try it!

As an alternative try floating a slice of orange on top of your cup of clear tea. It has a flavor of its own that's hard to beat.

Tea is a versatile drink on which you can ring the changes with exciting results, said Teaki who was interviewed today.

"Don't forget to use bubbly boiling water," said Teaki, "let the tea brew for five 'timed' minutes. Then, for a change, try serving the tea clear with a thin slice of lemon stuck with one or two cloves. Add sugar to taste.

'Peace With Justice' Key To Big 2 Bermuda Decisions

The president of the United States and the prime minister of the United Kingdom assisted by the U.S. secretary of state and the British foreign secretary and other advisers have exchanged views during the last three days on many subjects of mutual concern. They have conducted their discussions with the freedom and frankness permitted to old friends in a world of growing interdependence. They recognize their responsibility to seek to coordinate their foreign policies in the interests of peace with justice.

Among the subjects discussed in detail were common problems concerning the Middle East, Far East, NATO, European co-operation, the reunification of Germany and defence.

The president and the prime minister are well satisfied with the results of this conference, at which a number of decisions have been taken. They intend to continue the exchange of views so well begun.

The agreements and conclusions reached on the main subjects discussed at the conference are annexed.

Annex I

1. Recognition of the value of collective security pacts within the framework of the United Nations and the special importance of NATO for both countries as the cornerstone of their policy in the West.

2. Reaffirmation of common interest in the development of European unity within the Atlantic community.

3. Agreement on the importance of closer association of the United Kingdom with Europe.

4. Agreement on the benefits likely to accrue for European and world trade from the plans for the common market and the free trade area, provided they do not lead to a high tariff bloc, and on the desirability that all countries should pursue liberal trade policies.

5. Willingness of the United States under authority of the recent Middle East joint resolution to participate actively in the work of the military committee of the Baghdad pact.

6. Reaffirmation of intention to support the right of the German people to early reunification in peace and freedom.

7. Sympathy for the people of Hungary, condemnation of repressive Soviet policies towards the peoples of Eastern Europe, and of Soviet defiance of relevant United Nations resolutions.

8. Agreement on the need for the speedy implementation of recent resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly dealing with the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

9. Agreement on the importance of compliance both in letter and spirit with the Security Council resolution of Oct. 13 concerning the Suez Canal and on support for the efforts of the secretary-general to bring about a settlement in accordance with its provisions.

10. Joint declaration on policy regarding nuclear tests (see Annex II).

11. Agreement in principle that in the interest of mutual defence and mutual economy certain guided missiles will be made available by the United States for use by British forces.

Annex II

1. For a long time our two governments have been attempting to negotiate with the Soviet Union under the auspices of the United Nations disarmament commission an effective agreement for comprehensive disarmament. We are continuing to seek such an agreement in the current disarmament discussions in London. In the absence of such an agreement, the security of the free world must continue to depend to a marked degree upon the nuclear deterrent. To maintain this, effectively continued nuclear testing is required, certainly for the present.

2. Recognize however that there is sincere concern that continued nuclear testing may increase world radiation to levels which might be harmful. Studies by independent scientific organizations confirm our belief that this will not happen so long as testing is continued with due restraint. Moreover, the testing program has demonstrated the feasibility of greatly reducing worldwide fallout from large nuclear explosions.

3. Over the past months our governments have considered various proposed methods of limiting tests. We have now concluded together that, in the absence of more general nuclear control agreements of the kind which we have been and are seeking, a test limitation agreement could not today be effectively enforced for technical reasons, nor could breaches of it be surely detected. We believe, nevertheless, that even before a general agreement is reached self-imposed restraint can and should be exercised by nations which conduct tests.

4. Therefore, on behalf of our two governments we declare our intention to continue to conduct nuclear tests only in such manner as will keep world radiation from rising to more than a small fraction of the levels that might be hazardous. We look to the Soviet Union to exercise a similar restraint.

5. We shall continue our general practice of publicly announcing our tests series well in advance of their occurrence, with information as to their location and general timing. We would be willing to register with the United Nations advance notice of our intention to conduct future nuclear tests and to permit limited international observation of such tests if the Soviet Union would do the same.

Interference in CBC Programs Charged Against St. Laurent

By VICTOR J. MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — A Canadian Broadcasting Corporation commentator and Montreal Gazette columnist Arthur Blakely, charged in a column in the Montreal newspaper today that Prime Minister S. Laurent has attempted to interfere with CBC operations.

He said: "In recent months Prime Minister St. Laurent has made a determined bid to interfere in CBC Public Affairs programming—interference designed to improve the picture which the CBC presents of the Liberal party and its activities at the expense of other political parties represented in Parliament."

The commentator continued, "Other members of the federal cabinet among them Immigration Minister J. W. Pickersgill and Health Minister Paul Martin—have also tried their hands at direct intervention."

Acting prime minister Hon. Paul Martin said today he did not know what the columnist was talking about. Prime Minister St. Laurent is in Bermuda.

Mr. Blakely declined to elaborate on his allegations when questioned. "I have nothing more to say at this time," he said.

A. Davidson Dunton, chairman of the board of governors of the CBC had no comment.

'---Would Have Been No Emily Carr Without Me', Says U.S. Artist

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Why did Emily Carr never acknowledge, by so much as a single word in one of the several autobiographical books she wrote, the debt a distinguished American artist claims she owed him?

Bearded, philosophical Mark Tobey, an important figure in the international world of art, turned a flashing blue gaze in my direction when I asked him if it was a fact that he had at one time taught Emily Carr.

"There would have been no Emily Carr," he said abruptly, "if it hadn't been for me."

Tobey, who soared into the realm of master painters in the decade between 1935 and 1945, with his discovery of what has been described — though not by him—as "white writing," was paying one of his periodic visits to Victoria this weekend.

The visits have extended intermittently over a period of 35 years.

BOARDED

It was back in the early twenties when first coming to this city to paint and meditate, that Tobey stayed at Miss Carr's boarding house.

There he quickly became interested in the talents of "a greatly gifted woman" who was frittering her time away with pottery ash trays and still lifes.

She became his pupil and he taught her the principles and concept of form, which she came to understand and accept "after a great struggle."

In his own words: "It simply is not possible that a woman living her circumscribed life, could have developed as she did, to conceive the great swirling canvases, the wonderful tree forms, unless there had been someone to indicate the way for her: I was that someone."

While there is apparent in Tobey the pronounced ego that is inevitable in all great artists, however deceptively simple they may appear to be, in his case it is an ego that has sunned itself in the mellowing influence of a humane and broad intelligence for more than 60 years.

TURNED AGAINST

He speaks of Emily Carr and the fact that "for some unaccountable reason she turned against me" without rancor, and with a firm forthrightness that lays as much emphasis on her stifled genius as it does on himself as the liberator of that genius.

We sat at lunch in an Empress Hotel window and he turned a morose eye in the direction of the brash new timbering hiding the scars of the dismembered post office.

"Why can't Victoria be content to be itself?" he demanded.

In his opinion such old buildings are part and parcel of a city's character and its life story.

"So much modern architecture is entirely functional . . . impersonal. There is a cold, matter-of-fact uniformity about it."

He loves Victoria; but he likes it for its own serene, unhurried, rather old-world flavor and hopes it will never feel obliged to ape American cities.

Born in Wisconsin, Mark Tobey has travelled extensively, studying in France, working as resident artist at famed Dartington Hall, a progressive school in South Devon, and visiting and studying in the Near and Far East.

His absorption in Chinese calligraphy and Japanese brushwork led to the discovery of "white writing," an intricate overall patterning of rhythmically interwoven lines, which has been called "one of the few original contributions to American painting" and a "Bach-like building up into a massive composition . . ."

Two years ago, Tobey's paintings were shown at the Galerie Jeanne Bucher in Paris and French critics hailed him as a great American master. "All eyes are now fixed on Tobey," said one, while another declared that he was the American painter who, in recent times, had roused more interest in France than any other.

While he doesn't admit to having any fixed address, Tobey does spend most of his time while on this continent, in Seattle—when he isn't in New York.

In June he is bringing the gallery a one-man show, representative of the best of his works; mostly because of his affection for the city and admiration for the gallery.

MONTE ROBERTS

. . . did you know there actually IS a Society for the Protection of Women and Children? . . . when are they going to form a much more vital Society—one for the Protection of Men from their Women and Children? . . .

. . . love that radio commercial about Chlorets . . . the one which says "Nothing protects your breath like Chlorets" . . . I should know, I've been using Nothing for years . . . and even my best friends have always been happy to tell me. . . .

. . . wish the provincial government would get around to permitting Vodka into this part of the country . . . couldn't think of a pleasanter way to avoid bad breath. . . .

. . . one thing about these visiting Rotarians, they seem to go around in the best circles. . . .

. . . if I were king, the first thing I would do would be to banish from the country all people who express sympathy by saying smugly "that's the way the ball bounces" . . . "if I were king" . . . gad, how that dates me . . . if I were king these days, I would do what all kings do . . . namely, as they are told. . . .

. . . I am continually being accused of opposing progress and perhaps I am . . . over on the mainland the other day, I once more felt the good old days were somehow better . . . and this feeling came to me, in, of all places, the North Vancouver Ferry . . . bridge or no bridge, by far the pleasantest way of getting from Vancouver to North Vancouver is by the ferry. . . .

. . . Now, if they could only revive the West Vancouver Ferry . . . there was a really happy trip, especially when the cross-chop was running against the tide in the First Narrows . . . a really pleasant way of going from Vancouver to West Vancouver. . . .

. . . of course, there are those who say ANY way of getting from Vancouver to any other place is a pleasant way . . . but naturally, I don't agree . . . Vancouver is a lovely city, especially when viewed from a distance. . . .

. . . whatever became of Our Very Own Island Correspondents? . . . haven't heard from a single one in weeks . . . come on, correspondents at Wobble Hill and Goon Centre and Lunchville . . . hurry up with your Very Own News . . . why, even Wallopem Beach must be finished with the Off Season, like.

. . . wish I'd remembered my favorite one-way street story the other day when I was talking about one-way streets . . . the story about the inebriated gentleman who was driving the wrong way when he was stopped by the police with the usual polite question "where do you think you're going?" . . . "I don't know," replied the fuddled driver, "but wherever it is, I'm too late. Everybody is coming back." . . .

. . . perhaps I should stick to dozing minus thinking. . . .

How Do You Vote on Centennial Project?

A total of 31 suggestions have been made from various individuals and groups as to the type of project Greater Victoria should have to mark the province's 100th birthday next year.

Shortly the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee will begin sorting them out for a decision as to which one goes ahead.

Times' readers, through their correspondence, have expressed the hope that a fitting and lasting memorial will be chosen.

To help them express a majority view the Times today submits a ballot listing all the projects suggested so far. It is quite apparent that some of these will be ruled out because of the cost involved or other practical reasons. But at least an expression of viewpoint will help the Centennial Committee in arriving at a decision.

Skeena to Join Southern Cruise

Second New D-E Coming

Canada's newest destroyer escort, the Skeena, has her summer's work laid out for her even before commissioning which takes place at Burrard Drydock Co. Ltd. Saturday, it was learned today.

On June 12, she will sail in company with three other Pacific Command ships on a two-month training cruise with cadets from the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

As usual for these cruises, senior ship will be HMCS Ontario, cruiser especially converted for training purposes.

Escort vessels, in addition to the Skeena, will be HMC Ships Cayuga and Athabaskan.

TO HAWAII

General area to be covered by the cruise was announced officially today, but specific ports are withheld until clearances are obtained. The four ships will work in the Hawaiian island area, and will call at ports on the Pacific Coast of the United States.

Prior to her first training voyage, the Skeena will have shakedown cruises and work-ups in local waters, with a possible work-up farther south.

About 40 of her crew are now at North Vancouver, and the balance of the peacetime complement of 12 officers and 198 men will arrive there from the pool at HMCS Naden Friday.

The Skeena will leave for Esquimalt within a few days of commissioning.

TO ATLANTIC

Not yet officialy confirmed is transfer of HMCS Sioux, veteran of training cruises and combat action, from Pacific to Atlantic command. Sioux is expected to leave soon for Halifax after completing post-refit trials. She is now in final stages of refit.

It is expected the Second Canadian Escort Squadron based at Esquimalt will be strengthened by the addition of another of Canada's brand new destroyer escorts, the Margaree, which was built in Eastern Canada.

Departure of the minesweeper HMCS Comox for the East Coast has been confirmed by naval headquarters at Ottawa. She will leave Esquimalt April 3, arrive at Halifax May 4.

Still unconfirmed is rumored transfer of the Comox to NATO forces under mutual aid.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Deer on Highway Blamed by Driver For Collision

A deer which jumped in front of his car was blamed by Allen Repesse of Nanaimo, defendant in a Supreme Court civil action here, for a highway accident near the Chemainus River bridge on Nov. 6, 1955.

The civil suit is being heard before Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes.

Plaintiff is William Keserick, who is suing Repesse for $2,000 for damage to his car, and injuries suffered when his car was in collision with the defendant's vehicle.

Repesse claimed, however, that he could do nothing to avoid the accident as a deer jumped in front of his car, causing him to lose control. A dead deer later was found near the scene of the accident.

'MAN OF GREAT HOSPITALITY'

Gwiutalas, pronounced Gwee-yu-tha-lasx, is the newest member of the Kwakiutl Indian Tribe. He's better known as Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, pictured Saturday being made an honorary member by carvers Henry Hunt and David Martin (partially hidden). Title was bestowed by Chief Mungo Martin. Induction took place after lieutenant-governor made first cut in the 100-foot cedar log which will be carved as a totem gift for Queen Elizabeth. Gwiutalas means "man of great hospitality." (B.C. Government Photo.)

ASK The TIMES

Q.—When was standard time established and how many zones are there in Canada?—W.L.S.

A. — Standard time was adopted at a world conference in Washington, D.C., in 1884. It sets the number of time zones in the world at 24, each zone extending over one-twenty-fourth of the world's surface and including all the territory between two meridians 15 degrees apart longitude. Standard time is Greenwich time, all other time zones being a definite number of hours either in advance of or behind Greenwich time. Canada has seven time zones, the most easterly being Newfoundland standard time, three hours and 30 minutes behind Greenwich mean time. Pacific standard time, used throughout British Columbia and part of the Northwest Territories, is eight hours behind Greenwich. There are also villages that adopt such time as seems best to suit their convenience, but in general the legal boundaries of the different zones are actually in use.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Glamor Can Come to All . . . Even to the Safety Pin

By PENNY SAVER

The safety pin has been given new elegance and prestige, and can now be brought out into the open. No more pinning things from the inside, making sure the safety pin (often a life saver) doesn't show. Large, gold plated safety pins are now most fashionable for lapels, scarves and as bars for collars. Yes, ladies, the safety pin, glamorized and glittering, has come into its own. At the crooked end of the pin you'll see disks, some round, some square, that are decorated with dimensional designs or with dainty engraving. Your scarves will be kept neatly in place, and your simple jackets or sweaters will be brightened by these attractive pins. The price $1.95.

Still catering to milady with long hair, manufacturers have come up with a chignon ring, similar to ones I have previously mentioned, but at the base of this one is a star. Of expansion gold dotted with rhinestones at the joins, the band fits around your chignon and holds it neatly. The back part of the band that fits next to your head expands into a glittering star. A little different than most, these chignon rings are selling at $3.95. This would be a good gift idea for birthdays.

Oh . . . sour cream! No, I'm not saying that in dismay, it's delight. Time after time I've "soured" cream in the kitchen so that I could mix a favorite recipe, but no more of that for me. Now I buy sour cream, rich and tangy, for 27 cents a half pint. A local dairy has taken pity on cooks such as me, and is saving us a lot of trouble. The size of the containers is so handy . . . just right. It used to be that you could only buy sour cream in pint or quart sizes, and inevitably one would have no use for the leftover portion. Salads, baked goods and many dinnertime treats taste all the better for the addition of sour cream.

Rather than search through city stores for items mentioned in the column, call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where I shopped.

A demonstration on pottery-making will be given at meeting of Langford Women's Institute Tuesday in the institute hall, Dunford Avenue, at 2 p.m. Mrs. S. M. Vallis will be the demonstrator.

Annual service, Mothers' Union, Monday at 2.30 p.m., Christ Church Cathedral. Tea in Memorial Hall, 912 Vancouver Street. Visitors may attend.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Hints for Minimizing Those Aging Lines

We women know we cannot expect to go through life without getting some battle scars, and also some happiness scars, unless we put our emotions in cold storage and our epidermis in a cold cream jar. But, when we first notice a few lines and a grey hair or so it is surprising. If we are happy and enjoy living we go gaily along, subconsciously believing that it will never happen to us. We expect some magic potion to save us before we begin to show signs of aging.

Actually, we do have many potions which are a great aid. Regular skin lubrication, plus all the benefits of exercise, happy emotions and good nutrition, which are reflected in our appearance, can create near magic.

Anyway, don't allow those lines to throw you—except into action. No doubt some of the lines you have are laughter lines. Some may have come from wonderful hours spent outdoors. You may have acquired some while in the heart-warming sunshine or when sitting by the sea. The sun and wind are not kind to our complexions but they are great for our health and our laughter.

I think that lines, and even an occasional cold, are worthwhile if you have fun while getting them. The lines to dread are those which come from boredom, from worry, from a dour disposition, from such down-pulling emotions as envy and bitterness.

However, every woman wishes to remain as youthful looking as possible without sabotaging vibrant living. Here are a few hints about minimizing the lines you may be subject to:

1. Wear colored glasses when in the bright sunshine. You will otherwise accumulate squint lines. Many women have lines because they will not wear eye glasses when they need them. Eye strain makes them squint.

2. Avoid extreme facial mannerisms, such as lifting the eyebrows and screwing the face up. These are not attractive anyway.

If you would like to have my facial exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No 9 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Please explain where to draw the line in sending wedding invitations. Does one include the names on a Christmas card list? My husband and I are employed in the same building but not in the same office. Do we send invitations to everyone in both offices or just one each to our respective bosses and his group? We have no social contacts with our fellow employees to speak of.

Louise

Do we send an invitation to our doctor and his wife? How about our neighbors?

Louise Davis answers:

If co-workers and executives are personal friends in your own social circle you would want to send them invitations. Think twice before inviting others. You might be embarrassing yourself as well as them concerning gift obligations, especially if you invite them to the reception, too. Business and social worlds usually are separate units.

Invite your doctor and his wife only if they are personal friends. You probably would want to ask your neighbors, especially if you see them often.

Governor Is Proud of Wife

By ELIZABETH FORBES

The words that won most approval from members of the Victoria branch of the British Columbia Historical Society, at a reception in Government House last Saturday afternoon, had nothing to do with official speeches, expressions of thanks, nor a talk on the life of Anthony Musgrave, one-time governor of British Columbia.

Elizabeth

They were an impromptu. Given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, when he was asked, without any previous intimation, to introduce his wife to the gathering.

Although taken by surprise, His Honor was not at a loss. It was a pleasure, he said, to be asked to present his wife, who was to speak to the members. Then, with quiet feeling he added, "Any success I may have had, any popularity I may have attained, I owe entirely to my wife."

It was not lip service. Everyone in the room knew, by the tone of voice, that His Honor was proud of his wife and that he sincerely meant what he said.

A HAPPY PARTY

This was a gay and happy party. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross met members of the historical society in the drawing room, where gorgeous arrangements of daffodils, tulips and calla lilies added to the beauty of the surroundings.

Official part of the gathering was held in the great ballroom where Mr. James Nesbitt, president of the group, gave the talk on Anthony Musgrave. Later he introduced Mrs. C. E. C. Morgan-Kelly and Mr. Herbert A. M. Dodgson, a niece and nephew of Mr. Musgrave.

Little Miss Diana Holmes, a great-great-granddaughter of Joseph Despard Pemberton, first colonial surveyor-general of Vancouver Island, was introduced. She presented His Honor with a boutonniere and Mrs. Ross with a white orchid corsage. Hon. Robert Bonner, representing Premier Bennett, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Ross spoke of the great need to know and to preserve the history of British Columbia and assured the gathering of her interest in this work.

Dr. E. W. Elkington gave the thanks of the group to His Honor and Mrs. Ross.

Afternoon tea was served from a table arranged at the conservatory end of the ballroom. It was covered with a delicate lace cloth and centred with white and pink carnations and white candles in silver candelabra. Presiding at the silver urns were Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, Mrs. Robert Bonner, Mrs. Buda Brown, MLA, and Mrs. Lois Haggen, MLA.

Co-Hostess Shower

A miscellaneous shower for Miss Eileen Leachman, whose marriage to Mr. Douglas Macauley takes place shortly, was given by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Roy Leachman and Mrs. Reg Mail at the latter's home on Westall Avenue. A corsage of roses was presented to the guest of honor on arrival. Those present were Mrs. Colin Kilburn, Mrs. Bill Davidson, Mrs. Nelson Bulloch, Mrs. Don Chiupka, Mrs. Doug Anderson, Mrs. E. Austin, Mrs. E. Holt, Mrs. H. Jones, Mrs. J. Barr, Mrs. L. Barker, Mrs. M. Broadridge, Mrs. R. Fairbairn, Mrs. J. Mickie, Miss Myrna Collison and Miss Sharon Austin.

WOMEN HELD BY SMALL DAILY CHORES

MONTREAL (CP)—Women, says British writer Vera Britain, are members of the interrupted sex and that's why there's never been a female Shakespeare or a female Leonardo da Vinci.

"That kind of greatness demands a maximum of concentration," she told the Women's Canadian Club Thursday night.

And how, she asks, can women be that great when they're always being interrupted — interrupted by the door bell, by the pipes bursting, by children and generally by other home responsibilities.

Lovely Gown of Blue Satin Worn By Bride Carol Larsen Saturday

As traditional wedding music was played by organist, Ted Semmler, Miss Carol Arlene Joan Larsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alf R. Larsen, Helmcken Road, was escorted by her father into Kingdom Hall, where she became the bride of James Edward Siddall, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Siddall of North Battleford, Sask.

David C. Porter officiated at the ceremony in which the young couple exchanged vows and rings. Baskets of pink tulips and white narcissi formed an attractive floral background for the service.

Maid of honor, Miss Maureen Mansergh, and bridesmaid, Miss Claudia Houle, cousin of the bride, were gowned in identically style dresses of peach taffeta and pink-violet taffeta, respectively. Their headdresses were shirred bandeaux of net to match their gowns. Completing their ensembles, they wore pearl necklaces and carried arm bouquets of peach and pink-violet carnations.

The groom had Ross Hargreaves as best man, and usher was Curtis Larsen, brother of the bride.

A reception party was held in Newstead Hall, where a buffet supper was served under the direction of Mrs. J. Bednarz and Miss Esther Marshall. The newlyweds cut a wedding cake made and decorated by the bride's mother. Assisting in receiving guests were Mrs. Larsen in a gown of cream and gold brocaded lame with matching hat of satin and a fur stole. Her corsage was of pink and gold rosebuds.

For a honeymoon trip up-Island, the bride donned a midnight blue suit with matching tweed coat, pink straw hat and pink and beige accessories. Her corsage was of tawny gold roses.

Miss Corry Feted

Mrs. E. C. Wilson and Mrs. J. Bryant were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the Woolaston Street home of Mrs. K. Hatherley, in Esquimalt, to honor Miss Shirley Corry, bride-elect. Gifts were arranged in a decorated wishing well and presented with a gardenia corsage by little Wanda Hatherley. The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. A. Corry, and the mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. E. S. Gilbert, each received a pot of shamrock, which were presented by Master Garry Wilson. Games were played and refreshments served. Guests included Mrs. J. Almond, Mrs. G. Almond, Mrs. B. OTTAWA OFFERS HUGE COLUMBIA POWER AID

$300 Million Ready If Project Public

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fisheries Minister Sinclair said today the federal government is prepared to spend almost $300,000,000 to assist British Columbia with public development of its Columbia River power resources.

He said negotiations with the B.C. government could begin as soon as Canada and the United States agree on the division of downstream benefits from international rivers.

The U.S. and Canada entered into direct negotiations at Ottawa March 19 to expedite a settlement of this question.

The direct negotiations were undertaken when the International Joint Commission failed to come to an agreement.

"An early agreement will speed up industrial development in both British Columbia and the northwest states," he told a press conference, "and will save the Fraser River fisheries from the threat of power development."

Predicts Quick Action by U.S.

He said he is hopeful the announcement of federal government willingness to support the B.C. government in developing Columbia power "will act as a spur to negotiations."

"The American attitude used to be we couldn't do things ourselves," he said.

But this had changed slightly since negotiations for the St. Lawrence seaway when Canada had to indicate "we were big enough to do it ourselves" before the U.S. could be prodded into action.

The U.S. might act faster in present negotiations at Ottawa if it saw Canada was willing and able to go ahead with power development.

B.C. Could Buy Out Federal Interest

"If, after international agreement has been reached, the provincial government should decide on public development of this great power potential, and should need assistance in financing, the federal government will be prepared to assist. . ."

He said the amount of the federal contribution is a matter for negotiations but "could be almost as big an investment as the Canadian share of the navigation section of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

He estimated this at $300,000,000.

Condition of Chetwynd Worsens

The condition of Agriculture and Fisheries Minister Ralph Chetwynd "has taken a turn for the worse," Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced in the House today.

Mr. Chetwynd has been a patient at Veterans' Hospital for some time with a heart ailment. Hospital officials at presstime said only, "His condition is not as good as it has been."

Adams Admitted Lying, Says Detective

LONDON (UP) — Detective Superintendent Herbert Hannam of Scotland Yard testified today that Dr. John Bodkin Adams admitted he had lied in stating he had no financial interest in the cremation of a patient he is accused of murdering for profit.

(See also, Page 13.)

Canadian, U.K. PMs Start Bermuda Talks

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (CP)—Canada's prime minister arrived at nearby Bermuda airport today for talks with Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain as a follow-up to the Big Two conference.

Plans were for a two-hour afternoon meeting of St. Laurent and Macmillan, with Howe and Pearson also sitting in, for a briefing on talks Macmillan had with President Eisenhower.

St. Laurent, in a brief airport statement, said both his and Eisenhower's meeting with Macmillan would be important to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He said he did not expect to reach any detailed conclusions during the talks but expected just the same friendly exchange as had marked the Eisenhower-Macmillan conference. (See column 7.)

SWISS PROSECUTOR SUICIDES IN SPY PROBE

Rotary Demonstrating Goodwill To World, Big Conference Told

By TONY DICKASON

Rotary is demonstrating to the world that an international organization can work successfully, Estes Snedecor, Portland, Ore., a past president of Rotary International, said here today.

He was addressing a packed Royal Theatre audience of Rotarians, 1,400 strong, who have converged on Victoria in the largest Rotary conference ever held here.

The visitors, packing available accommodation in downtown Victoria, were welcomed on behalf of the city by Mayor Percy Scurrah, a Rotarian himself.

Delegates from throughout B.C., Alaska and Washington heard Mr. Snedecor's thoughtful remarks, in which he pointed out that "national boundaries and differences in language, race or religion do not prevent men of good will from working together for the promotion of common ideals of justice and fair dealing throughout the world."

438,000 MEMBERS

Rotary now embraces 438,000 persons in 99 countries. Growth is noted by comparison with the 1923 figures when there were only 90,000 club members in 27 countries.

By far the greatest achievement of Rotary, said the speaker, was raising of more than $4,500,000 for Rotary fellowships enabling graduate study by scholars in countries other than their own.

This year 122 outstanding students from 30 countries were awarded these fellowships, and to date, 841 students have been given the chance to complete studies in another country.

"Thus they are not only brought into contact with the best minds in their chosen fields, but, far more important, they are given the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the life, habits and true worth of the people of the country so visited," he said.

LEADERS

When these students return home, they become leaders of thought in their native lands and "ambassadors of goodwill" from countries in which their education was completed.

Mr. Snedecor has been a Rotarian since 1913, and submitted the first complete revision of the constitution of Rotary International, adopted in 1917.

He said that while business interest was originally one of Rotary's aims, this has long since been discarded.

"Business will flow naturally" to those who demonstrate their ability to perform the best kind of service, he stated.

He termed business as "dignifying" the opportunity to serve society.

"WE THANK THEE"

Giving the invocation to a hushed theatre, Mr. Buckingham prayed "we thank Thee for the beauty of this lovely morning . . . and for Rotary International, that we may make this movement count in fulfillment of the ideals for which we stand. . ."

Rotarians believe, and try to live "Service Above Self."

Backdrop to the stage was a huge illuminated Rotary wheel, the symbol of the service Rotary performs in 248 districts in 99 countries.

Chairman Jack Housez, Victoria, read greetings. They came from many distinguished people, and ranged from Alaska to Ottawa to Texas.

MESSAGE FROM IKE

Core of all communications was that the fellowship and unselfish aims of Rotary are

B.C. REACTION

Sinclair Disclosure Annoys Mr. Bennett

Provincial government leaders today dodged direct comment on the Ottawa government's Columbia Power proposal, but criticized the way in which the announcement was made by Fisheries Minister Sinclair. (See adjoining column.)

Said Premier Bennett: "I will discuss it with the prime minister. I will not discuss Mr. Sinclair's election campaign."

Lands Minister Ray Williston said B.C. was interested in any scheme for developing the province's hydro resources, but added it was strange there had been no mention of the present proposals in negotiations now under way between the two governments.

"We are happy to see the federal authority realizing that major investment should be undertaken in this part of the country," Mr. Williston said.

He added that he wanted to see "what is in the fine print" before commenting further.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner commented that "inter-government communication by press release is making a farce of the public business of this country."

The announcement was hailed by CCF leader Robert Strachan.

"Now that all financial obstacles have been removed from the path of public power development in this province, I am hopeful that before this session finishes, the Premier will indicate his willingness to proceed immediately with the initial planning stages," Mr. Strachan said.

Ike, Macmillan Agree On Main World Issues

(Text of Communique, P. 13)

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and President Eisenhower Sunday issued a 780-word communique that disclosed the United States will supply "certain guided missiles" to Britain to help the British achieve an atomic-age military force.

Issued just prior to Eisenhower's return flight to Washington, the communique said the U.K. and U.S. are willing to give the United Nations advance notice of nuclear tests and open the tests to international observers — provided Russia does the same.

They declared their own intentions "to continue nuclear tests only in such a manner as will keep world radiation" from rising to a level hazardous to human safety.

Among subjects covered in detail were common problems concerning the Middle East, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, European co-operation, the reunification of Germany, defence and "repressive Soviet policies" towards Eastern Europe, the communique said.

The president and prime minister agreed on the "need for speedy implementation of recent United Nation's resolutions dealing with the Gaza Strip, the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal."

Vancouver Loses Sunday Sport Bid

Vancouver's bid for commercial Sunday sport today was turned down by a legislative committee.

The private bills committee, comprising nine Socreds and four opposition members, reached a decision after only a brief discussion.

It was not known how committee members voted.

The city had applied for an amendment to its charter to legalize commercial sport on Sunday afternoons between 1.30 and 6 p.m. Vancouver citizens supported the measure in a plebiscite in December, 1955.

Neither city council nor the provincial government took any action at the last session to implement the result of the plebiscite.

It was reported at that time the government was considering a province-wide plebiscite on the controversial issue.

This year the city took action to have the charter amended and appeared before the private bills committee Friday. The Lord's Day Alliance also presented a brief at Friday's open hearing opposing Sunday sport.

CLOSED MEETING

The committee went behind closed doors today and reached its decision in short order.

It is understood the vote was called quickly because members had made up their minds on the matter and further discussions were considered unnecessary.

The committee decision apparently kills all hope of Vancouver having Sunday sport this year.

There may be further debate on the issue, however, when other requested Vancouver charter amendments come before the legislature this week.

If the committee had approved the amendment the final decision would have been made by the whole legislature. It usually follows the recommendation of the committee.

SOCREDS OPPOSED

Many government members are known to be opposed to Sunday sport. Premier Bennett stated last year that he was personally against Sunday sport, but added that if the people of Vancouver wanted it they could have it.

Chairman of the committee is Alex Matthew (SC-Vancouver Centre). Other members are: Dan Campbell (SC-Comox), secretary; Mel Bryan (SC-North Vancouver), Irvine Corbett (SC-Yale), Bert Price (SC-Vancouver Burrard), Fred Sharp (SC-Vancouver East), Mrs. Buda Brown (SC-Vancouver Point Grey), Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, Rae Eddie (SC-New Westminster), Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East), George Gregory (Lib-Victoria), Tom Uphill (Ind. Lab.-Fernie).

. . . BERMUDA

During the talks on the Middle East, Eisenhower and Macmillan were kept in close touch with discussions under way in Cairo between UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and Egyptian President Nasser, an American source said. (See page 3.)

The communique said that in the absence of an effective agreement for comprehensive disarmament, the security of the free world must continue to depend upon nuclear deterrent. To maintain this effectively, continued nuclear testing is required.

The United States and Britain would be willing to register with the United Nations advance notice of nuclear tests and would permit "limited international observation of such tests, if the Soviet Union would do the same," it added.

Official spokesmen refused to discuss the types of guided missiles the United States will supply to Britain, beyond acknowledging they include 1,500-mile intermediate-range ballistic weapons.

An American source said they will probably be paid for under a lend-lease agreement similar to wartime agreements among the allies.

But, the source added, the missles are not yet in production. He estimated it will be a couple of years before they are actually produced in substantial volume.

SUEZ DISCUSSED

On the Suez Canal, the two statesmen recorded agreement on the importance of compliance "both in letter and spirit" with the Security Council resolution of Oct. 13, which said any settlement should meet six "requirements."

These provided for free and open transit without discrimination, respect for Egyptian sovereignty, insulation of the canal from the politics of any country, agreement by users and Egypt on tolls, allotment of a fair proportion of dues to development, and settlement of disputes by arbitration.

Saturday Sessions

OTTAWA (CP)—The government today gave notice that the Commons will sit six days a week starting Saturday. It is an apparent drive to complete as much business as possible before dissolution of Parliament, expected within three weeks.

worthy of the most complete endorsation, as throughout the world the club is pursuing the same objectives with the same goodwill.

Governor Ralph Bartholomew, Ketchikan, Alaska, district 151, emphasized the current intra-club aim is to "keep Rotary simple."

This is difficult, said the man who in the last year travelled 30,000 miles in interests of the club, "but we hope to keep Rotary simple, in its obligations."

FORUMS

The governor said steps are being taken to set up inter-city forums to meet from time to time, with a speaker from Rotary International to keynote the gatherings.

"Our target should be to go forward without spinning our wheels."

He mentioned Vancouver Island club projects, which included an air strip at Qualicum, hacked out of the bush by Rotarians, and also a tower and diving float at Chemainus.

The conference opened Sunday night with a two-hour and 15-minute program which featured an inspirational address by Dr. A. M. Trendell, rector of St. John's (Shaughnessy), Vancouver, plus entertainment.

FULL HOUSE

Invocation was pronounced by Dean Brian Whitlow, Christ Church Cathedral, and the packed house heard baritone "Jock" Dunbar, the Rotary Boys' Choir, and a presentation of flags by the Victoria Girls' Drill Team.

Tonight there will be a variety show for Rotarians, 8.30 p.m. at the Royal.

There are so many here for the conference that delegates are eating in the crystal ballroom of the Empress, the hotel's dining room, and overflowing into the Crystal Garden.

IN MUNICIPAL ACT

'Undemocratic Powers' Hit By Ratepayers

A telegram asking Premier W. A. C. Bennett to withdraw a section of the Municipal Act governing unorganized territories was sent today by G. E. Bonner, president of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

Island ratepayers are "greatly concerned" with the bill which gives the municipal affairs minister "powers that are not democratic," Mr. Bonner said.

NO VOTE

Main objection is that under the new Municipal Act the minister may undertake local projects without appealing to ratepayers through a referendum or plebiscite, he said, and then pay for it by imposition of a mill rate on land and improvements.

Bottle-Wielding Teen-Agers Injure Two in Crashing Party

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gang of eight teenagers tried to force their way into a house party during the weekend and house holder Fred Corrado was struck by a bottle, police report.

Corrado said he forced the youths out of the house and a fight started in the yard. Neighbor Dick Axelson, who came to Corrado's aid, was hit in the face by a rock. Mrs. Corrado was also "pushed around" in the melee.

Mr. Corrado, treated at hospital for face cuts, said the party was given for his 14-year-old daughter.

A youth, also 14, was taken to the juvenile detention home by police, who said he faces several charges.

Sunday night police officers dispersed more than a score of youths at a suburban intersection. Police said they believe a gang war was in the offing.

Raging Blizzard Cripples Midwest

(From AP and UP)

KANSAS CITY — The worst spring blizzard in 30 years continued to rage in the midwestern United States today, paralyzing transportation and crippling communications in many sections of eight states.

One major train, carrying 400 passengers, and an estimated 7,500 highway travellers were reported stranded. Six deaths were attributed to the storm and nine persons were listed as missing.

The train was the Union Pacific City of St. Louis, westbound from St. Louis to Los Angeles. It was mired in drifts ranging up to 18 feet near Winona, Kan., about 50 miles from the Colorado line.

The blizzard, with raging winds that piled up drifts 14 feet deep, started Saturday and covered parts of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska and Missouri.

Winds up to 80 miles an hour in velocity—five miles over minimum hurricane strength—started easing up early this morning in the Texas Panhandle, but the snow had generally stopped.

Omaha was choked by 14 inches of snow and the fall continued today. Lincoln, 60 miles southwest, had a similar situation. Schools in both cities were closed.

There were 14 inches of snow in the Council Bluffs, Iowa area, and more falling.

Temperatures in the Texas Panhandle were expected to get a little above freezing today, allowing a little thawing. But they were expected to drop to 24 degrees at night.

Tax Increase Claim Called 'Sabotage'

LANGFORD—A report that Sooke school district ratepayers expect a 2½-mill tax increase this year was bitterly condemned today by John S. Williams, school board chairman.

"The publication of this statement five days after the announcement of a voting date for the long-awaited school building referendum in this district appears to be a deliberate attempt to sabotage the referendum," he said.

UNDER ONE MILL

"This statement did not emanate from the school board and is not correct," he said.

There will be an increase, but that it will be less than one mill above the 1955 rate, he said.

"If I am proved wrong, I will offer my resignation to the board," he said.

Budget for the year is $583,695, of which the largest single item is $298,720 for teachers' salaries, an increase of $30,234 over the total of last year.

Other Vancouver Island school boards have had increases of four to five mills, he said, and on the mainland they have increased up to nine mills.

The $533,000 school construction referendum will go to the voters April 13.

Mr. Sinclair compared the offer to B.C. with the assistance given Ontario in building the interprovincial gas pipe line across northern Ontario, and the offer to help Nova Scotia and New Brunswick build an interprovincial power grid linking N.S. thermal power plants with N.B. hydro plants.

Final Decision Up to B.C.

"Once agreement is reached on the division of power between the two countries, it will be the responsibility of the B.C. government to decide whether privately-owned or publicly-owned agencies are to develop this power on the Canadian side, and to distribute the power received from the U.S. in return for downstream benefits derived from Canadian water storage."

He said the project would be "tremendous and it would do tremendous things to the province and the fishing industry as well.

Sinclair said he thought Premier Bennett would welcome the announcement of the federal offer.

Heretofore there has been considerable friction between the federal and B.C. governments on how power from the Columbia, third largest river system in North America, should be handled.

In 1955, Parliament passed the International Rivers Act giving the federal government jurisdiction over works constructed on rivers crossing the International Boundary, and over the flow of water from these rivers across the boundary.

The action was taken to prevent B.C. from allowing the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. from building a dam on the Arrow Lakes, 50 miles north of the border. Federal authorities called it a give-away of power.

Various projects, all running into many multi-million dollars, have been proposed here from time to time, both public and private. To date, however, nothing more than surveys has been undertaken.

Lie Detector Test Refused for Carey

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has refused a lie-detector test for convicted murderer James Carey.

The court of last resort, headed by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, offered to send a lie-detector team to Carey's cell in Oakalla prison if authorities requested it.

Mr. Bonner said: "A lie-detector is not a part of the judicial processes of Canada. And I feel the remissions branch of the federal justice department can be relied on to do an adequate job if any investigation is required."

Luxton Petition Seeks Organized Action on Floods

LUXTON—A petition is being circulated here by Glen Lake, Luxton and Happy Valley Ratepayers' Association to form the area into an improvement district to control flooding.

If the required 70 per cent of residents sign, then the association will approach the provincial government for help with flooding and drainage problems.

Small Auditorium Asked by Scurrah

The suggestion that Greater Victoria Centennial Committee should consider erection of a small 2,800-seat civic auditorium as a birthday year project was put forward today by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

The mayor said he had reached the conclusion a much smaller auditorium than had been ordinarily envisaged might be a suitable centennial project.

An earlier report that six city organizations including the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Arts Centre, Symphony Society and Victoria Labor Council, planned to send a delegation to the next centennial committee meeting to promote an auditorium, was discounted today.

Chamber secretary Arnold Webb denied that group was interested.

HAMILTON STAR AS COUGARS END SEASON

PLAYOFFS OPEN TUESDAY NIGHT

Kilburn's Formula for Success...'If 14 Guys Work...'

The Victoria Cougars wound up their Western Hockey League schedule Saturday night, extended their winless streak on the road to 12 straight games and, as a continuing result, established themselves as under-dogs in their best-of-three semi-final series against the New Westminster Royals, opening in New Westminster Tuesday night.

Cougars were beaten, 4-1, Saturday night by the Western division champion Seattle Americans in the final scheduled game for both clubs.

It was Cougars' 29th road defeat in 35 games, a statistic that will have to be overcome this week as Cougars are scheduled to play twice in New Westminster and once in Victoria in the best-of-three series with Hal Laycoe's Royals.

Cougars have won eight straight games at home and hold six straight decisions over the Royals on Victoria ice. However, Cougars have won only one game in New Westminster, have tied twice and have lost five times, including three shutout defeats.

Cougars must overcome past history and the small New Westminster ice surface to bypass the Royals and gain the division finals against the Seattle club.

The Victoria club was belted by one of its own hands Saturday night as Don Hamilton, Cougar spare goalie who spent the season with the junior Melville Millionaires, took over the Seattle nets in place of the injured Emile Francis.

The young product of Victoria's minor leagues turned in a spectacular game as he gave Cougars a goal in the first period but then shut them out the rest of the way, stopping 25 shots. In the last period, he prevented what looked like three certain Cougar goals with his acrobatic goal-tending.

In other windup games Saturday night, Gord Fashoway scored three goals to run his season's total to 41 as New Westminster crushed Vancouver Canucks, 7-3; Brandon Regals set a record for total winning points with a thumping 10-4 win over Winnipeg Warriors and Calgary Stampeders downed Edmonton Flyers, 3-1.

Cougar coach Colin Kilburn, fully realizing the task his club faces Tuesday night, said: "That first game is the big one. If we can win that one, we will be in a good position. And if 14 guys work to full efficiency, we can win it, regardless of our past record. That New Westminster club can skate and you have to skate with them. In addition, we'll need perfect goal-keeping. Marcel Pelletier will be our big man in this series."

Kilburn said that defenceman Nelson Bulloch, who sprained his ankle last week, may not be ready for Tuesday's game, in which case rookie Gordie Matheson, also up from Melville, will take a regular shift.

NELSON BULLOCH

Brandon established a league record Saturday night by sending its total-points figure to 92, on 44 wins and four ties during the 70-game schedule. New Westminster had set the previous record in 1951-52 when it ran up 91 points.

Rookie Willie Voss scored three times for the Regals. Elliott Chorley got two goals while singles were counted by Norm Johnson, Les Colwill, Len Haley, Ray Manson and Les Lilley.

In the other Prairie encounter, the first and second periods featured displays of temper and resultant penalties. Between flare-ups, Doc Couture and Archie Scott scored in the first for the Stampeders while Vic Dzurko matched Edmonton's third-period goal by Jerry Melnyk.

At New Westminster, the Royals took a 4-1 lead in the first and out-scored Vancouver 3-1 in the second. The scoring was handled for the winners by Fashoway with three, Pete Durham with two, Arlo Goodwin and Ollie Dorohoy. Bill Wylie got two of the three Vancouver goals, and Phil Maloney the other.

LESTER PATRICK STORY

Gamblers Met Their Match

By ARCHIE WILLS

(Copyright, 1957, By The Victoria Daily Times)

(Eighth Instalment)

While we were in Montreal for the World Series in 1926 I was aware of discussions between Lester and his brother Frank and officials of clubs in the National Hockey League.

It was apparent, to any observer, that the Pacific coast could not support the type of hockey it had been getting when cities like Chicago and Detroit were clamoring to get franchises in the NHL.

Wills

During the summer of 1926 negotiations continued, the Patricks, at the same time, making sure they had all their players signed for the next season at much-enhanced salaries and the NHL trying to pry loose the players.

Then the announcement came and it hit the coast fans like a bombshell.

Five of the Western League clubs had been sold, Victoria going to Detroit, Vancouver to Chicago and the rest of the players being spread over the other clubs in the NHL, including the Rangers, the new club in New York.

Each of the five western clubs got $50,000 for their players. Saskatoon thought it could make a better deal but wound up by getting only $22,000, and $15,000 of it was paid by the Cooks—Bill and Bun.

Then came an offer to Lester. The New York Rangers, who were to make their debut in the NHL, offered him $10,000 for the season, with transportation to and from Victoria for his family as well. Lester took it.

He was quickly introduced to the antics required to put over a show in New York. At the training camp he found most of the players' names had been changed. Lorne Chabot's was changed to Chabotski to appeal to the Poles in New York. Others had been given Italian and Jewish names.

"Our publicity man came up with a stunt to have a gunman hold-up Bill Cook on his way to the rink," Lester recalls with humor. "What they couldn't think up? Why, I never got three hours' sleep a night."

Quickly Learned Big City Antics

Finally the season opened and Lester's eyes popped when he saw the returns from one game. They were in excess of $30,000, which was more than he had taken from gate receipts in the whole previous season in Victoria.

Lester had his eyes opened again not long after this.

The Rangers were a highly disciplined team and did everything on schedule. For instance, they went on the ice at exactly 8.22 each night they played. It didn't matter what other clubs did.

Lester went into the dressing room 12 minutes before the team was to step on to the ice. He went to give last-minute instructions.

One particular night the Rangers were being opposed by the Montreal Maroons.

"Lester, I want to see you," said Chabot.

"What's wrong?" asked Lester.

"I've been offered a bribe to throw the game," said Chabot. "I'd rather not play."

Lester was not outwardly shocked, but inwardly he was mad. He knew New York well and wasn't surprised when faced with this awkward situation. Gamblers tried to fix anything and everything in New York.

Lester fixed Chabot with his piercing eyes.

"You've got to play," he said. "We can't get a substitute now. Go out and do your best and leave the rest to me."

It was a tough spot for Chabot and he was fidgety all through the game. But through no fault of his, the Rangers lost.

Maybe the gamblers were pleased but, not Lester nor any of the Rangers who were in on Chabot's plight.

Lester launched an immediate investigation and then called in the press. He told them the whole story, announced he had located the gambler and had barred him from Madison Square Garden for life.

Bold Move Impressed New Yorkers

The reaction to this bold move by Lester made a tremendous impression on New York. The folks there were not used to such drastic moves in sportsdom and they were glad to know that this new Canadian was a man not to be trifled with.

"Yes, I know what happened to people who crossed up the gamblers in New York at that time," says Lester. "But it just shows how a fast move can win you respect and make your path easier. I had to walk through the long corridor from the front of Madison Square Garden to my office and I had to pass all those fellows I knew were gamblers. But never once did they make any move even to ask me what I thought of my team's chances for any game in all the years I spent there."

Lester had another rough time in 1934 when he was finally convinced that his son, Lynn, had the makings of a major league hockey player. For a long time he resisted the temptation to put Lynn in a Ranger uniform, but eventually he did, using him on a third line with two other promising amateurs.

Lynn played centre and fans, particularly those in the cheap seats, figured Lester was playing favorites with his son. They booed his poor plays and shouted at Lester to "take him out."

Thirteens Best of Tens In City Pin Tournament

They took over the title won last year by Watson's Men's Wear by racking up a handicap total of 2,917 at Gibson's Bowladrome as the annual city tenpin championships opened Sunday.

Doug Elford's sparkling 235 effort in his second game of the three-game series carried Thirteens to the throne with a 15-pin margin over runner-up Dominion Meat.

Dominion Meat, rolling with a 116 handicap each game, posted scratch games of 862, 875 and 817 as they racked up a 2,902 total and edged Gorge Hotel by four pins.

In fourth place for the third successive year was the Princess Mary squad, paced by the 590 performance of Elmer Curtis, which ended up with a 2,892 total. Only 28 pins behind the leaders, but in fifth place, were Sunset Seniors with a 2,887 total.

SAGE HOT

Nip Sage, putting together single games of 201, 235 and 168 took the lead in the all-events race with a scratch total of 604. Four points back was Bob Bystedt and Curtis, who racked up a 223 score in his second game, holds down third place in the all-events scramble.

Individual scores posted in Sunday's team event will count toward the city all-events crown, which will be decided on scratch totals rolled in team, singles and doubles events.

WINS GRAND AGGREGATE

Valleau Rink Takes Top Bonspiel Prize

Victoria rinks took most of the prizes in the fifth annual men's bonspiel at Victoria Curling Club, but the top honors went to Duncan and Vancouver rinks.

Ed Valleau's foursome from Cowichan Curling Club, which was skipped by Tony Folk, walked off with the coveted grand aggregate award and the Dominion Hotel primary event while Fred Tinling's Vancouver quartet captured the other primary competition.

Folk nailed down the double honors when he skipped the Duncan entry to a 9-7 win over Ed Wilson of Victoria in the final of the Dominion Hotel event. The victory gave him a 9-1 record for the week-long bonspiel and a narrow edge over Tinling in the race for grand aggregate laurels.

Tinling, winner of the Colonist event during Saturday's finals with a 15-6 triumph over Harry Spottiswood of Port Alberni, finished with eight wins and one loss.

ONLY DEFEAT

Victoria rinks won the other four events and 20 of the 24 sets of prizes.

GALS SAVE THE DAY

Island Shuttlers Repel Vancouver

All four clubs representing the Lower Island were successful in defending badminton titles won last year as they beat off the strong challenge of the Vancouver and District league in matches played Sunday at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club

The Victoria Club won their first division matches by what appeared to be a large margin, 9-2, but, if it had not been for the over-all strength of the local women, Bal Skillings and his troupe from the Vancouver Racquets Club would have made it much warmer for Eric Hibberson and his cohorts.

The Brentwood second division team found the going a mite rougher as Archie Sluggett's team had to win the last match from a strong Vancouver Strathcona Club to tie the series six-all and then resort to the score sheet and some fancy figuring to come up with a narrow win on points.

Ian Williams' third division team from Cordova Bay had the easiest time of the day taking a 9-2 decision from the South Burnaby contingent, but not before Ian took a shuttle in the eye. He will carry the scars of battle for the next two weeks.

Ivan Temple's come-from-behind St. John's team did it again in their fourth division matches as they snatched victory from the Wireless Station club of Ladner in the last two matches to win 6-5.

Howe, Plante Earn Spot Beside Wings

Gordie Scoring King; Jacques Top Goalie

By The Canadian Press

Gordie Howe . . . Jacques Plante . . . Detroit Red Wings . . . those are the names that the 1956-57 National Hockey League schedule will be remembered by.

Wings put their name in the record book last week when they won their eighth NHL title in nine years, but Howe and Plante were forced to their peaks in weekend games before their places were assured.

Howe, the Wings' superlative right winger, pulled out all the stops Saturday night against Toronto Maple Leafs as he stayed off a late-season drive by Montreal's Jean Beliveau and ensured himself of his fifth NHL scoring championship.

Gordie scored two goals and assisted on one other and added two more assists Sunday against the Leafs to finish with 44 goals and 45 assists for 89 points—the second highest total in history.

Plante went into the Canadiens' game with Chicago Black Hawks Saturday two goals down to Detroit's Glenn Hall in their race for the Vezina Trophy. He proceeded to shut the Hawks out as Canadiens won 3-0, while Hall was allowing three in Detroit's 5-3 victory over Leafs.

Howe Never Better, Claims Adams

Beliveau, only a point behind Howe before the games, was held to an assist Saturday and dropped to third place as the Wings' Ted Lindsay scored twice and got one assist to finish with 30 goals and 55 assists, a point ahead of Beliveau.

Canadiens' victory Saturday assured them of second place as Boston Bruins were beaten 4-2 by fourth-place New York Rangers and had to settle for third, two points back of Montreal.

Sunday, while the Wings were beating Toronto 4-1 in Detroit, New York and Chicago played to a 4-4 tie in New York.

Howe's sparkling play Saturday brought roars of astonishment from 12,940 Toronto fans and moved Jack Adams, Detroit general manager, to say: "He's never played better — this is what he can do any time he wants."

The 27-year-old scored once in the second period and again in the third. Bill Dineen, Lindsay and Metro Prystai got the others for Detroit.

Sunday the Leafs went ahead again 1-0 in the first period as junior star Frank Mahovlich, up for three games with the Leafs, scored his first NHL goal.

Detroit scored twice in the second and twice in the third to end their schedule six points in front of Montreal.

Rollins Steals Plante's Thunder

Though Plante's shutout won him the Vezina and $1,000 Saturday the evening's goaltending honors went to Hawks' Al Rollins. The lanky netminder put on an incredible display, stopping 50 shots as the Habs poured it on.

It was the highest number of shots fired at a goalie in a single game this season.

Rangers continued to hold a spell over Boston Saturday as they won their eighth in 14 games this season with the Bruins. They are the only team to have a winning margin against Boston over the schedule.

New York scorers were Andy Hebenton, Andy Bathgate and Danny Lewicki with two. Vic Stasiuk scored two for Boston.

Sunday New York needed a three-goal third period to tie the Hawks who burst out with four in the second after a scoreless opening period.

Varsity, Reps To Share Cup

VANCOUVER (CP)—Varsity and Vancouver Reps will hold the historic McKechnie Cup, emblematic of the B.C. English rugby senior championship, for six months each following a 3-3 tie at UBC Stadium Saturday in the final game before a crowd of 500.

On a good playing pitch but in cold rain, both teams found the ball hard to hold, and there were very few good backfield movements. Varsity scored their points on a dropped goal, and Reps tied it up with a penalty goal.

Cameron, Davies Win Carlow Golf

Barons Take Second Spot

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons captured second place in the American Hockey League Sunday with a home-ice 7-3 victory over fourth-place Hershey Bears in the finale of the regular schedule.

On top of a 7-0 shellacking of Buffalo Bisons Saturday, Barons wound up deadlocked with Rochester Americans in the point standings but took second spot on the basis of a superior scoring record.

Rochester also wound up the week-end with a pair of wins, 4-3 over the Bears at Hershey Saturday and 7-6 over the Bisons at Buffalo Sunday night on the strength of Gord Hannigan's goal with five seconds to play.

The league champion Providence Reds had a rough week-end with tail-end Springfield. The Indians trounced the leaders 11-1 Saturday, then invaded Rhode Island Sunday and twice grabbed the lead before the Reds came back to squeak a 5-4 edge.
